TOMB YIELDS BODY OF HERO

Remains of John Paul Jones Finally Found in Paris Cemetery.

YET WELL PRESERVED

Fleet of War Vessels Will Likely Convey Casket to the United States.

END OF A FIVE-YEARS' SEARCH

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, April 14.—Ambassador Porter has found the body of John Paul Jones, the famous American naval officer and founder of the United States navy. The ambassador tonight cabled the fact to Washington. The body is in a good state of preservation, considering that the interment took place over 100 years ago. French experts have positively identified the remains.

Hundreds of wooden caskets were found but not until Wednesday were unearthed four leaden caskets, which gave promise of containing the body of the admiral. Three of them bore plates designating the names of the deceased. The fourth showed superior solidity of workmanship. No plate was found on this casket and it is supposed it was removed when another coffin was superimposed on it. The leaden coffin was opened in the presence of Gen. Porter, Col. Bailly-Blatchard, the second secretary of the American embassy and Engineer Weis, who has been directing the excavations.

Body Well Preserved.

The body was found to be well preserved, owing to its being immersed in alcohol. It was wrapped in a sheet with a packing of straw and hay. Those present were immediately struck by the resemblance of the head to that on the medallions and busts of the admiral. As was anticipated, no uniform, decorations or sword were found, as all such articles had been accounted for after the burial. The coffin is shaped like a mummy-coffin, which coffins were common at that period, widening from the feet to the shoulders with a round top fitting over the head.

The coffin was taken to the medical school where Drs. Capitan and Papillaut, distinguished professors of the school of anthropology and recognized authorities on such investigations, were charged with making a thorough examination for the ambassador furnished them with portraits and medallions, two busts by Houdil and authentic descriptions, color of the admiral's hair and the height and measurement of his body. After the most minute examination the following facts were fully substantiated:

Points of Identification.

Length of the body—Five feet seven inches, the admiral's exact height.

Size and shape of the head agree with several peculiarities identical with the head of the admiral.

Hair, dark brown, the same as the admiral's; in places slightly gray, indicating a person of his age, 45 years. The hair is long, reaching below the shoulders, and is combed back and gathered in a clasp at the back of the neck.

The face is clean shaven, all corresponding exactly with the descriptions, portraits and busts of the admiral. The linen is in good condition. One article bears the initial, either "J" or an inverted "P."

The body was carefully packed. The limbs were wrapped in tin foil, presumably for sea transportation, as indicated in a letter of the admiral's nearest friend and a pallbearer of his funeral, Col. Blackden, who said: "His body was put in a leaden coffin so that in case the United States, which he had so essentially served, should claim his remains, they might be more easily removed."

Finding that all the internal organs were singularly well preserved, the doctors made an autopsy which showed distinct proofs of the disease from which the admiral is known to have died. The identification was pronounced complete in every particular.

Constituted Huge Operation.

A large force of workmen has been engaged night and day tunneling and crosstunneling the old St. Louis cemetery. This constitutes a huge operation, embracing nearly a block covered with buildings, and requiring a system of subterranean mining. As congress failed to make an appropriation, Gen. Porter continued the work at his own expense.

Care has been taken to keep the body in its present state of preservation. It will be placed in a handsome casket and deposited in the receiving vault of the American church on the Avenue De L'Alma until the ambassador can learn the opinion of the government concerning the most appropriate means of transporting it to the United States and giving it a fitting sepulchre.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Mr. Moody, when secretary of the navy, made the official announcement that if the body of John Paul Jones was found, the government would send a battleship to France to convey it to this country. It is not donated that Secretary Morton will fulfill the promise then made.

It was said tonight that in case it is decided to send a squadron to European waters this summer, the body probably will be brought home on the flagship of this squadron.

SYLPH IS VICTIM OF AN EXPLOSION

The Boiler Tubes on President's Yacht Blow Out Severely Scalding Seamen.

PASSING SHIP IGNORES HER

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NORFOLK, VA., April 14.—The president's yacht Sylph was towed into Hampton Roads today by the Morgan liner El Cid, with her starboard boiler tubes blown out during a storm in the gulf stream off Cape Hatteras Wednesday afternoon. Two men were scalded, but they will recover. They are F. T. Murphy, machinist's mate of the first-class, who was severely scalded about the face, arms and hands, and J. J. Dalton, a seaman, badly scalded about the face and body.

The Sylph at the time of the accident was on her way to her regular station at Washington from Florida waters, where she recently had aboard Mrs. Roosevelt and her children. Mrs. Roosevelt and party, however, left the Sylph at Jacksonville and proceeded to Washington some days ago.

The Sylph, upon sighting the El Cid at sea, gave signals of distress, and the Morgan liner immediately came to her assistance and towed her into harbor. Lieut. F. C. Evans, commanding the Sylph, reports that upon the occurrence of the accident the vessel was anchored, and the New York fleet stood by all night to assist.

He says the United Fruit Company's steamer Oteri was asked for assistance, and signaling "we are not a towboat," proceeded for Baltimore and apparently did not report the distressed yacht at Capt Henry. The Sylph is not badly damaged.

BALTIMORE, April 14.—Capt. Hotville of the steamship S. Oteri, now here, says relative to his refusal to tow the United States steam yacht Sylph when she signalled that she was disabled, and asked to be towed to a harbor, that he signalled in reply that he was unable to assist her because of the perishable nature of the Oteri's cargo of fruit.

STEAMER CYCLONE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Captain and Crew Escape to Shore Early This Morning—Vessel Is a Complete Loss.

The big steamboat Cyclone was burned last night along the Monongahela river bank between McKeesport and Dravosburg. It was tied up along with several other boats near McKeesport, when fire, which originated, it is supposed from a small coal stove in the pilot house, was discovered by the crew at 1:30 o'clock this morning. The blaze made such quick headway, however, that the captain and crew, whose names could not be ascertained, found it useless to attempt to fight the fire, and made a hurried escape to shore. No one was injured as far as can be ascertained. The crew on shore cut the ropes and the Cyclone drifted out into the river, ablaze from stem to stern. A passing steamer got a line to her and towed her into shore a few hundred yards further down below the Dravosburg bridge and in about two hours the boat was burned to the water's edge and sank.

The boat is owned by the Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, and is valued at about $35,000 to $40,000.

FLEET IS GOING TO VLADIVOSTOK

This News Is Imparted by Doctor on Board Russian Hospital Ship.

PESCADORES IN STATE OF SIEGE

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, April 15.—No news throwing light on the movement of the fleets of Vice Admirals Rojestvensky and Togo has been received here, but, according to a statement made by one of the doctors on board the Russian hospital ship Orel at Saigon, the ships of the Baltic squadron were going to Vladivostok.

Tuesday being the last day the Russian vessels were sighted, it is the general opinion in London that Rojestvensky has changed his course, possibly to the eastward, as otherwise it is considered certain the fleet would have again been sighted by passing steamers.

The Daily Telegraph's Tokyo correspondent says:

"Owing to military necessities, the residents of Vladivostok are suffering privations. Five submarine boats have arrived at Vladivostok from America. The cruisers Gromoboi and Rossia are kept in constant readiness to leave port."

SAIGON, COCHIN CHINA, April 14.—The Russian hospital ship Orel has sailed. She remained here 36 hours and took aboard 900 tons of coal, as well as supplies of provisions and medicines.

TOKYO, April 14.—The imperial ordinance which declares Mako harbor, on the Pescadores islands, in state of siege, becomes operative today. The naval department pronounces the reports of a naval engagement recently off Saigon to be unfounded.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 14.—The admiralty's advices from Saigon do not mention any wounded men being on board the Russian hospital ship Orel, which arrived there yesterday. She probably has sick sailors on board.

LEBUAN, BRITISH BORNEO, April 14.—The United States cruiser Raleigh sailed northward today. Her destination is unknown.

BERLIN, April 14.—Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron is believed by the intelligence division of the German navy department to be lying off the Cuyos islands, 30 miles south of Mindoro, Philippine islands, recoaling and preparing for the last stage of its long voyage. Although these islands belong to the United States they have fine anchorage outside the three-mile limit, with hard bottom at 20 to 25 fathoms.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(Special.)—The navy department officials discredit the report to Admiral Train at Manila that the Russian hospital ship Orel had wounded Russians on board at Saigon.

It is believed that the commander of the Raleigh, who is under instructions to look out for preservation of neutrality in the Philippines, sent to the navy department yesterday more than the mere departure of his vessel to a point northeast of Palawan. The navy experts think he had reason to believe that a part at least of the Russian fleet was northeast of Palawan, notwithstanding the persistent reports that the whole Russian squadron is making for Formosa to give Togo battle.

DECISION AGAINST WINKLER.

Former Pittsburgher Must Support Wife Six Months, When She Will Seek Divorce.

WHEELING, W. VA., April 14.—(Special.)—Robert L. Winkler, an employe of the Security Trust Company, received a hearing before Justice Dunnings this afternoon on the charge of wife desertion preferred by Sophia Winkler (nee Miller) a milliner and daughter of a wealthy woman of Allegheny city, Pa. It developed at the hearing that Mrs. Winkler had stayed with her mother a greater part of the time since their marriage the first of the year. She heard stories of another woman and came here to investigate.

Winkler was placed under $200 bond for her support for six months, after which she will apply for a divorce. Winkler was connected with the First National bank of Pittsburgh at the time of the murder of Contractor Ferguson, and was the main witness against Pattrovick and Kovovick.

"WE WILL WALK" SAY HILLTOPPERS

Patrons of the South Side Incline Planes Make a Vigorous Protest.

THEY ASK FOR BETTER RATES

"We'll not patronize the Pittsburgh Railways Company's incline planes—we'll walk."

This was the verdict of 10,000 residents of the South Side hilltops through their representatives at a mass meeting held last night in the Allen public school in the Thirty-first ward to protest against a new system of monthly tickets which is in vogue on the Knoxville incline. For 15 years the people have enjoyed the privilege of using 10-trip tickets, good in either direction until used, and which were sold for 25 cents. On April 1 these were withdrawn, and instead a 60-trip ticket, "good only the month issued and not good if detached," was issued for $1.50. The people declare that they have been discriminated against, and for two weeks hundreds of incline patrons have been walking.

Last night a meeting was called in the Allen school building to protest against the action of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, lessees of the Knoxville and Mt. Oliver incline planes. Over 300 persons, representing the residents of all sections of the hilltop, attended, and wasted no words in denouncing the traction company. It was pointed out that over 3,000 persons use the incline regularly every day. Many of them are girls employed in South Side factories, and they have been forced to walk since the new rule was put into effect.

It was decided first to petition President J. Dawson Callery of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and ask him to change the ticket system. If this fails, the people declared they would organize walking brigades.

The following residents of the hilltop wards were appointed on a committee to call upon Mr. Callery: Select Councilmen Charles Bright and William E. Lang, Henry Witz, Thomas Peel and Frank M. McKelvey.

UNCLE SAM'S EYE ON JAPAN

The Philippines to Have Strong Defenses Against Possible Invasion

TAFT ON THE ALERT

Secretary of War's Trip to the Orient Will Have Double Significance.

WILL NOT BE CAUGHT NAPPING

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The trip to the Philippines, on which Secretary of War Taft with a distinguished party will start about July 1 from San Francisco is not to be altogether a pleasure jaunt. In fact, it has become known in high circles that the main object of Mr. Taft's trip is to familiarize himself with the situation as it now exists, with the view of making comprehensive plans for the defense of our Asiatic possessions. A high official who knows of what he is speaking said today:

"While this government does not doubt in the least the good faith and friendship of the Japanese it is realized that the present war in the far east has knocked in the head all the old ideas about the Eastern Asian situation. Circumstances may arise when we will have to defend the Philippines against Japan, China or some other power. While they are perhaps not so vulnerable as they were when Dewey sailed into Manila bay they are far from being in a defendable condition against a powerful enemy.

"No men realize this more fully than do Secretary Taft, Admiral Dewey and Gen. Chaffee, all of whom may be considered Philippine experts. They are none of them alarmists, but all realize that now is the time to do this work. The construction of efficient land defenses in this day is not a matter of a few weeks.

Emergency Defense Plans.

"We have now important naval stations at Cavite and Olangapo which must be made impregnable, to say nothing of the cities which must be protected. Up to the present time not a gun has been mounted by United States officers in any of the insular possessions of the government. Emergency defense plans have been mapped out for all the islands, and some work has been done under these plans at three places, but they are all practically defenseless.

"When the next congress meets there will be ready for presentation to it an elaborate plan for the defense not alone of the Philippines, but of Porto Rico, Guantanamo, the Panama canal strip, Tutuila, Hawaii and Guam. Convincing reasons will be prescribed along with it why this work should be carried on at once. The cost will mount into the millions, it is true, but it is absolutely necessary that it should be done, and at once, unless we desire to run the danger of irreparable damage should war come, and it must be remembered that war has a habit of coming when it is not expected."

Money for Heavy Batteries.

Last year congress appropriated $793,000 for insular defenses. There was a discussion as to where the money should be expended, and it was decided that practically all of it should be devoted to sea coast defenses in the Philippines. The fact that the major part of this year's appropriation is to be applied in the same direction is a fair indication of what military officers think of the relative importance of the various insular possessions of the government. All this money will be devoted to the construction and emplacement of heavy batteries.

There is excellent authority for the statement that the general staff of the army is now considering plans of campaign for the protection of the Philippine islands. In all probability Japan figures as the enemy in one set of campaign plans and Germany in another. This, of course, does not mean that the government looks for war with either of those countries. It merely means that the general staff does not propose to be caught napping, and is preparing for any emergency that may arise.

JOSEPH JEFFERSON IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Last Report from the Actor's Bedside, However, Says He Is Somewhat Improved, and May Recover.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WEST PALM BEACH, FLA., April 14.—Joseph Jefferson lies critically ill at his winter residence at Palm Beach. His condition this afternoon, reported by the attending physician, Dr. R. B. Potter, is little if any improved. He is surrounded by his family and they are prepared to expect death at any minute.

Three weeks ago Mr. Jefferson visited ex-President Cleveland at Hobe sound, where he caught cold, and upon his return to Palm Beach was forced to take his bed. He convalesced and was up after a few days' confinement, when on Monday he was seized with a relapse.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., April 14.—Information from West Palm Beach at 10:30 tonight is that Joe Jefferson is resting easy. He is somewhat improved today and hopes are entertained for his recovery.

CAPTAIN CLADO CENSURED.

At the Same Time He Is Given an Opportunity to Repair His Faults in Manchurian Service.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 14.—Grand Duke Alexis, high admiral of the Russian navy, has issued an order severely censuring Capt. Clado (formerly chief tactician on the staff of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky) for his criticisms of the navy.

At the same time, in order to "give him an opportunity to repair his faults," he has appointed Capt. Clado to "special service in connection with the equipment and command of vessels navigating rivers in the theater of the war."

CAPITAL STOCK NOT A FACTOR

The Equitable Is Great in Its Assets of Nearly $400,000,000.

FIGHT FOR CONTROL

President Alexander Contends Surplus and Reserve Belong to Policy Holders.

HOW MONEY IS ACCUMULATED

Special Telegram From HENRY J. FORD, Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Although the life insurance business rivals the national government itself in the amount of its revenues, it is a remarkable fact that capital has a less important function in its operations than in any other business interest. There could be no stronger proof of this than the fact that the Equitable with nearly $400,000,000 assets has a capital stock of only $100,000, and was not generally known to have any capital stock at all until recent events made that fact distressingly conspicuous. It is obvious that the existence of this capital has played no part in the great expansion of the company's business and assets. The company has been practically conducted as a mutual concern, and the assets have been accumulated from contributions by the policy-holders. Companies operated upon this principle have been the most successful. Of the 41 regular life insurance companies reporting to the state superintendent of insurance for the year of 1903, the 15 mutual companies had accumulated $456,482,112 more assets than the 22 stock companies. It is apparent that capital has not been an important factor in the development of the business.

Trusteeship Most Important.

This fact if of profund importance in deciding public policy as regards the business of life insurance. Where the investment of capital is the prime factor as in business enterprises, regard for its security provides a powerful motive for safe management, producing alert solicitude for the reputation and credit of the concern. But that motive does not necessarily attend the investment of capital in life insurance and its place must be supplied by an energetic sense of trusteeship in order to insure safe management. The interests ordinarily associated with the investment of capital may indeed in life insurance be inimical to the prosperity of company. Here again the Equitable troubles afford an example. Although the report of the company makes no mention of capital stock and the impression which the reader would gather is that all the assets belong to the policy-holders, counsel for several stockholders are now contending in the courts that any surplus of assets after provision is made for accruing claims, belongs to the stockholders, and this remainder is estimated at $10,000,000.

The case is a startling exhibition of the dangerous possibilities of private ownership in the control of life insurance funds. Here a small capital investment, which could have been useful only in starting the company and which long ago was retired from public view as a liability of the company, now claims absolute mastery over the control of assets amassed from funds contributed by 600,000 policy-holders.

President Alexander's Contention.

That the assets, both reserve and surplus, really belong to the policy-holders is held by President Alexander, who is trying to complete their legal control by mutualizing the company. As regards the reserve there is, of course, no question as that is made up of the proceeds of premiums paid by the policy-holders to cover the mortality risks for the whole period of their policies. It is the amount reserved to meet claims accruing from the insurance in force. As regards the origin of the $105,000,000 surplus shown in the statements of the Equitable company President Alexander recently gave the following account:

"It represents the profits resulting from a death rate lower than the expectations of the actuaries, higher earnings on investments than those calculated upon in advance, and the moneys accumulating from lapsed policies and reductions in the estimated cost of administration. This money, or nearly all of it, belongs to the owners of deferred dividend policies, who are entitled at the expiration of their policies to the face value and in addition, to a pro rata share in the accumulated profits. These profits must be held for the benefit of such policy-holders and paid out as rapidly as their policies mature. Of the $850,000,000 in the hands of the Equitable society, $750,000,000 is held in that way as against the policies already in existence. The remaining sum, perhaps $150,000,000, is really a surplus, and considering the variations in the value of securities which we own—the value of even the most gilt-edged bonds being subject to some fluctuation—that margin of safety is not too much in a prudently conducted business."

The Confusion of Words.

It will be seen from this official explanation that the so-called surplus is really no surplus at all in the just meaning of the word, for seven-eighths of it is really a reserve to meet specific obligations and one-eighth is a guarantee fund to cover possible impairment of the reserve. The terms reserve and surplus are used in a technical sense in life insurance terminology which makes them misleading to all save experts. To appreciate their significance it is necessary to dig a little into the nature of life insurance.

While the duration of individual life is uncertain, mortality rates are remarkably constant for people in the mass. Of 100,000 people so many of each age will die every year. This may be counted upon as a certainty. As President Alexander said in a lecture at Yale: "The average is almost like clock work." Even epidemics do not affect this average to any marked extent, so much so that in the same lecture Mr. Alexander remarked: "Epidemics cut no figure in the experience of a large life insurance company with its risks territorially distributed," for increased mortality in one section is offset by decreased in other sections. Life insurance is based upon these two factors: The constancy of the mortality rate and the accumulative power of money at interest. Thus in the case of a man at any age it may be mathematically calculated just what amount he should pay to realize a given sum for his benefit at death.

Standard for Computation.

Of course, the higher the rate of interest at which the premium payments shall be invested the lower the amount which he would have to pay to produce a given sum at the future date. The interest rate therefore becomes the standard of the computation and in New York the minimum legal standard is fixed at 3½ per cent, so that to be solvent a company must have for each policy such sum as invested at 3½ per cent for the life expectation of the assured together with the renewal premiums will provide the amount of the policy. This constitutes what is technically known as the reserve fund, and, as will be seen, it is no more than will enable the company to meet its existing contracts, without regard to the cost of administration, cost of getting new business or the possibility that the assumed rate of 3½ per cent may not be realized.

Really a Pure Trusteeship.

It is true that the premiums are calculated to cover both the losses by mortality and in addition to cover the expenses of the business, this extra sum above the mortality cost being what is technically known as the "loading." It is, however, admitted that the ordinary "loading" of life insurance premium is never enough to meet the expenses incident to the business, Thus while the legal reserve may be technically equal to contract obligations it is not commensurate with the liabilities, and the so-called Equitable surplus is not a real surplus, as President Alexander admits. Excess of assets over contract liabilities is properly designated in the report of the New York Mutual as "contingent guarantee fund" and in the statement of the New York Life as "additional reserve."

It will be seen that life insurance is really a pure trusteeship, the policy-holders contributing the capital which is invested on their account to equalize mortality risks, and after paying the cost of administration the whole amount — surplus as well as legal reserve—is morally the property of the policy-holders. Elizur Wright, the first commissioner of insurance of Massachusetts—and hence in this country, as that state led off in supervision of life insurance—correctly stated the case as far back as 1862. In his report for that year, he said:

> The only use of capital is in the incipient stage of a company, during which it may fairly be said to earn something beyond the ordinary rate of interest. But after the number of policies and the amount of reserve from premiums become large enough to remove any probability of loss that will prevent the steady annual increase of the said premium reserve, there is no longer any use for guarantee capital. When this is true the best policy for the policy-holders, if at liberty under the charter to pursue it, must be to pay the capital equitably for its past services and dismiss it.

Because it failed to do this before the Equitable is now experiencing its present troubles, and President Alexander is endeavoring to confirm the high position of the company by accomplishing this now. In his own words the present issue "is simply a question whether one man owning a majority of the stock or the 600,000 policy-holders who contribute the funds, shall control the administration."

SNOW CAPPED SHASTA ONCE MORE THREATENS

Distant Rumblings Are Heard, and Volcanic Ashes and Mud Begin to Ooze Through Surface.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

REDDING, CAL., April 14.—Anxiety exists among the inhabitants of Sisson and other towns near Mount Shasta, over the strange actions of the snow-capped mountain. For several days distant rumblings have been heard, and the snow is melting fast. Yesterday, volcanic ashes and mud began to ooze through the surface of the earth at the edge of Sisson.

The flow gradually increased until today, when it came forth in several places like thick paint. The report comes from the other side of Mount Shasta that the McCloud Lumber Company's railroad suddenly sank in two places, and that a similar flow of volcanic mud is noticeable. While the mountain itself shows no visible eruption, these phenomena cause some alarm. Eleven years ago similar conditions existed for a time.

F. W. HASKELL TO ASSIST MR. FRICK

Former Pittsburgher Chosen to Probe the Affairs of the Equitable.

POLICY HOLDERS GAIN POINT

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 14.—Another move was made today toward bringing about a distribution of the surplus of the Equitable Life Assurance society among the policy-holders. Edward Woodruff of 120 Broadway, on behalf of Herbert G. Tull of Philadelphia, and other policy-holders of the Equitable, today applied to Judge Blanchard in the supreme court for an order, returnable on April 18, directing the state superintendent of insurance, Francis A. Hendricks, to show cause why he should not be stayed from all further proceedings with respect to the proposed amended charter of the society, the application also asks a stay of all other proceedings in regard to the amended charter.

Justice Blanchard being a policy-holder in the Equitable society declined to entertain the application of Lawyer Woodruff and referred the matter to Justice Scott, who issued an order to Superintendent Hendricks to show cause on April 18 why he should not be enjoined from aiding in the mutualization of the Equitable society.

Henry C. Frick, chairman of the committee conducting the investigation into the affairs of the Equitable society, has selected as his principal assistant F. W. Haskell, president of the Carborundum company of Niagara Falls, N. Y. Before his selection to the presidency of the Niagara Falls company, Mr. Haskell was secretary and treasurer of the Southwest Connellsville Coke Company at Pittsburgh. He is well known as an auditor and mathematician.

In regard to the suit against the Equitable, Mr. Woodruff said that it is brought for the purpose of getting an adjudication determining the rights of the policy-holders in the surplus of the Equitable society, and also to have determined what is the reasonable market value of the stock of the defendant company.

In an affidavit accompanying the motion Mr. Woodruff says it is practically admitted that 38 of the 52 directors attended the meeting and voted for the amended charter. It is also admitted, he says, that these 38 directors represented only 570 shares of stock and that Hyde owned 510 of them. This, he says, leaves 60 shares among 37 directors. He says those 60 shares could only qualify 12 directors; that these 12, with Hyde, make only 13 directors who could by any possibility be qualified under the law to vote for the charter. He charges in his affidavit that the superintendent of insurance had refused to grant a hearing to the policy-holders on the question of his approving the amended charter, and says he should be prevented from approving the charter until the policy-holders have been heard by him in the matter.

Three new plaintiffs intervened in the Lord suit to prevent the proposed mutualization. The time for filing briefs was extended until next Tuesday.

ITALIAN PRIEST IS CAPTURED.

The Rev. Father Monda, Who Fled from Connellsville, Is Caught at Naples.

CONNELLSVILLE, April 14.—(Special.)—County Detective Alexander McBeth tonight received a telegram stating that the Rev. Father L. A. Monda, who last February jumped his bail of $2,500, had been captured in Naples, Italy. The telegram was sent by A. W. Byrrington, United States consul at Naples. He was arrested as he landed from a steamship. County Detective McBeth will go to Italy for him.

The charges against the Rev. Father Monda, who was pastor of the local Italian Catholic church, are causing the downfall of Rosa Rendine, the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rendine, and complicity in the death of her infant.

TROUT SEASON OPENS TODAY.

Pittsburgh Fishermen Along the Youghiogheny—Big Catch Is Made in West Virginia.

CONNELLSVILLE, April 14.—(Special.) Wade Marietta and A. J. Templeton, local anglers, have returned from West Virginia with report of a record-breaking catch, 300 trout, which they brought home. Many fishermen have arrived here from Pittsburgh and other places to try their luck with the Youghiogheny river trout, when the season opens tomorrow. Speckled trout are said to be numerous in the river below here.

BELLEFONTE, April 14.—(Special.)—Not in years have fishermen here been so expectant over the opening of the trout season as they are over the opening tomorrow. Few of the local anglers will go to the mountain streams, preferring to try their luck in Spring creek, which flows through the town and in which more trout are visible this spring than in any previous season in 20 years.

MAYOR DUNNE FAILS TO END THE STRIKE

CHICAGO, April 14.—After a day and a large part of the night spent in conferences with both sides in the Montgomery, Ward & Co. strike, Mayor Dunne late to-night announced that he had made no progress toward a settlement of the trouble, and he did not seem hopeful that an adjustment will come in the near future.

ASKED GIFT FROM MR. ROCKEFELLER

Despite Secretary's Denial, American Board Did Solicit Money It Received.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS MADE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, April 14.—The gift of $160,000 to the American board of commissioners for foreign missions from John D. Rockefeller was solicited by representatives of the prudential committee, according to a statement sent to the press tonight from the headquarters of the board. This is an entirely different version of the matter than that given in an interview with Secretary James L. Burton, March 27, and made public through the local office of the board.

In the earlier statement Dr. Burton is made to say that the gift was voluntary and unsolicited. The original statement as furnished to the press by representatives of the board told of a request from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for a conference with a secretary of the board. The conference was held, and later one of the secretaries met the private secretary of John D. Rockefeller, following a church service at Mont Clair, N. J., and the two discussed informally missionary affairs.

Mr. Burton was made to conclude:

"Subsequently I was asked to present a list of objects which were in immediate need of support, and which could not be supported by the regular receipts of the board. Such a list was prepared. Still later an interview was requested for a conference regarding the list as well as the general policy of the board. The conference was followed in time by the promise of $160,000.

"So far as I know, no person sought an interview with Mr. Rockefeller or any member of his family or any member of his staff of secretaries, and no letters were written to bring influence to bear upon him in these matters. I believe the gift was a spontaneous one, given from his own impulse for the purpose of the work carried on under the American board."

The statement sent by the office of the board to the press tonight says:

> Secretary James L. Barton, D. D., sent to the corporate members of the American board today a complete statement with the correspondence showing the steps which led to the gift from Mr. Rockefeller of $100,000.
>
> This statement, the secretary says, is made in the interest of an accurate understanding, and to correct a false impression created in some quarters by a brief published interview with himself referring to the beginning of negotiations, which was reported some two weeks, and has been widely misused and misquoted.
>
> The conference with Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., and the meeting of the secretaries at Mont Clair, N. J., are described as in the earlier announcement, the statement concluding:
>
> More than a year later, in December, of last year, Secretary Barton wrote Mr. Gates (Mr. Rockefeller's private secretary), in regard to the 18 higher educational institutions of the board, sending him a new booklet upon this work just issued, and asking if there would be an opportunity of bringing these institutions to the attention of John D. Rockefeller with a view to securing funds for their endowment in whole or in part. Mr. Gates at once replied that Mr. Rockefeller had declined hitherto to endow institutions in foreign countries, but had sometimes made contributions for the erection of necessary buildings and for current expenses.
>
> Secretary Barton presented later in December a statement of certain pressing special needs then existing, calling for $161,000. A conference was called by Mr. Gates on the subject of this letter. For six of the ten objects presented Mr. Rockefeller promised, through his agent, Mr. Gates, to give $100,000. This letter announcing the gift was received February 13, 1905, and was presented to the prudential committee at its regular meeting the next day, when the gift was accepted.
>
> In soliciting and accepting this gift neither the prudential committee, the officers and members of the American board nor the pastors and members of our Congregational churches assume any obligation whatever to advocate the course of or defend any individual corporation, nor is any one by this gift to be restrained from absolute freedom of speech according to the dictates of his untrammeled conscience.
>
> In view of the fact that both statements emanated from the office of the board, any inconsistency was due evidently to preparation rather than transmission.

BUILDING DISPUTED LINE.

Work Progresses on the Stanton Avenue Tracks of Street Railways Company.

Active work was in progress yesterday on the Stanton avenue line of the Pittsburgh Railways company. This seems to dispose of whatever hope the residents of that district had on the subject of persuading the company to desist from building the new road.

It had been understood that a final decision on the plans would not be given until today by President J. D. Callery of the company, and Mr. Callery himself said last evening that this was the case.

PRESIDENT WANTS TO BE LET ALONE

Mr. Roosevelt Says He Cannot Go Hunting Bears With a Brass Band.

BIG OVATION IN COLORADO

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

COLORADO SPRINGS, COL., April 14.—Fully 10,000 people assembled at the Santa Fe station tonight to welcome President Roosevelt after his all-day trip from Texas on the way to hunt bears. Grand Army veterans were lined up on the platform and a band entertained the crowd during the wait. Wild cheering greeted the president as he stepped out on the platform of the car. The president responded to calls for a speech, saying in part:

"Let me say one word of special greeting to the veterans of the Grand Army. To you, my comrades, I wish to say that I have just come up from Texas, and it would have done your hearts good, you men who wore the blue in the great war, to see the old union and confederate veterans standing together under the old flag.

"Now I am going to make a request of the people of Colorado. I am off on a hunt. One thing you cannot do on a hunt and that is to carry a brass band. You cannot combine hunting bears with your Fourth of July celebrations, so I am going to beg the people of Colorado to treat me on this hunt just as well as the people of Oklahoma treated me on the wolf hunt. If a lot of newspaper men start to come in after me I will have to come home, that is all there is to it. The thing they can do that will please me best, is to let me be on that hunt alone and pay no earthly attention to me, or any of my party while I am off hunting in the mountains. I want to ask the newspaper men, and especially the newspaper men of this great state of yours, for a fair show. I will agree that if anything of any earthly interest happens I will have the news sent out."

The train started with the president standing bareheaded on the rear platform, waving a handkerchief to the crowd. The train is due to arrive at New Castle tomorrow morning.

PUEBLO, COL., April 14.—Pueblo citizens to the number of 5,000 greeted President Roosevelt on his arrival at the Union station this afternoon. When the special was first sighted a mighty cheer went up and it continued until President Roosevelt appeared on the rear platform and addressed the crowd. His speech was interrupted by the presentation of a "big stick," the gift of school children. The president spoke briefly.

NAN PATTERSON RELEASED FROM CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Mistake Made in Drawing Indictment, District Attorney Says—The Smiths Arraigned.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 14.—On motion of Assistant District Attorney Rand, the indictment charging Nan Patterson with conspiracy with the J. Morgan Smiths to extort money from Caesar Young was dismissed this morning. In making the motion he admitted a mistake had occurred in the drawing of the indictment. He asked Judge Foster to dismiss the indictment with leave to resubmit.

Judge Foster complied with his request, and Miss Patterson was again remanded to the Tombs. Mr. Rand's move, while apparently a victory for the defense, will act otherwise. It prevents Mr. Levy from getting at the grand jury minutes which might have aided him.

After the indictment against Miss Patterson had been practically quashed, Smith and his wife, who, during the proceedings, had sat in the court room behind the jury box, were arraigned. They were then remanded to the Tombs.

MISS ROOSEVELT TO VISIT MR. LONGWORTH'S MOTHER

The Announcement Causes a Flutter of Expectancy in Cincinnati Society Circles.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, April 14.—The upper circles of society were thrown into a great state of expectancy today by Congressman Longworth's announcement that Miss Alice Roosevelt will visit his mother at her home on Grandin road some time in May. In view of the many covert intimations of their engagement, the events that will be associated with the entertainment of the president's daughter in this city are awaited with interest. The incident is taken as giving substantial form to the many rumors that have been connected with their names.

"Miss Roosevelt will come to Cincinnati with my sister, Mrs. Wallingford," said the congressman. "They are very close friends, and will spend a few days at our home in this city. We expect them the latter part of May or the first of June."

The visit was planned to take place before Mr. Longworth leaves for the Philippines with the congressional committee of which he is a member.

ONLY TWO WERE AT THE MEETING

Senator Thurston Defends the Administration of American Maritime League.

SAYS IT HAS GOOD SUPPORT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 14.—At a meeting of the American Maritime league today at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, its president, John M. Thurston, former senator from Nebraska, issued a statement relative to the affairs of the organization. Mr. Thurston and the secretary of the league, H. K. Pommery, were the only members at the meeting. In his statement Mr. Thurston declared he had every confidence in the league and the manner of its management, and in the acts of its subordinate officers.

The affairs of the American Maritime league recently attracted much attention through newspaper articles. A number of men, well-known in political and financial life of the country, are said to be members, and according to a statement today had been invited to attend. None except the two men mentioned appeared, however.

Mr. Thurston explained he had accepted the presidency of the league on representations that the organization had enlisted the support of men of prominence. Since he had become president, he said, Gov. Douglas of Massachusetts, Secretary of War Taft, and Secretary of the Navy Morton had joined the league.

As to the financial affairs of the concern, Mr. Thurston declared he was confident all the money received, amounting to between $2,000 and $3,000, had been legitimately expended. If, however, there should be evidence to the contrary or a desire for such action on the part of subscribers, he would hold himself personally responsible and would repay any moneys received since his connection with the organization.

Mr. Thurston said he received no notice of any mail addressed to the league being held up by the postoffice department. If there should be any such action he said he would apply for the mail personally and hold himself responsible.

At the meeting today there was read a list of men who had responded cordially to invitations to serve as vice presidents of the league. Among these, the secretary announced the names of August Belmont, Gov. A. T. Bliss of Michigan, Cornelius N. Bliss, Gov. Chamberlain of Connecticut, Senator W. P. Frye, Irving T. Bush, Attorney General Moody, former Governor Murphy of New Jersey, Elihu Root, President Schurman of Cornell, Charles H. Schwab, Benjamin F. Tracy, Timothy L. Woodruff, Admiral John G. Walker, John W. Griggs, Gov. Herrick of Ohio, Mayor George B. McClellan of New York, Warner Miller and others.

S. Elliott Curtis, who served as secretary when the league was first formed, was the only officer, it was announced, who had ever received a salary, and his pay was nominal. An adjournment was announced until July 1 next, when another meeting will be held. Mr. Thurston said, to determine whether the league shall continue.

Victims of Philadelphia Brokerage Concern Petition Attorney General Carson to Take Action.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—Albert Perrenod and James E. Wright, who claim to have been victims of the Consolidated Stock exchange of Philadelphia, and some of the individual members of the exchange, petitioned Hampton L. Carson, attorney general of Pennsylvania, today, to institute proceedings for the annulment of the charter of the exchange. A hearing was fixed for April 22, in this city.

In the petition, abstracts of an explanatory letter are quoted to show that the exchange solicits the patronage of the public under the representation that the responsibility of its members is practically guaranteed by the exchange's clearing house, which is chartered by the state. The clearing house is further represented to be subject to the state banking laws. The petition avers that the clearing house has never made any return of its transactions to the banking commissioner.

It further avers that "very few, if any of the transactions upon the exchange are bona fide, or are followed by the transfer or delivery of any securities, but that all or least a great part of the transactions are fictitious or 'washed' sales, and not made in good faith. The petition also avers that the quotations displayed by the exchange are stolen from telegraph companies and that the exchange is 'a mart for gambling only, being nothing more nor less than a betting ring.'"

SUSPECTS UNDER ARREST.

Detectives Round Up Nine Persons, One of Whom Is Implicated in Fatal Rathskeller Row.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Nine arrests were made during today and tonight by the police in their efforts to hunt down the murderer of Roy Joyce, who was stabbed to death in a Thirty-first street rathskeller yesterday. The most important of these arrests, the police believe, were made tonight, when Henry Anderson, alias Lawrence, said to be a Canadian jeweler, and known as "English Harry," and Harry Davis were taken into custody, charged with being implicated in the murder.

Cora Barrie and Mabel Ackerman were also arrested tonight, and both are said to have admitted they were with the party in the rathskeller when the murder was done. They denied knowing who had done the stabbing, however.

FINISHING THE WORK ON THE STATE CAPITOL

Marble Will Take the Place of Burlap Used During Legislative Session.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, April 14.—The temporary work in the legislative halls and committee rooms and corridors of the new state capitol is already being torn out in order that these apartments may be permanently finished. Within the vestibule at the south the walls have been denuded of their temporary coverings of red burlap, leaving only the ugly, bare stone blocking, which will be covered with marble.

When the legislature was convened the contractors had not placed all of the marble along the walls and the unfinished spots were covered with burlap for the session. During the session some of this burlap was removed and the marble substituted. Much of the marble remains to be placed, however.

The temporary frame tunnels, which were run across the four "corners" of the rotunde early, are being knocked away. The elevators are running and will continue to do so during business hours each day. The elevator machinery is new and all that remains to be done to finish them is to install new cars and set in place the bronze grill work, which will form the inclosure of the shaft.

ENGLISH LAWYERS HONOR AMERICAN AMBASSADOR

Mr. Choate Is Given a Banquet at the Inns of Court in London---Leading Jurists and Barristers Present.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, April 14.—"Farewell! Rejoice! He goes back to his home with his duty well and nobly done, taking the universal respect and admiration of a kindred nation and his own."

Thus concluded Lord Chancellor Halsbury's tribute at parting with American Ambassador Choate, who recently was uniquely distinguished by election as a member of the Middle Temple and who tonight was honored at a banquet by the greatest gathering of the bench and bar in the history of the Inns of Court. The attorney general, Sir R. B. Finlay, seconded the toast, saying: "This is no ordinary occasion. Never has a worthier man occupied the post of ambassador to Great Britain and none has carried away deeper affection. Never was there a more welcome guest at the Inns than this consummate advocate, great diplomatist and genial man of the world."

The assembly was an extraordinary one in character and numbered nearly 400 members of the bench and bar, including almost every leading justice and barrister in England. Mr. Choate sat between Lord Halsbury and Lord McNaughten, lord of appeal in ordinary. Then ranged on both sides were the venerable privy councillors, each wearing his decorations and orders. Other notable personages present were Lord Alverstone, lord chief justice; Sir Richard Henn Collins, master of the rolls; Viscounts Knutsford and Llandaff; Lord James of Hereford; Dunboyne, Stirling, Robertson, Stormonth, Mathew and Coleridge; H. H. Asquith, formerly home secretary, and the entire members of the American embassy.

The first toast was drunk after the simple words "The King." The second, pronounced by the lord chancellor, was "The President, the Great Magistrate of a Great Nation."

Mr. Choate, addressing the assembly as "Brothers all," said in part:

"I can only suppose that in my person and over my head you intend an unexampled honor to the country I represent. I thank you all from the bottom of my heart. I am especially grateful to my friend, the lord chancellor."

He further said that the new diplomacy to which the lord chancellor had declared he belonged had made his task here easy. The men with whom he had had to deal at the foreign office, the late Lord Salisbury and Lord Lansdowne, were both of that school, saying what they meant and meaning what they said. He had always found them anxious to maintain the friendliest relations, always willing to meet America half way, and never with a card up their sleeve. His task had been easy because there were Queen Victoria and King Edward on one side and President McKinley and President Roosevelt on the other. The English people and Americans were ever determined to be friends.

KITCHEN SHOWER IN COURT HOUSE

Ladies of the Prothonotary's Office Surprise Prospective Bride and Groom.

LUNCH SERVED IN MEZZANINE

Tin, iron and crockery ware deposited in the prothonotary's office yesterday noon made the place look like a department store, and as the clerks employed in the office kept coming in with big armfuls after the noon recess, the wonder grew until it was announced that it was all occasioned by the fact that pretty Miss Prudence Nutt, who for some time past has been the court house representative of the Guarantee Title & Trust company, stationed in that office, had severed her connection with the company to become Mrs. "Jack" Moore on May 17. Mr. Moore is a popular docket clerk in the same office, and he was compelled to accept all kinds of congratulations because of the coming event.

The lady clerks of the prothonotary's office sprung a surprise on Miss Nutt and Mr. Moore by arranging a "tin shower" and a nice little spread to which only the ladies, Mr. Moore, Prothonotary Kirker and his chief clerk, W. J. McDonald, were invited. The others, however, were not to be left out that easily, and before the affair had progressed very far, the mezzanine in the office was crowded with spectators who enjoyed the spread from a distance.

Each lady contributed to the event by procuring her share of the nice things. Coffee was cooked in the office, pickles were much in evidence, sandwiches of all kinds and the very best fruit in the market helped out the improvised menu. It was a regular home affair and the entire party was in plain view from the corridors, many persons gathering to witness a jovial good time, and every person having something to say that aided in making the affair one long to be remembered. As the "kitchen shower was rather unexpected, Mr. Moore had not made arrangements for an express wagon, so the tinware and other useful utensils were in evidence all afternoon. The young people will not have to purchase culinary articles when they start house-keeping.

Everything was informal and Prothonotary Kirker enjoyed it as much as the prospective bride and groom. Miss Nutt and Mr. Moore had to respond to toasts, and the good-natured twitting they were subjected to added to the occasion. All this took place at the noon hour, and those who frequented the office during that time stopped so long to enjoy the merriment with the principals that a number of restaurants lost their usual profits for the day.

Miss Nutt has always been one of the most popular young ladies in the court house, has many friends and acquaintances, all of whom admire her for her genial disposition and bright, witty manners, while no more popular clerk than "Jack" Moore has ever been employed in the building.

BOOM FOR GREATER CITY STARTING IN OAKLAND

Board of Trade Organizes Energetic Campaign for Annexation of Allegheny.

The Greater Pittsburgh movement got a hearty boom last night at a meeting of the Oakland board of trade. Resolutions were adopted, enthusiastic speeches made and measures discussed to wage an energetic campaign for the greater city in the Oakland and adjoining districts from which the organization draws its membership. Members pledged themselves to work hard to bring about a victory at the polls for the union of the two cities.

John Dimling reported the present status of the Greater Pittsburgh bill. E. D. Wilt called attention to the danger menacing the annexation from the politicians of the downtown wards, the South Side and Allegheny where an adverse sentiment is supposed to exist. He said the opposition was due to politics, and it was up to the voters of what he termed the "independent" wards to get out a vote to overcome this handicap. M. J. Ehrenfeld said the danger lay in the friends of Greater Pittsburgh not voting.

A motion by W. H. Stevenson was adopted, empowering the Greater Pittsburgh committee of the board of trade to enlarge its membership and to issue to the members of the board Greater Pittsburgh badges or buttons.

The board adopted a resolution, prepared by the directors, asking for the appointment of a male principal of the Fourteenth ward schools to succeed Miss Margaret A. Hunter, who has served as principal for many years. The board indorsed the movement to organize a central board of trade, composed of representativ seof the local commercial organizations and the president was instructed to name representatives from the Oakland organization.

WILL PUNISH WOMEN.

All Those Arrested in Connection With Graft Crusade Will Be Tried.

Attorneys John Marron and John C. Haymaker, who are prosecuting the graft investigation in Allegheny, announced yesterday that all the women who were indicted for selling liquor illegally and with keeping immoral resorts will be tried and the usual penalties for such offenses will be imposed.

This sets aside some doubt on this point that has existed since the big raid was made by the constables in the employ of the district attorney. In some cases sentence will be suspended, because of aid rendered by the women to the commonwealth. The trial of Capt. James Wilson will be called a week from next Monday and the trials of the women will follow.

Daisy Leonard, Edna Stewart, Dolly Maywood and Alice Scott were given hearings yesterday before Alderman Toole, and each was held for court on charges similar to those upon which the other women were held.

A conference was held yesterday by Attorneys Marron and Haymaker and the Allegheny cases were discussed. Mr. Haymaker said that perhaps new informations would be made today.

FENDERS IN TRANSIT.

Street Car Safety Appliances Will Arrive Here Monday to Be Tested.

The officers of the Pittsburgh Railways Company yesterday submitted to Director Moore letters from manufacturers of street car fenders, which stated fenders had been shipped to the railway company for trial. The fenders will arrive here Monday from Wisconsin. Yesterday was the last of the 10 days extension Moore granted to the company, and the traction company submitted the letters to show they were not at fault in the delay.

Director Moore said a test would be made as soon as the fenders arrived and when selection is made the company would put fenders on all cars.

ENGAGING FAMOUS SINGERS FOR DISTRICT SAENGERFEST

The executive board of the saengerfest to be held here in June last night announced that in addition to the engagement of Mme. Lillian Blauvelt, soprano, contracts had also been closed with Mme. Johanna Poehlmann, the alto soloist of the Metropolitan opera company, and Daniel Beddoe, the local tenor. John Papp was appointed secretary of the finance committee and Philip Bittner of the volksfest committee. Headquarters have been established at No. 816 Federal street.

LIVES OF PUPILS ARE ENDANGERED

Directors of the Twelfth Ward, Allegheny, Will Erect New School Building.

OLD PROPERTY IS UNSAFE

"If the building inspectors were to visit the Twelfth ward school on Nunnery hill I believe the structure would be condemned. The school is not only lacking in all modern conveniences and unfit for the purposes for which it was designed, but has been patched up so often that it is no longer available, and will be abandoned as soon as a new school building can be erected."

This was the startling statement made last night by Robert S. Westerman, member of the Twelfth ward school board, Allegheny.

The directors last night decided to abandon the Meade street building and erect in its stead a modern up-to-date school on Parkview avenue, and to build an addition to the East street building. The $100,000 bond issue voted for at the February election will be available May 1, when building operations may begin. Four architects will submit plans and specifications for the improvements.

The school house is in Meade street, at the summit of Nunnery hill. The structure was built many years ago and contained only two rooms. In 1877 the building was remodeled and a new story added. The building if of brick and stone, two stories high, and contains six class rooms.

Great cracks have appeared recently in the walls and foundations of the building and the structure is no longer considered safe. Just to the left of the steps leading to the front entrance of the building is a fissure nearly wide enough to admit a man's hand. The crack follows a somewhat zig-zag course, and extends for a distance of five or six feet.

On the north side of the building the wall is cracked in numerous places, there being several other fissures in the south wall. In room No. 5, on the second floor of the building, facing south, the plaster has crumbled away to such an extent that the walls and blackboard become deluged with water whenever there is a heavy rain. In room No. 6, on the opposite side of the hall, there are cracks in the ceiling, plastered over, but visible by means of great ridges, running a full third of the length of the ceiling, despite the fresh paint carefully applied during the summer vacation period.

Strangely enough the majority of residents of Nunnery Hill are unaware of the unsafe condition of the school to which they are sending their children, although the sharp eyes of several school boys have observed the cracks. There are between 250 and 300 pupils who daily attend the school. Here the children start with kindergarten lessons and are carried along until they are ready for admission to the high schools. Everything about the school is tidy and each of the rooms is frescoed in pleasing colors. To the casual observer there would be no suspicion that all was not as it should be with the building.

Even the janitor, who lives opposite the school in Meade street, was not aware that the building was in a dangerous condition, although he admitted that he had experienced difficulty in keeping the rain out.

ARCHITECTS COMING.

International Convention of Architectural League Will Be Held in This City Next Month.

The annual international convention of the Architectural League of America will be held in this city next Monday and Tuesday. Headquarters will be established at the Hotel Schenley, where the routine sessions and the annual banquet will be held. An interesting feature of the convention will be the exhibition of the new map of the downtown section of Pittsburgh "as it should be." This is the map upon which local architects have worked for several years and which has been described in The Gazette.

Among the notable architects who will speak at the banquet are Lewis H. Sullivan, Chicago; Ralph Adams Crum, Boston; Charles F. McKim, New York; Frederick Lamb, New York; C. F. Herts, New York; Wilson Eyre, Philadelphia; Justin Harder, New York, and Henry Hornbostle, of the New York firm of Palmer & Hornbostle, architects for the Carnegie Technical schools. Monday will be devoted to public discussions of professional subjects and on Tuesday night the banquet will be held.

HAMILTON'S

Thirty-five years of consistent business effort is back of our

This is the greatest event in our business history. The prices are the lowest, the goods the very best it has ever been our privilege to offer. And the immediate response that has already met our first announcements point to the largest business in a given period that the piano trade of this city has ever experienced.

We invite your attention to the following items, which indicate the character of the offerings that we announce for this occasion in both

If you would view the best expressions of fashionable wear for women take some time this morning or afternoon and note the wealth of design in women's dress, and all its belongings, that we have submitted to the women of Greater Pittsburg through all this week.

Men will find latest and most stylish things of their dress in Clothing Section, Hat Section, Furnishing Section.

The Fragrance of Easter Flowers Transferred to the Richest Perfumery.

We have the rarest perfumery it is possible to compound by modern chemical processes. At our Toilet Counter there are bottles of the most exquisite odors that will cost anyone $8.00 per bottle; per contra, there are the most pleasant odors for as little as 25c a bottle. In between this range of prices it is simply a matter of preferment and of price. It is quite true the French manufacturers of perfumery are noted the world over for producing the best, and we carry all the well-known French makes, but at the same time we are loath to concede them the highest niche, for there are perfumers in this country whose goods are A1.

Of the French makes we have those of Le Grande, Haubigant, Violet, Picer, Roger & Gallet, and we import direct all their productions. We sell them for lowest prices on account of large imports.

Of American makes we have all of Hudnut's, all of Colgate's, all of Pinaud's, and all of Riker's.

Now which will you choose for Easter—French or American?

Easter Neckwear for Men.

Don't put off getting your cravat until next Saturday, we want you to have the pick of the variety.

Never had so many styles, prettier patterns, better qualities, more variety. We prepared for the Easter business in men's neckwear months ago.

Particular attention was given to selecting the best lines to sell for the popular price, 50c. Of course, four-in-hands are all the go, and we have them at the 50c price in every shade of every color. You will find no fault with the silks.

If you say finer grades, then we'll show you something remarkable for $1.00 and $1.50.

Easter Gloves? Yes, Sir.

Natural question to ask in connection with neckwear. Well, we have the best $1.00 Walking Glove ever made for men, and that's saying a good deal, for there are lots of good dollar gloves in the market. But ours are best. Why? Because we have them made specially for us, know exactly what kind of leather is used, know they fit better than other gloves. You will have the newest shades of tan before you if you select your Easter gloves here.

Other very fine gloves at these prices:

Fowne's Gloves, $1.50 pair.
Dent's Gloves, $1.85 pair.
Fisk's Gloves, $2.00 pair.

Funny about pajamas—suggest them to a man who never wore them, and he's likely to reply: "See you later." But get him to try a pair, and he's likely ever after to be a pajama man.

It doesn't cost much to prove the pajama to be the most comfortable sleeping suit, say $1.00 for a suit, or $1.50, $2.00 and $3.00.

For those who habitually use pajamas, and want the best, we have them of imported madras, $2.00 the suit; of a combination of silk and linen, $5.50 the suit; of all silk, $12.00 the suit.

Saturday, April 15, 1905.

Apparently the government is about to inaugurate a policy in the management of the Panama railroad that will set a good example to private transportation interests. It is reported charges are to be reduced to the lowest figures that can be made to return cost of maintenance and fixed charges, while all discriminations are to be abolished. Doubtless this policy will result in increased traffic and probably in increased net revenues.

After long search and many disappointments, the body of John Paul Jones, the first American admiral, has been found in a Parisian square. Another body had been buried above the casket enclosing the remains of the naval hero, and no plate was found to identify the coffin, but the well-preserved body answers precisely the description of John Paul Jones. The body will now be brought to this country and again sepulture in the land he served so well, and a monument erected to keep his brave deeds before future generations. Republics are not wholly ungrateful.

An unpleasant turn came in the weather conditions yesterday and there is a prospect for its continuance into next week. At least the cold area, as it started down over the northwest, was broad and covered the border states for more than three days. Disagreeable as it is this weather is not unusual in the middle of April. Nurserymen, who base their calculations on observation for a number of years, do not consider this region as reasonably secure from the occurrence of severe frosts until May 5. Killing frosts have come after that date and there are records of snow up to May 1.

Undoubtedly Pittsburgh has fallen into a bad position in the matter of disposing of its garbage. The cost has been growing enormously, without improvement in the service. It is quite another question whether the remedy must be found in the recommendation of irector Moore, that a way should be found to evade the requirement for one-year contracts. A thoroughly capable business administration might find it feasible to make the waste products yield a large share of the cost of collection and disposal. The late George E. Waring demonstrated that much could be done in that direction, by his management in New York, but unfortunately cities rarely have the services of men of his ability and character.

For the first two weeks of April the health of this city has been remarkably good, and the death rate low. Just why it is so cannot be easily explained. There have been no extraordinary precautions, weather conditions have not been abnormal for the season and the water supply has been filthy as ever. Many years ago the belief was prevalent that after a run of smallpox had passed the general health average was higher for a time. The same was alleged of other contagions. Such a condition would be explainable on the theory that all who were particularly susceptible to disease had been weeded out by the epidemic. The recent smallpox, however, was not sufficiently fatal to make that theory plausible in this case. Whatever the cause, Pittsburgh may be thankful for the fact that sickness and death are less prevalent than usual.

A tirade against the Allegheny county members of the house of representatives at Harrisburg in the Dispatch closed as follows: "Of course, in the last analysis it must be conceded that our lawmakers have the excuse of knowing no better. The real fault is with the people in electing men of this class to make their laws." In the final analysis it is the Dispatch that displays its ignorance and its animosity. The best men ever elected to the legislature from this county, have been subjected to just such abuse by the Dispatch, and it is quite natural that members should come to pay no attention to that paper. Neither its praise or censure is worth much. Before the late session began the Dispatch announced it was to be a carnival of corruption. A little later it grew abusive, because that program was not being followed. Now it slops over because the home representatives did not vote to suit it and because they refused to obey the behests of the new Pittsburg city ring. The Allegheny county members may be sure the Dispatch estimate is not shared by their respectable constituents.

It is said the announcement from Tokyo that a Japanese army of 1,000,000 men would soon be mobilized in Manchuria caused hilarity among German military men. The German officers declare Japan has so far exhausted its supply of men capable of military duty that it has put women on the police force. All this looks like partisan comment, for a nation of 25,000,000 people should be able to raise 2,000,000 soldiers. However, if we grant the German estimate of Japan for the moment, it may yet be possible for the mikado to put more than a million men in the field. China is populous. Japan has money. Russia charges the employment of Manchurians in large numbers in the Japanese cavalry. England sent several thousands of Germans to fight against George Washington on one occasion. Is there anything to prevent Japan enrolling 500,000 Chinese soldiers in the war against Russia, if it can find or smuggle them in the war zone without the official connivance of the Chinese government?

Tenement Reforms.

After making a personal inspection of a part of the tenement districts, Director Harry Moore has ordered cleaning up and repairs to a number of buildings. Incidentally the director has declared some of the tenements unfit for human habitation and that he will not tolerate them unless alterations are made at once. This is no surprise, for The Gazette predicted that when the director went to see for himself something would happen.

Condition of the buildings is but one phase of the mischief. A no less important phase, from the sanitary point of view, is the manner in which some of the dwellers in the tenements live. The crowding of forty persons into one small room is not the fault of the landlord, but the perverted taste of the tenants. Over-crowding to that degree is not less pernicious in its influence upon the public health than residing in rooms without light, or proper means for ventilation. It is a more difficult matter to control by ordinance or police regulation than the physical accessories of dwellings, yet it is worthy of as much effort to secure improvement. It is impossible to promote good citizenship under such un-American conditions.

The Naval Fight.

All reports of naval engagements in Chinese waters are, apparently, products of the imagination. The opposing fleets have not yet come together. They may not clash for two or three days, though there is reason to believe Admiral Rojestvensky is now approaching the danger zone and there is good reason to believe a desperate naval fight is sure to follow. The Russian commander exhibits unexpected daring in holding to an open course that invites Japanese attack.

Obviously the Japanese naval base is in Formosan waters, near the Formosa straits. It does not follow of necessity that the battle will be fought in that immediate vicinity, but it is practically certain Admiral Togo will not attack far from that region. He may strike a little before the Russians are in the latitude of his base, or he may wait until they have passed, confident of their inability to escape with their befouled fighting craft, or their colliers and supply convoy.

It is but natural the world should be eager in anticipation of the conflict and that it should be not altogether certain of the result. The fate of Manchuria, if not of Russia and Japan, seems to hang upon the issue of this engagement and the policy of Admiral Rojestvensky encourages the belief that he is prepared to put up a good fight. Yet to the disinterested observer the outcome appears tolerably sure. What the Japanese lack in tonnage is made up by the superior condition of their vessels and unless Rojestvensky's men are superior to those Russians who have fought in previous engagements in far eastern waters, the apparent Russian advantage of numbers is overbalanced by the quality of the Japanese gunners.

Parting of the Hair.

Following a fierce verbal attack by a Wilmington clergyman upon a brother of the cloth who had patronized a face masseur, an Allegheny county minister appealed to the presbytery of the Cumberland church, the other day, to abolish the "sissified asses" who part their hair in the middle. As a topic of fierce discussion the finely-groomed clergyman threatens to displace Rockefeller's money—possibly with better results to the church, possibly not.

In the matter of facial massage it is not impossible the clergy may establish a universal standard. The ban may be put upon anything so vainglorious as having tell-tale wrinkles rubbed out with the aid of cold cream or goose grease, or the practice may be sanctioned as one not offensive in the eyes of the church. A wrinkle or a rub, more or less, may be adjusted to the satisfaction of the majority without recourse to the "punch in the jaw," recommended by the Delaware advocate of the simple life.

It is not so easy to deal with the parting of the hair of gentlemen who are ornaments to the pulpit. On one head the birsute covering may part gracefully on one side, while on another it may part more easily on the other side. Certain peculiar "cow licks" may almost compel separation near the median line, or resort to an aggressive pompadour curve, rising like the proud plumes of a Shanghai rooster. Supposing this alternative should be preferred, there remains the problem of what is to be done with the venerable ministers who have parted with their top hair forever. Shall these be compelled to cultivate the fringe remaining above their ears that it may be drawn up over the shining dome from one side, or may they be permitted to part their hair with a towel, as near the middle as is practicable?

We shall not attempt to decide these weighty questions. They may have an unseen bearing upon the fate of immortal souls, so they will be left for the prayerful consideration of the gentlemen who have started the discussion, and those who are directly interested. Yet it may be permitted to suggest to the clergy at large that no question is settled "until it is settled right," and they ought to be very careful in giving a final verdict.

The Business Situation.

A fresh contribution to the stock of confidence in the future of business was furnished by the report of the production of pig iron for the month of March. According to the compilations of the Iron Age the output of furnaces last month amounted to 1,936,229 tons and the amount of stocks on hand decreased 31,489 tons. From these figures our contemporary estimates that the consumption of iron during the month of March approximated 2,000,000 tons. If the record for March should prove to be the monthly average for the year, the consumption of iron in the United States for 1905 will approximate 24,000,000 tons, a total never before approached. So far during the current month there has been no sign of let-up in the demand. On the contrary, it appears to be greater than ever, and there have been reports of negotiations with foreign manufacturers for supplies that cannot be furnished at home.

It is as true today as when the late Jay Gould announced the axiom that the iron trade is the barometer of general business, and this evidence of the unprecedented activity in iron and steel has already had a stimulating effect upon other industries. Another indication that the United States Steel Corporation itself has confidence in the further expansion of the iron trade was the 25-year contract signed during the week with the Pittsburgh Coal Company for fuel supplies.

The first report this year of the department of agriculture on the growing crops was also a very encouraging incident. The average condition of the winter wheat crop on the first instant was estimated at 91.6 per cent, which is fully 15 per cent above average conditions at the same time last year and indicates a total yield of this grade of wheat of 480,000,000 bushels, as compared with an actual yield in 1904 of 333,000,000 bushels. Between now and harvest time this estimate may be considerably reduced, but so far in the month of April weather conditions have been favorable, and unless a calamity should occur there is every reason to look for a winter wheat crop that will exceed the highest total for any previous year.

Still another favorable development of the week was the report of our exports of farm products and mineral oils for March. The value of our shipments of breadstuffs, provisions, cotton, cattle and oil was $67,395,557, an increase of more than $8,000,000 over the same month last year. With one exception, March is the first month in two years that our domestic exports have not fallen below the total for the corresponding month in the previous year. The falling off, of course, has been due to the smaller exports of wheat and the lower price of cotton, but during the month just closed there was a large increase in the value of our shipments of both corn and cotton, and the effect was the favorable showing noted.

The expansion in our foreign and domestic trade is reflected in the increase in bank exchanges all over the country. In Pittsburgh there is a noteworthy gain in this respect, which is due almost exclusively to industrial activity and is entirely free from inflation connected with speculative operations. The stock market, after hesitating for several days, later became active and buoyant, and the level of prices is now above that of 1902, when the industrial and commercial outlook was as bright as at present.

When the Work Is Done.

Many of our contemporaries, commenting on the speed with which bills were rushed through during the last two weeks of the legislative session, have assumed the legislature was not industrious during the earlier days of the session. This assumption is not warranted. It must be attributed to ignorance concerning the legislative procedure. It might be said with as much justice that the Japanese armies were idle for weeks preceding the battle of Mukden.

It is true that legislatures do not usually pass many bills during the first two months. Yet the members may work almost as hard during that time as in the later days, when the legislative halls resound with the call of the roll on final passage. The first work is to draft and introduce the bills. Then comes the busy period for the committees, where all measures are considered, amended and acted upon. Such as are favorably reported are printed and placed in the files of the members. There the task of the conscientious member begins, for he must read and personally consider all bills that have not come through his committee. That is the real work, and is done principally between the open sessions.

In the final stage of debate and adoption on second and third readings, the average member is on easy street. He takes no part in the debates and needs only to follow them casually and to note amendments made. That part of the work attracts the most public attention, because the public can see it being done, yet it is not the most important of the session. The legislature that can get ready in three months to proceed to final action upon a thousand bills has not been idle before the spectacular part of the performance begins. In school the pupil does his work in silence and recitation occupies a small portion of his time. It is just so with a legislature. The analogy holds farther. The more diligent the study, the less noise.

And you need a lighter suit.

It's spring when Easter's coming,
And trade is getting flat;

LIGHT IN DISEASE.

Interesting Observations on Effect of Red Rays in Vaccination.

The celebrated Danish physician Finsen was the first man to use light in the treatment of certain diseases, but even before he showed the use which could be made of electric light in the treatment of lupus, Finsen demonstrated that red light exercised a very favorable action on certain fevers. The Danish physician recommended that a person afflicted with smallpox, for example, be put in a room papered in red, with red window panes, etc., and the results of the treatment were excellent. There was less suppuration, the eruption was not so extensive, and the general symptoms were much alleviated.

With these facts as a starting point a Viennese physician, Dr. Goldman, recently performed a series of very interesting experiments, which Dr. A. Cartaz describes in La Nature of Paris. A certain number of children were vaccinated and divided into two groups. In one group were placed the children who had been vaccinated in the usual manner, that is, by daylight, while in the other group were placed children who had been vaccinated in a black room lighted by a feeble red ray. In the second case the wound was covered with a red band which formed a hermetical seal and at the same time prevented white light from reaching the sore. The results were remarkable. The inoculations which had been made by daylight and which had not been covered with the red band, all followed the usual evolution; more or less pronounced swelling of the dermic tissues at the periphery of the pustule, inflammation of the neighboring ganglia, suppuration, etc. The inoculations, however, which were made in the dark room showed no sign of inflammation, the pustules, instead of developing, remained flat, and in one or two cases Dr. Goldman was accused of using poor vaccine. Another group of inoculations which were made by daylight and covered with a red band the second or third day, followed the same course as those made in the dark room. It is, therefore, evident that red light exercises on vaccinal eruption the same effects as on that of smallpox, that is, it prevents the development of the pustules, lessens the virulence of the vaccine, etc. Dr. Goldman does not believe that the red light in any way diminishes the prophylactic power of the vaccination.—Public Opinion.

Holding Off Senility.

A famous French general, when asked how it was that he had such an erect carriage, replied that it was because he bent over and touched the floor with his fingers 30 times every day. If he had acquired rigidity of the spine so that he could not do that, he would have had with it weak abdominal muscles, which result in portal congestion. This portal congestion interferes with stomach digestion and with the action of the liver. The poison-destroying power of the liver is lessened, autointoxication results, and arteriosclerosis and old age come on at a much earlier day. But by keeping the spine flexible and the abdominal muscles strong and taut, the portal circulation is kept free and old age is held off.—Good Health.

Wales College Yells.

Wales is by no means disposed to bend the knee to America. The Welsh "yells" are fully up to the transatlantic level. The University of North Wales has a yell something like this: "Bravo, bravissimo, ray, ray, ra-o-rock! Ray-ray-ra-o-rock! Ray-ray-ray-o-rock!" Cardiff has a somewhat similar "yell," while at Aberystwyth the cry is "Hip-hip-hur-aber! Hip-hip-hur-aber! Hip-hip-hur-Aberystwyth! With a pip and a pang, and a yip and a yang. Yak! Yak! ! Yak! ! !"—T. P. Weekly.

The Pruning of the Poodle.

Now is the poodle taken to the man
Who with the pruning irons in his grip
Surveys the trembling beast from head to hip
And gildes athwart his burr-gemmed astrakhan.
True to a quaint and most artistic plan
He leaves queer tufts upon his bow-wowship,
Gargoyles each trotter, and his caudal tip
Ends with a star that is a horsefly fan.
Well decked-edged and shaven to the skin,
His smiles knock all unpleasant thoughts askew,
And Gladys hugs him in aesthetic glee,
For, while he's leaping through a harlequin,
He is, from any high-art point of view,
To the rapt soul a sculptured symphonee. R. K. MUNKITTRICK.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By Frank A. Parker.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 14.—Dr. Elias G. Brown, a medical expert employed by the board of education to see what can be done for New York's thousands of typical school children, has just made a report to Dr. Luther H. Gulick, the board's director of physical training, which shows what is regarded as a rather alarming state of affairs. More than one per cent of all the children attending public schools are making absolutely no headway in the regular classes. This means that the city is bringing up to manhood and womanhood a vast army of boys and girls who must of necessity become in time dependent upon the municipality for support. They are not idiots, but they are deficient and cannot keep pace with the regular classes. If they are kept in these classes many of them not only do not progress, but go backward, and in a few years are compelled to leave school entirely, because they are too slow of wit to learn anything.

Dr. Brown estimates that among the 25,000 school children in the city more than 10,000 are totally incapable of keeping up with the regular classes composed of normal children. Several years ago Dr. Brown, who for years has made a specialty of the treatment of deficient boys, was called in to take charge of this class of pupils. He sent cards to the teachers, who reported backward children in their classes. Dr. Brown then began an examination of the worst cases. In less than a year he selected about 300 boys and girls and divided them into 20 special classes in as many different schools in the five boroughs. He hopes that next year he will be able to get more teachers, as only the most extreme cases can be cared for in these 20 classes.

Old Man Proves Boy in Disguise.

Detective Kubler of Brooklyn early today saw what he thought to be an aged peddler sitting on the curb in front of No. 842 Fulton street, which is occupied as a shirtwaist establishment. The old man was muttering something which Kubler could not understand. "What are you doing here?" the detective asked. "Work, work," was the only answer he could get. Kubler just then heard the creaking of the store door and a voice whisper from within: "It's all right Al, come on." The aged man answered in Yiddish, and tried to run. At the same moment a boy ran from the store. The detective caught them both. At the Atlantic avenue station the "old man" was stripped of a wig, whiskers and long coat he wore and with his disguise removed proved to be a boy of 12 years of age.

All Aboard for Aqueduct.

Within a few hours there will be something in the air that will whet the appetite for those in New York who are in a mood for horse racing. Tomorrow men will be donning their walking clothes and shouldering their field glasses; women will have tightened up their tresses, fixed their headgear and jabbed it with those treacherous looking hatpins. Later on the trains for Aqueduct will be packed with humanity eager to pay homage to the thoroughbred. The cries of the newsboys will be heard, with their deafening yells, and whole trains of cars will echo with one continuous round of horse talk. Every man will ask his neighbor's opinion as to the likely winner of the Carter handicap, the women will compare notes and argue as to the merits of the different candidates as they know them. It is the same every year on the beginning day and on every other eventful day of the season.

Some Profit in Gas.

Testimony given to the Stevens investigating committee this afternoon by George W. Doane, vice president and general manager of the New Amsterdam Gas Company, one of the subsidiary companies of the Consolidated, shows that if the city should undertake to manufacture its own gas it could furnish it to consumers for 48 cents a thousand. Mr. Doane last week testified that gas had been furnished the Consolidated company at a cost ranging from 28 to 32 cents a thousand, but the Consolidated officers at once put out a statement that this did not include the cost of distribution. Today Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the committee, got Mr. Doane to give the actual cost of making and distributing gas. Mr. Hughes finally drew out the testimony that the Central Union Company in 1904 supplied to consumers at $1 a thousand gas which cost only 48 cents delivered at the burner. This cost included everything except interest on the funded debt and the reserve for depreciation.

The Gas That Was Not.

There was almost a panic in several outlying districts of Brooklyn last night when all the gas suddenly went out. For half a minute there was no light. Then the supply was on as usual, but no sooner had the astonished citizens lighted up than the gas disappeared again. This mysterious phenomenon was kept up for an hour, the gas coming and going without any apparent cause. In several instances women and children became so badly frightened that they ran crying into the streets. At the offices of the Brooklyn Union Gas Company it was said that nothing had happened to the apparatus and that there was no trouble anywhere, so far as was known.

When the Conductor Guessed Wrong.

Mrs. Jacob Turpin of Plainfield, N. J., has instituted suit against the Jersey Central railroad for damages for the act of Conductor Samuel Johnson in taking up her commutation ticket in the belief that it did not belong to her. Mrs. Turpin had been coming to New York two or three times a week and in order to economize, bought a monthly commutation ticket. She used it a few times when one morning she took Conductor Johnson's train, and when he came along after tickets, he took hers up and kept it. The ticket had her name on it, but he did not know her. There was a protest from passengers, but all to no purpose. This is the first suit of the kind ever brought.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By Erasmus Wilson.

Do you know why it is that more than one half of the people in this city do not go to church?

If you know will you tell?

If you have any well defined notion concerning it you should make it known.

Preachers are deeply puzzled, and good people in all classes would like to know the reasons why.

That this is one of the questions of the day and of the hour is shown by the interest taken in its discussion. It is discussed in families, in clubs and even in saloons. Non-churchgoers are apparently as much in the dark concerning it as are others and few, if any of them are able to give a satisfactory excuse for their conduct.

Naturally you would suppose that men and women would be more interested in the salvation of their souls than in anything else, since all agree that the soul is the all-important part of man.

And yet in spite of the very general, if not universal belief in the immortality of the soul a majority of those possessed of souls neglect or refuse to attend church or to join in any sort of soul culture.

Is it because men are so wrapped up in business that they have no time to devote to preparing their souls for immortality?

Is it the fault of the preachers that so many absent themselves from the church on Sunday?

If so the preachers ought to know it. And you need not hesitate to give them your views on the subject. Instead of being offended they will thank you for it. Besides, it is as much your duty to give pointers to preachers as it is theirs to give pointers to the people.

In early times there was quite a gulf between the preacher and the people. He was thought to be made of superior stuff, and sometimes he thought so too. Great deference was shown to him, and he was venerated as a god by many.

You may recall the pastoral visit before the war, or in the times when the shorter catechism was the thing. These pastoral visits were as much dreaded by children as they were enjoyed by the older folks.

The passing of the custom of catechising and instructing the family at home is held by some to be the prime cause of the declining interest in the church and the spread of immorality.

But times do change, and it is but natural that the manners, tastes and social views of the people should change? Are the changes of the times due to the changing views and tastes of the people? That changes have taken place none will deny, nor do any doubt that other changes will occur.

* * *

One of the charges against the preacher is that he does not keep pace with the times, but is ever opposing natural changes and doing what he can to retard progress.

It is charged that he would have us live in Bible times, dumb worshipers of things as they once were. The opposition of the church to the progress of science even to the burning of those who made great and valuable discoveries, are cited as evidence of the non-progressiveness of the ancient church, and many contend that it still maintains the same attitude.

It is pointed out that the church opposes any research that promises to show that its councils and its leaders were wrong in their conclusions, or that their teachings were misleading. And it does seem that the church, as such, is the last to accept newly discovered truths.

Many of the educated sons of good old-fashioned church people cannot accept the doctrines that were taught around the family hearthstone because they are not in harmony with facts which have been more recently established. And not feeling disposed to play the part of the hypocrite they simply refuse to join the church, but do not renounce and oppose it out of respect for their forebears.

Some of the educated young set go farther than this and poke fun at the church and take delight in opposing it.

And yet these same young people are not adverse to sending for the parson when their final summons comes.

* * *

This is decidedly a faddish age, and one of the fads appears to be to show indifference toward the church, the teachings of the Bible, and religion generally.

Fads cannot be destroyed by ignoring them, nor by abusing them. It takes a fad to kill a fad. Those who run after fads cannot be attracted by common sense teachings.

Fortunately only a small percentage of the people are faddists, unless you include popular sports as fads. This can hardly be done because sports, or pastimes, have been popular from the beginning.

But faddists and sportsmen object to mingling fads and sports with religion, for there is a sacredness that attaches to religion that is peculiar to itself.

That devotees of sports have a high regard for religion was shown recently by a lot of Sunday baseball players falling upon their knees and praying like good fellows when the car they were in was in imminent danger of being thrown from a high bridge into a raging river.

This shows that the germ is there, and it only remains for teachers and preachers to devise ways and means by which to reach it, and kindle it into a living flame.

There is no such thing as an infidel, not in the broad sense of the word, for it is impossible for a sane mind to conceive of a universe without a definite creative force behind it.

* * *

If the different denominations all serving the same God, acknowledging the same head, and aiming at the same thing, were to get together and work together the world would have more confidence in the church and more respect for it.

The devil, you know, is the author of confusion, while God's forces all work in harmony.

It is the lack of harmony among Christians that weakens the church. Men of intelligence and culture pass each other as they go each to his own church. While they may work harmoniously along other lines, they cannot agree or will not consent to agree, upon a matter which they concede to be of the greatest importance.

The onlooker smiles, and says in the language to Tetullian: "See how these Christians love one another," and he says it in derision.

The true Christian is respected of all men. Why, therefore, are not all men Christians? Is it the fault of the man or of his teacher that he is not what he ought to be?

Why are you not a Christian?

This brings the matter home to yourself. If you know why you are not a Christian you owe it to yourself, and to the world to go to a Christian teacher and tell him why you are not. He is anxious to know this very thing, and if you can "put him wise" on it you will have not only benefited him but many of your fellow men.

You may be able to tell why you are not a Jew or a gentile, a Presbyterian or a Baptist, but why are you not a Christian?

Think it over, and talk it over with others, and when you have satisfied yourself go and tell Christian teachers, and they will thank you for it.

Bicycles and Good Roads.

The mileage of good common roads in our country is increasing, and the bicycle initiated the reform. Perhaps we may never see another great bicycle craze, but the merit of wheeling as an outdoor exercise is genuine, and the tendency will be to recognize it fully as good roads multiply.—New York Sun.

COLORED HELP

Conditions in the Black Belt.

The New York Association for Household Research, through a special committee, has been making a study of the large class of negro women who are flocking to northern cities in search of employment. Domestic employment is indicated, as very few negro women engage in any other, except in the south, where many work in the fields. Those who look to this importation of negro women to relieve the perplexing servant problem may find in the Scranton Review an account of conditions of domestic service in the "Black Belt," which furnishes many recruits to northern cities. The article was written by Walter L. Fleming of the University of West Virginia.

Auburn is a small college town in Alabama, only 25 miles from Tuskegee, but the school is little patronized by the negroes of the neighborhood. Many have never even heard of it, and those who have are prejudiced against it because "the students have to work too hard." Some years ago two young negroes went from Auburn to Tuskegee, and, unfortunately, died after returning. The negroes believe that they "caught their death" at the school, and this increased their dislike and dread of it to a considerable extent.

The Situation in Auburn, Ala.

The population of Auburn is close to 1,900, of which nearly 1,000 are negroes. The number of families employing servants is rather large for so small a community, for in the south there is a stubborn theory that a white person is degraded by personal service, and few women who can possibly afford to hire their housework done will do it themselves. There being such a lively demand for domestic servants, and the supply being apparently so abundant, it would seem as if the housekeeper's lot ought to be fairly comfortable. The negro population, however, is not by any means unanimous in the willingness to work in the white man's kitchen, or to care for his garden and lawn. The population is divided into four general classes—those negroes who are fairly prosperous and intelligent—who own their homes or are able to rent good houses, who have trades or regular occupations, and who do not go out to service; those who live by day's work, and will cook, nurse, wash and iron, etc.; those who will not work at all unless forced to by hunger or cold; and those who prefer to work in the fields the greater part of the year, and only do housework when such work is not available. It is from the second class that the servant is generally obtained. The others are not to be depended upon. There are no white servants, and few white day laborers in the town. The most demoralizing feature of the situation is the system of payment in vogue, a system which pretty generally obtains throughout the south. During slavery the wage of a negro—of course payable to his master—was more than that of an unskilled white. The Freedmen's bureau made it a criminal offense not to allow the same rate for the freed negroes, but in spite of this fact wages steadily declined, for the reason that the negroes would not work as efficiently or as steadily as they did when they were forced to.

The Toting Habit.

Fanatical persons fostered in the minds of the negroes that it was no sin to steal from the whites. All property in the south, they were told, had been produced by the negroes' labor, and therefore a certain proportion of it belonged to the negroes. On account of the stealing, very low wages came to be paid for domestic service. A certain amount had to be deducted from the cash wages in order to offset what the servant appropriated. The rate of wages for men in the field remained about the same; but the pay of the women house servants fell rapidly, for the latter had better opportunities than the men to take things. * * * For many years negro cooks in the country and in the villages have been paid from $4 to $5 a month in cash, with the tacit understanding by both mistress and servant that the latter is going to supplement her wages by carrying off various articles of food and perhaps other small things that attract her fancy. There does not seem to be any tendency toward abolishing the "toting" privileges.

There is a sort of an organization among the negroes, enough at least to control the situation. A negro will not work for a white woman who has discharged a servant. A cook may leave of her own accord and pass the word among her friends, and the plate may then be filled, but, according to etiquette, the servant must quit of her own free will and march out with colors flying and all the honors of war. One colored woman, discharged for general worthlessness by a reckless housekeeper, reported that she was only taking a rest; and for six weeks the mistress of the house paid the penalty of her indiscretion by doing her own work. During the past few years the servants, feeling probably that the state of affairs is somewhat impossible, have been talking of an organized strike, or a general "quittin'" as they call it. At present the general state of the servant mind has resulted in a club or society, the members of which pay regular dues.

Abuses by Agencies.

The committee of the New York Association for Household Research reports that large numbers of these negro women are imported to the north by employment agencies. The women are charged exorbitant fees, ranging from $18.50 to $22.50 for transportation, which costs the agent only $7. The women are required to sign contracts agreeing to work from one to two months without pay, and their baggage, scant as it is, is withheld by the agents as a connecting link with the office. The committee reports that at a conference with the few agencies that are suffering because of unworthy competition "it was agreed that the two pressing needs to protect negro women are a lodging place conducted under good auspices to which unemployed women may be sent by the agencies, and an agent to meet southern steamers when they land at the docks, and to aid the friendless, penniless, slave-bound girls who come here. There is needed also a model employment agency to co-operate with those now existing in their effort to help enforce the law, and to raise the standards of the business. There is no adequate provision for the lodging of these women in any of the existing homes, no one meets the friendless girls in a helpful spirit, and a model agency is most necessary. The sum of money required is small in comparison to the greatness of the need."

The Parcels Post.

By the new parcels post arrangement with Great Britain the rate has been reduced from $1 60 a pound to 12 cents, but the domestic rate remains at 1 cent an ounce. To send a pound package through the mails to East St. Louis costs 4 cents more than to send the same package to London.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

CUBAN STATESMEN SEIZE CHARGES

Congressmen Forcibly Take Papers Containing Allegations Against High Officials.

CABINET TO FORCE ACTION

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

HAVANA, April 14.—Great excitement has been caused in political circles here over the forcible seizure this afternoon by six Nationalist congressmen of papers covering 50 allegations of improper acts by Havana councilmen and city officials. The incident is the outcome of strife between members of the Moderate party, of which President Palma and his cabinet ministers are members, and the Nationalists, who control the city and provincial government.

The allegations, which are mostly of a minor description, were made two years ago and sent by the government to Gen. Nunez, governor of Havana province, for investigation and decision. Gen. Nunez caused the allegations to be investigated to some extent from the records, but the investigation was not completed. The matter was presented to the new and avowedly Moderate cabinet, which decided to prosecute the inquiry to a conclusion and, if the facts seemed to warrant it, to depose the city officials responsible for misconduct. It is asserted that they had even selected successors for the officials to be removed. On Wednesday Gen. Andrade, secretary of the interior, directed Gov. Nunez to return his decisions by Saturday afternoon. When the clerk from the governor's office appeared at the city hall carrying the papers, he was attacked by six congressmen, among whom was the governor's brother, and overpowered, after which the documents were taken from him and secreted. The congressmen have made no statement except to assert that the documents are now in the custody of the house. Gov. Nunez has reported the seizure of the papers to Secretary Andrade and the court of first instance.

Secretary Andrade said today that Gov. Nunez had deliberately delayed rendering decisions on the allegations and that the government had determined to sift the matter. Gov. Nunez will be required, he said, to explain why the papers had been taken from the provincial to the city offices. Secretary Andrade added that he had ordered that decisions be made quickly because he believed that certain city officials contemplated resigning rather than undergo the government's investigation. Gov. Nunez stated that the investigation had been dropped only after consultation with President Palma and because the allegations were trivial, vague and did not specify anybody as being guilty of improper acts. He denied collusion with the congressmen.

OFFICERS OF SIX COUNTIES ROUNDING UP HORSE THIEVES

Large Posse in Wyoming on the Trail of Outlaws, Who Are Terrorizing Settlers.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MOORCROFT, WYO., April 14.—A mammoth roundup of horse thieves is in course of preparation here, and a dozen sheriffs and their deputies are in full pursuit of the notorious Limestone gang of outlaws, who have been operating in Northeastern Wyoming the past six months.

Sheriff John Owen, of Weston county, is the leader of the posse, which includes officials of Crook, Weston, Sheridan, Natrona and Converse counties. The operations of the Limestone gang have been very daring and a number of sensational robberies are laid at their door. Several ranchers have been shot while resisting the thieves, and two weeks ago the outlaws gave a sheriff's posse a chase of four days, the men making their escape into the Little Powder river hills.

The present chase is expected to lead into the Bad Lands, along the Little Powder, and a portion of the posse has been stationed in that vicinity to head off the robbers.

The Cuban department of finance has decided that when samples are exported from ports other than the ones through which they were imported the custom house of the first port shall issue a voucher to the commercial traveler in exchange for the certificate of deposit, which voucher he will have to present at the custom house of the port of clearance as well as a certified copy of the verbal declarations on which the import duties were based, in order to secure thereby the reimbursement of 75 per cent of said duties.

WEALTHY FLEE FROM RUSSIA

Fear Disturbances During Easter Holidays—Serious Indications of a Crisis.

WORKMEN RECEIVE PROMISES

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

WARSAW, RUSSIAN POLAND, April 14.—Disturbances here are feared during the Easter holidays. Many people are leaving Warsaw, and accommodation in the sleeping cars to Berlin and Vienna has been engaged several days ahead. Fresh strikes are reported at Lodz, Russian Poland, where the situation is causing much uneasiness. The trials of the persons arrested in connection with the January disturbances are now proceeding in the citadel behind closed doors and under martial law. It is understood that several of the prisoners have already received penal servitude sentences.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 14.—Developments all point to a crisis in the present agitation among the workmen of the cities and the peasants in the country on May day, and appeals are pouring in from all quarters of Russia for military protection. The St. Petersburg workmen are preparing a great demonstration. Arms and bombs in large quantities have been smuggled in, and bloodshed on a large scale is feared. Wealthy persons who ordinarily go to country places are going abroad.

Agitators in Prisons.

The prisons are overflowing with agitators. Workmen refuse to further contribute to support the families of soldiers at the front, saying they are opposed to the war.

From Duneburg, government of Vitebak, come reports that the Jews are in a state of panic over the circulation of proclamations similar to those which preceded the outbreaks at Kishineff and Gomel. At Ekaterinoslav three revolutionists who were surrounded by police fought their way to liberty, killing or wounding several of the latter. A dispatch from Kars says that the employes of the transcaucasian railroad are on strike and that 100 miles of the track has been damaged.

On account of the condition of his health and the fact that the evidence against Maxim Gorky is not stronger than that against hundreds of others who have not been arrested in connection with the disturbance at St. Petersburg, January 22, it is understood that the government has abandoned its intention of bringing him to trial.

Promises to Workmen.

In receiving a delegation of workmen from Moscow yesterday Finance Minister Kokovsoff gave notice to the workmen of Russia that a government commission is now formulating legislation to remedy the greater part of their grievances, including state insurance against sickness, accident and age, and for shortening the hours of labor, abolishing the prohibition of unions and criminal punishment for strikes, and for the establishment of an industrial court in which employers and employed shall be represented. The minister pointed out the impossibility of elaborating in a moment legislation of such weighty and far reaching character.

TIFLIS, April 14.—Strikers have cut the telegraph wires at the Elizabethpol station and a number of trains have been held up.

MAIN BODY OF RUSSIANS IS REPORTED AT KIRIN

Its Rear Guard of 12,000 Men Is Keeping Closely in Touch With the Vanguard of the Japanese.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, April 14.—It is reported that the main force of the Russians, which retired in the direction of Hsingking, has reached Kirin. The rear guard, which is estimated at 12,000 men, continues in the vicinity of Harlungcheng, closely in touch with the Japanese vanguard. The main force which retired from Kalyuan, over the Kirin road, is reported at Kirin with a rear guard of 8,000 men, at Itsuchov, Hakliutu and at Sulipao, keeping in touch with the Japanese forces.

Changchen is evidently the rallying point for the Changtu and Fakumen forces. Although a force, estimated at 13,000 has been detailed to occupy Fenchua, and 3,000 to hold Pamienchens, the latter force seems assigned to check and retard the Japanese advance.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 14.—Russian troops have successfully raided the railroad in the direction of Kaiyuan, about 20 miles north of Tie pass.

RUSSIAN WORKMEN WIN.

Minister Hilkoff Grants Demands of Railroad Employes Before Leaving for Siberia.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 15.—Before leaving St. Petersburg for Siberia to superintend the improvement of the trans-Siberian railway and to inaugurate a river transportation service in Siberia, Minister of Railways Hilkoff issued a circular to railroad employes announcing that he had ordered the speedy preparation of legislation covering many points for the improvement of conditions of service and the rights of employes, in accordance with a petition by workmen, as well as a disciplinary statute.

He promised to consider an increase of wages in some cases and the abolition of a large amount of correspondence and red tape in railway management, but he reminded the employes that many of their demands cover unsatisfactory conditions necessarily connected with the existing state of war.

LEFT A BEQUEST FOR PUBLIC MONUMENTS

CHICAGO, April 14.—Benjamin Ferguson, a lately deceased lumber merchant of Chicago, has bequeathed to the Art Institute of Chicago the income from an estate valued at $1,000,000. The fund is to be used for the erection and maintenance of statuary and monuments in the parks, along the boulevards and in other public places in Chicago, "commemorating worthy men or women of America or important events of American history."

EMPLOYERS PATCH UP TRUCE WITH CARPENTERS

NEW YORK, April 14.—After a meeting of the board of governors of the Building Trades Employers' association here today it was announced that the lockout of building trades in this city will be withdrawn and a truce declared between the Brotherhood of Carpenters and the unions organized by the employers' association. This will dissipate the possibility of a national strike of carpenters.

SUSAN B. ANTHONY DEFENDS DIVORCE

Her Protest Against Resolution Availed Nothing Before National Council.

NO ACTION ON RACE SUICIDE

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Over the bitter protest of Miss Susan B. Anthony, the National Council of Women today adopted a resolution pledging the organization to co-operate with church and state to ascertain what are the chief causes which induce or lead up to divorces. Divorce, the resolution recites, is known to cause most disastrous results in the family and state.

"I do not consider divorce an evil by any means," asserted Miss Anthony, who was on her feet before the reading of the resolution had been concluded. "It is just as much a refuge for women married to brutal men, as Canada was once a refuge from brutal masters. I will never vote for a resolution that will cut women off from refuge from designing and brutal men."

The council adopted formally the anti-polygamy resolution favorably reported from committee yesterday; also a resolution deploring the horrors of war in general and particularly the present war in the far east. The council pledged itself through resolution to establish and maintain kindergartens and day nurseries for the poorer classes of colored children.

Resolutions were adopted opposing the indiscriminate use of the American flag and advocating on all possible occasions the adoption of the initiative and referendum as the most effective means for securing equal rights for women, a preamble to this resolution declaring that through the adoption of legislation of this character will the equal rights for women be soonest attained.

Mrs. May Wright Sewall of the committee on peace demonstration, said that during the coming triennial, literature on the question of peace and arbitration would be prepared and printed in several languages and so distributed that every community may have access to a good and inexpensive reference library on the subject.

Contrary to expectation the committee on resolutions did not give any utterance on the question of race suicide. There had been considerable discussion of this matter, in view of President Roosevelt's frequent reference to the subject, and many of the delegates to the council had taken issue with the president. The discussion, however, failed to crystallize into any formal resolution, and the matter was dropped.

A luncheon in honor of the officers of the council was given this afternoon at which remarks were made by a number of the prominent workers in the council. A final meeting tonight also was addressed by a half dozen of the delegates, after which the council adjourned to meet in Washington three years hence.

PROPERTY MAY BE RESTORED.

Free Church Unable to Utilize Only Portion of Manses and Money Gained by Decision.

LONDON, April 14.—The report of the royal commissioner appointed to inquire into the Scottish churches' dispute recommends that the Free church should hand over to the United Free church all the property it cannot itself adequately administer. As it is admitted that the former can only utilize a small proportion of the church's manses and money handed over by the recent decision of the courts the recommendation, if accepted by the government, will mean the restoration of a large part of the property to the United Free church.

Legislation will be necessary to give effect to the recommendation, but little if any opposition is expected to it.

CANNOT HAVE FIANCEE.

Turkish Government Refuses to Permit a Young Woman to Come to America to Wed.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Some time ago a Turk, who had become a naturalized American citizen, appealed to the state department to secure permission from the Turkish government for his fiancee to leave Turkey and come to America to be married to him.

The Turkish government is always reluctant to allow Turks to quit the country and it has therefore replied that while it will permit Turks, who are naturalized citizens, or the minor children of such, to leave Turkey it cannot permit the emigration of the fiancee, who is a Turkish subject.

JUMPS INTO RIVER.

Homestead Girl Tired of Life Because Beau Is Denied Her.

Gertrude Brady, aged 15, of Homestead, jumped into the Monongahela river at the foot of Amity street last night.

Two men, standing on a bridge at that point saw the girl struggling in the water, and running to the river's edge, succeeded in dragging her out. She was taken to the Homestead police station, where she was given medical attention and revived, and was later taken to her home. Her parents state that their objections to the attention shown their daughter by a young man, led the girl to the act.

South Side Pupils Plant Trees.

School children of the South Side yesterday celebrated "Arbor Day" at Recreation park, South Ninth and Carson streets, there being fully 500 pupils present. Twelve trees were planted. Dr. R. H. The trees were planted on the Carson street side of the park.

ROBBED INDIANS FOR MANY YEARS

A Pathetic Appeal Is Made to Government by Red Men of Nebraska.

LOSE LAND TO SPECULATORS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 16, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.

Vigorous complaint has come from the Winnebago Indians of Nebraska to the secretary of the interior and commissioner of Indian affairs, of the manner in which they have been robbed of their lands for the past 25 years. The complaint, which is in writing, and submitted by Philip Long, a Winnebago, states that members of the tribe have no way of defending themselves and address the secretary in the hope that he may "take pity on them in their misery and affliction."

The report states that many powerful speculators, in open collusion with the government agents and officers, have robbed and ruined the tribe for a quarter of a century, and although an inspector has occasionally been sent to their aid nothing has ever been done for their relief. They object to being called lazy and shiftless, and say they are simply discouraged and heartbroken. They say that whisky, which has made brutes of them, has been supplied by speculators who have been protected by the government agents, and declare that their lands, which have apparently been sold by them, have been taken from them by fraud.

They assert that they have been forced to sign many papers they knew nothing about, and the checks which they have received have been taken from them. The climax came when their agent himself handed the government checks to speculators direct, without the knowledge and consent of the Indians.

GAS COST GROWS LESS.

So Vice President of the New Amsterdam Company Testifies Before New York Commission.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Before the legislative gas investigating committee today, Vice President and General Manager Doane, of the New Amsterdam Gas Light Company, testified that deducting interest on the bonded debt and a reserve amount of $151,739 20 held for depreciation, the actual cost of gas production is 48 cents a thousand feet. This estimate is based on the full payment for labor, materials, buildings, legal expenses, bad and doubtful debts and taxes.

He also said the cost of production had been growing gradually less during the past few years. A few years ago, he declared, the cost of production and distribution was 52 cents.

PICTURES BY AMERICANS.

Sargent and Others Have Exhibits at National Fine Arts Exhibits, French Capital.

PARIS, April 14.—The national fine arts salon was opened at the Grand Palace today. The average of the works shown this year does not reach the usual standard, but a marked advance is made in the American section. John Singer Sargent, Alfred Maurer, Gari Melchers and Eugene Ullman show excellent portraits and there are good landscapes by Childe Hassam and Alexander Harrison.

Other Americans exhibiting are Charles Bittenger of Washington, Julius Stewart and Albert Herter of New York, Albert Worcester of Detroit, Alston Clark of Chicago, Frieseke MacLaughlin, Elizabeth Nourse and Frances Thomasson.

IS OLD IN INIQUITY.

Boston Lawyer, Aged 70 Years, Is Sent to Prison After a Long Series of Embezzlements.

BOSTON, April 14.—Charles M. Reed, a veteran lawyer who pleaded guilty to the embezzlement of $7,800 from the Samuel Cushing estate, of which he was trustee, was sentenced today to state prison for a term of not more than eight nor less than six years.

The prisoner, who is 70 years old, and for 35 years a prominent member of the Massachusetts bar, has, according to Assistant District Attorney Sughrues' statement in court, embezzled over $90,000 from estates in his charge during the past 25 years.

TURBINE SHIPS BREAKS ALLAN LINE RECORD

HALIFAX, N. S., April 14.—(Special.)—The new Allan line turbine steamship Virginian arrived today from Moville, breaking the Allan line record from Moville to Halifax, her time being 6 days, 14 hours and 34 minutes. The turbines were perfectly satisfactory, never once stopping on the voyage. Her net average speed was 15.1 knots an hour. What prevented greater speed was lack of steam pressure, due to the priming of the boilers.

LARGEST BEQUEST EVER RECEIVED FROM NEGRO

MORE INDICTMENTS EXPECTED AT CHICAGO

Important Evidence Is Secured in the Beef Trust Investigation.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, April 14.—More indictments, it is rumored tonight, may be voted tomorrow by the Federal grand jury which is investigating the business transactions of meat packers. Early today it was officially announced the jury would adjourn tonight until next Wednesday. Later, however, the sudden appearance of a person who conferred with District Attorney Morrison, resulted in changing the plans and the jurors were instructed to meet tomorrow.

Sometime ago a subpoena was sent out and the deputy marshal who handled the paper was told not to return until the subpoena had been served. The officer returned late today with the subject of the subpoena. When the jury convenes tomorrow this new witness will testify.

Edwin B. Fish, on whose testimony, it is said, indictments were returned yesterday against four employes of Schwarzchild & Sulzberger, it was said tonight, returned to Chicago in possession of evidence censuring seven men employed by other packers, with whom he had associated while in Canada. Fish who was in custody until today, refused to discuss the subject, and any attempt to communicate with him was frustrated by secret service men.

BALTIMORE, April 14.—Retail meat dealers in this city have advanced the price of beef on most cuts about two cents a pound, due to the continued advance in the wholesale price. While the increase has been about two cents, some of the choicest cuts of steak have advanced even more and on the best grades the outside figures show a jump of from three to five cents a pound.

PROOF CLUB WILL DINE.

Organization of Advertising Managers, Writers, Agents and Solicitors.

GOVERNOR SIGNS FOURTEEN BILLS

Measure Fixing Salaries for the County Commissioners Becomes Law.

FIVE ACTS ARE DISAPPROVED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
HARRISBURG, PA., April 14.

The Kennedy bill, fixing the salaries of county commissioners in counties of less than 150,000 inhabitants, and 14 other bills were signed today by Gov. Pennypacker.

The governor also vetoed five bills, the one of most importance being that validating acts done by corporations before the recording of their charters. His objection to this measure is that it belongs to a class of legislation which is not to be commended. He says that if the requirements of acts of assembly may be violated or neglected by corporations and nevertheless their proceedings be made valid by subsequent general acts it, at least, encourages carelessness and inattention.

Another bill vetoed was that to provide for the appointment of stenographers by coroners of counties having not less than 100,000 nor more than 125,000 population. Sections four of the bill directed that the "stenographer shall be paid a compensation at the rate of six per day, seven hours to constitute a day." "Whether the compensation per day," says the governor, "is to be six dimes, six dollars or six eagles, the bill does not determine. Why seven hours should constitute a day is not apparent."

The Kennedy bill fixes the salaries of county commissioners as follows: Counties containing 10,000 population or less, $300; 10,000 and less than 30,000, $500; 30,000 and less than 38,000, $700; 38,000 and less than 50,000 $1,000; 50,000 and less than 75,000, $1,300; 75,000 and less than 115,000, $1,600; 115,000 and less than 150,000, $1,800. No change is made in the present salaries of commissioners in counties having over 150,000 population.

The governor also signed the March bill authorizing the county engineer in counties having a population of over 500,000 and less than 800,000 to appoint a deputy at a salary of $2,500 annually. This act applies only to Allegheny county.

Other Bills Signed.

Other bills approved were the following:

Providing for the running and relocating of county lines; authorizing payment of costs by the county in cases of non-suit in criminal proceedings where the verdict of the jury is set aside; relating to churches chartered under the act of 1855; empowering the commissioner of forestry to give the privilege to municipalities to impound water on forestry reservations; extending the act creating a brokers' tax to all brokers, whether persons, firms or corporations; providing for the probate of a will of a person whose death by presumption has been established; extending the borough consolidation act of 1895 to boroughs lying in more than one county; supplementing the penal laws relating to receiving stolen property and larceny; making it unlawful to trespass upon land posted as private property; imposing a penalty of $500 for failure of corporations, joint stock associations, limited partnerships or companies to report to the auditor general for any three tax years; regulating the method and procedure in the erection of line or partition fence; permitting replevined property to be impounded in certain cases and regulating the practice in such cases; providing that if the petition for street improvements in boroughs has been verified by the affidavit of one or more of the petitioners notice may be given of the passage of the ordinance requiring the improvement and allowing an appeal to the common pleas court and if the appeal is dismissed or no appeal is taken then all the parties shall be estopped from denying that the petition was signed by the requisite number of owners representing the requisite number of feet fronting on the street to be improved.

Reasons for Vetoes.

The following bills were vetoed:

Authorizing the governor to issue a commission as captain to A. O. Tinsman for military services alleged to have been rendered 42 years ago. The governor says that a commission issued now would be an incongruity and possess little or no value for the officer who should hold it.

Providing for the reconstruction and maintenance of public highways or parts of public highways by the state highway department that pass through or touch upon lands owned by this state and making an appropriation of $25,000 therefor. If this bill should become a law the state would pay twice for the same thing.

Amending Section 46 of the act of June 13, 1836, relating to roads, highways and bridges. This bill is not approved for the reason that the subject of the bill is not expressed in its title.

Outside of a score of measures there is little legislation of a general character among the 493 bills which the governor must dispose of by May 18. He has already signed 124 bills and vetoed 5, making a total of 651 passed by the legislature.

More than half the bills in his hands are appropriation measures, and it is thought he will follow the custom of disposing of all of these at one time. The appropriations made by this legislature will reach almost $39,000,000 and he will necessarily have to do considerable cutting to keep them within the estimated state revenues of $26,000,000.

The governor will consult with Senator Penrose and Insurance Commissioner Durham on all legislation in which the Republican state organization may be interested before acting upon it. Penrose and Durham will confer by Harrisburg one week from next Monday to attend the state convention the following Wednesday, and during their stay here they will talk over legislation with the executive.

Suicide Begs This Disposal to Be Made of His Body If Medical Colleges Do Not Want It.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 14.—(Special.)—"To whom it may concern: I give my body to the New York Post Graduate hospital. If they don't want it give it to whoever does. Feed it to the pigs, if you will, but no burial."

The above will was written with a lead pencil on the reverse side of an envelope which was addressed Peter Daly, No. 155 Mulberry street, Newark, N. J., and which was found on the body of a man who committed suicide yesterday in the lavatory of a hotel at No. 13 Exchange Place, Jersey City. He had fired a 32-caliber bullet into his right temple.

TO IMPROVE OLD SITE AT COST OF $500,000

Trustees of Western Theological Seminary Approve Plans to Build on Present Location.

At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Western Theological seminary yesterday afternoon in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church, plans were approved to improve and revise the present buildings and erect new ones on the site now occupied by the seminary in Ridge avenue, Allegheny. In accord with an emphatic announcement made last summer, when the site offered by Samuel Harbison in Brighton road was disapproved, no other site but the one now occupied was considered.

The new plans provide for one large building, including a chapel, library and dormitories, to be erected on the present site of the main building, and the three houses adjoining, which are now occupied by professors. The other buildings now in use are to be completely remodeled and the full improvements will be made at a cost estimated at $500,000. The whole scheme for improvement will be publicly announced at the banquet to be held on the evening of May 2 in honor of the installation of the Rev. Dr. David Gregg as president of the institution on that date.

The program for the installation services was finally arranged at yesterday's meeting. S. F. Harbison presided at the meeting and the Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Fisher was secretary. Others present were: Oliver McClintock, Dr. Thomas Davis, David McKinney Lloyd, George B. Logan, J. McCarpenter, John S. Slagle and John Buchanan of Beaver.

The Rev. Dr. Gregg's mother, who was born under the reign of George the Third, is expected to be present at the inauguration of her son. Dr. Gregg is to preach Sunday morning in the Homestead Presbyterian church, and at night before the Men's club of the Second Presbyterian church of Braddock.

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church met in the chapel of the church yesterday afternoon and the final arrangements were made for the dedication of the church tomorrow morning.

Handsome Kentucky Woman Wins Her Suit Against Family Doctor of Osculating Proclivities.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., April 14.—Mrs. Bertha Mitts, a handsome woman of Williamstown, Ky., was given judgment for $100 damages in the Covington federal court today for a kiss stolen from her by Dr. J. B. Mrs. Mitts said the incident occurred while the doctor was visiting old friends in the Blue Grass state. She told the court she was confined to her room for weeks, because of the nervous shock that followed the doctor's advances.

ACRIMONIOUS TILT IN BELASCO SUIT

It Arose Over Charge That Theatrical Syndicate's Books Have Been Doctored.

THE RECORDS MUST BE SHOWN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 14.—In the suit of David Belasco, the playwright, against Klaw & Erlanger, the only record which had made its appearance in the case up to this time was a contract between Klaw & Erlanger and several others concerning the control of many theaters throughout the United States. Today, however, Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Belasco, asked that the defendants produce their books to show exactly what dealings the copartnership had had with Belasco and others.

"If the court will permit me," said Lawyer Untermyer, "I will show that Klaw & Erlanger have the most remarkable set of books which ever has been produced here." He claimed that changes have been made in the books since the Belasco litigation began.

This request met with the strongest opposition from the defendants, and the session resolved itself practically into a legal battle between Mr. Untermyer and Abraham Gruber, Klaw & Erlanger's counsel. At times the exchanges between the attorneys became so sharp the court was compelled to rap repeatedly for order.

The trouble began during the examination of Myer W. Livingston, auditor for Klaw & Erlanger. He had produced copies of statements covering certain dealings between his firm and Belasco. In the cross-examination Mr. Untermyer drew an admission from the witness that some of the copies were not complete, and he then asked leave to examine the books from which the copies were made. He said he wanted to show that Klaw & Erlanger were paid about $13,000 by Belasco from the profits of the Warfield venture during the months of March, April and May, 1902. He said he could show by the books that the money was paid direct to Klaw & Erlanger, and not to Brooks.

The statements were ruled out by the court upon Mr. Untermyer's objection, and counsel for the plaintiff was given permission to look at certain items in the books.

MAYOR DUNNE LEARNS HE IS KEEPING HOTEL

Chicago's Laws So Designate Houses Harboring Over 20 Persons.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, April 14.—Mayor Dunne made the discovery today that under the new city fire regulations he is alleged a hotelkeeper and lives in a hotel.

"What in the world am I going to find out next?" asked the mayor when he learned that he own fire department had found him an offender, inasmuch as he maintains a home in which more than 20 persons live. This, says the law passed last month, constitutes a hotel. Consequently the mayor is wondering whether he shall put in front of his big, green, three-story residence in Sheridan park, a sign reading:

"Mayor Dunne's Municipal Ownership Hotel."

The discovery came about when Fire Inspector Johnson reported that 30 or more downtown hotels, business houses, office buildings and lodging houses were violating the law. When the report was laid on the mayor's desk the executive fingers began playing a tattoo on the executive desk, and in blocks of five the mayor counted up to 20 and added three.

"That's right," he murmured, "twenty-three. Ten little Dunnes, me and Mrs. Dunne, that's 12, the grandpas and grandmoms, the uncles and the aunts, and five servants—Great Scot, what is it coming to? I guess I am keeping a hotel all right, but I must have time to consider what is best to do. I must consult my friends."

Markers for Soldiers' Graves.

The county commissioners have awarded contracts for 5,000 markers for the graves of deceased soldiers to W. D. Jones & Co. The markers will cost $2,000, and will be ready for distribution by May 15, giving plenty of time for marking all unmarked soldiers' graves before Memorial day. The markers are of bronze, spear shaped at one end, and having a five-pointed star at the other. In the points of the star the service to which the soldier belonged will be designated. Upon application these markers will be shipped by the commissioners to any old soldier known to them, with the number of markers desired.

The fact that your business has gray hair is no argument against advertising.

There are many manufacturers who seem to feel that because their business has been established for many years, and bears a high reputation, it needs no advertising.

Gray hairs are honorable and a good name is a precious thing. Nevertheless, in these hustling and irreverent days, energetic young men, who have been taught the power of advertising, have a way of taking the business from the non-advertisers, no matter how old or respected they may be.

The only safe way is to advertise, whether your business be old or young. There is nothing undignified about advertising. On the contrary, it is a legitimate and necessary method of diffusing the news about your goods.

To reach serious-minded, well-to-do people, use The Saturday Evening Post. It is a magazine of high grade. An entertaining illustrated weekly, which goes regularly into 800,000 homes and is read by 4,000,000 people. BREAK HOLD-UP OF EXPLOSIVES BILL

Ordinance Is Approved by the Committee, Although Druggists Try to Stop It.

ARTESIAN WELLS INDORSED

The explosive ordinance was approved yesterday afternoon by the public safety committee of councils and a vote taken to recommend it affirmatively to councils. A large number of business men interested in the bill were present at the meeting, but no protests were made before the committee. The Retail Druggists' association had sent to councilmen letters asking them to use their efforts to have the retail druggists exempted from the provisions of the ordinance.

The request was regarded as singular, in view of the fact that the letter also stated that the articles, included in the list of explosives in the ordinance, are not carried in stock to any extent by the retail druggist and not handled at all by some of them.

"If these protesting druggists do not keep explosives, as they say, why need they care what the ordinance contains?" was the way that Director Moore sized up the objections of the druggists.

The sub-committee which had the ordinance in its keeping made no further effort to retain it, but through its chairman, E. A. Sweeney, reported the bill to the general committee without recommendations.

Councilman McNally, who is a druggist, endeavored in various quarters to have the bill killed, but the mayor has interested himself in its passage and this, with additional help from Directors Bigelow and Moore, carried it through. It is stated that the druggists will make a fight when the ordinance is reported in councils.

Resolutions authorizing the payment to W. H. Leonard of $696.75 for repairing apparatus in the bureau of fire was approved, although the Wallace act of assembly provides that all city work for $250 and over shall be let by contract. A resolution was approved for the payment of $52.50 to A. Relling for extra work on the stone wall around the municipal hospital.

The committee on parks, which hardly meets once in a year, also held a session and approved bills authorizing contracts for the purchase of $11,000 worth of trees and $2,500 worth of shrubs and plants for the parks.

A large number of street and sewer improvement bills were approved by the committee on public works, including ordinances for two new gas engines and a water pump at the city hall and for digging artesian wells, $10,000 being authorized for the artesian wells. The latter is Councilman Ppenigle's scheme to have artesian wells in front of all the school houses, in the parks and other public places. The ordinance for a 15-inch pipe sewer in Arlington avenue was disapproved at the request of Director Bigelow.

All the measures before it were approved by the committee on surveys, except the ordinance establishing the grade of Merrimac street, from Grandview avenue to Virginia avenue.

POLICE AND FIRE ALARM WIRES TO BE BURIED

Mayor and Directors Decide to Let Contract—Penn Avenue Line First.

A conference in the mayor's office yesterday afternoon was attended by Mayor Hays, Directors Bigelow and Moore and Superintendent J. A. Herron, to discuss laying underground the city's police and fire alarm wires, for which councils this year appropriated $10,000. This sum is sufficient, so Director Moore said, to lay underground only about a mile of the city's wires.

Director Moore asked for $36,000 for the purpose when the appriations for the year were made up. The conference was to determine whether the city should do the work itself, or whether it should be done by contract, and the latter method was decided upon. It was also to decide whether the money should be spent to bury the line out Penn avenue or Fifth avenue, which are the two main lines of city wires to the East End.

Mayor Hays said the wires out Penn avenue were buried as far as Sixteenth street and that the line out Fifth avenue was in a very bad condition. Director Moore stated that the contract would be let for Penn avenue, leaving the Fifth avenue line to be provided for later. It is probable that a transfer from some other fund will be made to secure additional money.

The removal of the city wires from poles has been keeping pace with the progress of the telegraph and telephone companies. An ordinance was passed by councils giving them eight years in which to have all their lines buried, and this time limit expired several years ago. Since then the telephone companies have put up many new poles and strung many new lines throughout the city, particularly in the East End section, but Director Bigelow declares that all poles and wires will have to come down.

TO ENFORCE TENEMENT LAWS.

Wealthy Individuals Charged With Being the Principal Violators in the Unsanitary Hill Districts.

Drastic measures will be taken against property owners in the Hill district, whose buildings have been placed under the ban by the tenement house inspectors. Twenty persons have received "first notices," and unless they improve the sanitary conditions within 10 days, suits will be entered against them for violating the laws regulating tenement houses.

"The greater number of these places where the worst conditions exist are owned by large estates or wealthy individuals," said Mrs. I. M. Harper, tenement house inspector. "There is a place in Wylie avenue owned by a wealthy woman living in the East End which is one of the vilest I have ever seen. It is tenanted by a negro family and the house is almost falling down. To make repairs now seems to me almost impossible, and the best thing that can be done is to raze the building. I have sent this woman a notice to come to see me, and if she does not come forthwith she will be sued without any further delay. Such a place cannot be tolerated."

BOY CANNOT TELL HOW HE REACHED HOMESTEAD

Frank Blum, a pretty 10-year-old boy, dressed in a neat black suit and bearing every indication of refinement and careful training, was found wandering about the streets of Homestead yesterday afternoon. He says his home is at Pottstown, Pa. He told the officers he did not know he was in Homestead and could not tell how he reached there. The boy's mind is apparently a blank on what has taken place during the past day or two. He talked intelligently about himself, his home and his surroundings in Pottstown, giving his address as 221 High street, that city. The boy will be held until the authorities at Pottstown can be communicated with.

Boy Falls and Fractures Skull.

William Grosbaum, aged 15, of Arlington, is at St. Joseph's hospital with a fractured skull and his recovery is doubtful. The boy, with a number of companions, was playing yesterday afternoon on some freight cars on the Monongahela Connecting railroad, when he fell from one of them, alighting at the side of the car on his head. He was picked up unconscious. The accident occurred in the railroad yards at the foot of South Twenty-ninth street.

A high rate of interest is of no consequence whatever if the principal is endangered. That is one reason why a savings account in the Peoples Savings Bank, Fourth Avenue and Wood Street, is the best investment for idle funds. It offers absolute safety. Four per cent compound interest paid.

MOORE ASKS FOR AN INVESTIGATION

Requests Mayor Hays and Councils to Change Garbage Contract.

SENDS IN HIS ANNUAL REPORT

The appointment of a special committee by the city councils at once to act in conjunction with the mayor, to investigate the garbage question and devise some other method of collecting and disposing of garbage by the city, is strongly recommended by Director Moore and is the leading feature of his annual report to Mayor Hays, received by the mayor yesterday morning.

The collection and disposal of garbage is now done by contract which is let every year, instead of every four years, as was the custom previous to the new city charter. The legal authorities of the city gave an opinion that the new charter tended to limit all contracts by the city to one year, except in a few special cases, as in light and water contracts. The effect of limiting the garbage contract to one year has been to shut out all competition, as the American Reduction Company, of which Charles E. Flinn is the manager, is the only company of the kind in the city.

The prospect of getting a contract for only one year, with the possibility of losing it the next year, is not sufficiently alluring to induce another company to organize and invest a large sum of money to compete.

Other Companies Want to Bid.

Director Moore states that companies from other cities, including Cleveland and St. Louis, have declared that they would compete for the Pittsburgh garbage contract and build a reduction plant in Pittsburgh if the city would make the contract for a longer term, instead of one year only. Local parties with capital have also signified an intention of organizing a reduction company if the city will make the contract for a longer term.

Director Moore urges that the mayor and the committee of councils take up the matter and ascertain if some way cannot be found by which the contract can be made for four years at least without violating the charter. The charter is not perfectly clear on the question. The point upon which the contract was reduced from four to one year was that the charter provides that contracts cannot be extended beyond the appropriations and the appropriations of the city are made annually.

The legal phase of the matter was also debated in the Allegheny councils. Allegheny is operating under the same municipal charter as Pittsburgh, and while Pittsburgh is now letting its garbage contract for one year, Allegheny is letting it for two years.

City May Collect Garbage.

One of the suggestions made to Director Moore, and which he mentions in his report, is that the city shall collect the garbage with its own employes and vehicles and the garbage shall be sold to a reduction company or some other concern that may have use for it. From the garbage is obtained a number of bi-products and the balance of the stuff is converted into fertilizer.

Director Moore, however, does not approve the scheme of the city collecting the garbage. He is of the opinion that a private company can do this work more efficiently and economically than can the city. He believes that if the city councils and the mayor take the matter up they will find a more satisfactory solution of the problem.

Director Moore says the city is paying this year $163,000 for the collection and disposal of its garbage. Last year it cost the city $158,000 and the year before $153,000. The cost is increasing at the rate of $5,000 a year. Only a few years ago the cost was $90,000. The director believes that with a longer term contract the city will be able to reduce this expense. The prospect of the Greater Pittsburgh in the near future, he says, makes the solution of the question more imperative. The mayor is asked to send a communication to councils asking that a special committee to make an investigation be appointed immediately.

DR. REES IS DOUBTFUL.

Divine Is Not Altogether in Sympathy With the Blue Law Crusaders.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. W. Rees, pastor of the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal church, who was elected president of the Allegheny County Sabbath association at the annual meeting held last Monday, returned from Iowa yesterday and declared it was doubtful whether he would accept the presidency of the association. The Rev. Dr. H. S. Hunter had previously declined to serve as president another year, while the Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton had also rejected the position.

Dr. Rees declared himself as being opposed to a crusade against sellers of ice and milk and similar commodities on Sunday, and announced he believed the visits of the masses to the parks on Sunday afforded them profitable recreation. Dr. Rees thinks Pittsburgh is a well regulated city on Sunday in comparison with other cities, but believes there is still room for much improvement.

OBTAIN THE MONEY.

Columbia Savings and Trust Secures Settlement for Checks of Two Insurance Men.

Full settlement of the claims of the Columbia Savings and Trust Company against John Rhinestrom and Edwin P. Schmidt, insurance men, was obtained in Philadelphia Thursday, it is claimed. There is considerable discrepancy in the statements of the amount, as low as $142 and as high as $900 being named.

The collection was made by J. M. Votaw, assistant treasurer of the bank, who had the assistance of Detective Roger O'Mara. O'Mara was summoned from New York to assist in the case. It is stated the men had deposited two drafts in the bank and had checked money out against them. Treasurer Rolfe of the bank says it was simply a case of overdraft for $142, and that the matter had given the bank no concern.

FALLS UNDER CAR.

Jacks Are Secured to Raise Car from Off Child and She Comes Out Uninjured.

While playing "catch" with a number of companions, on her way home from school yesterday afternoon, Lillian King, aged 8, of John street, Braddock, was "tagged" by one of her companions and accidentally pushed under a street car. Motorman Thomas Hill applied the emergency brake, but the car struck the girl and dragged her for some distance. Jacks were secured and the car raised, and much to the surprise of several hundred people who gathered about the car, the girl was found to be but slightly injured. She was taken to the office of Dr. T. S. Hicks, where a few slight scratches on her face were dressed, after which she went to her home.

CLAIRTON TRACTION LINE IS NOW IN OPERATION

The new street car line in Clairton was put into service yesterday. The line is an independent venture and is owned by the Clairton Street Railway Company. It runs the distance of one mile from the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad station up St. Clair avenue through the heart of the busy steel town.

Druggists Seek Exoneration.

The Western Pennsylvania Retail Druggists' association has written Director Harry Moore asking that they be exonerated from the provisions of the ordinance creating a municipal explosives board. The director refused to make any comment on the letter, but his manner indicated that he considered the request unreasonable.

DEMOCRATS WANT A LITTLE MORE

Desire Majority of County Offices, Before Agreeing on Fusion With the Citizens.

CLARK'S PATRIOTIC WISHES

Having concluded that political "harmony" from their standpoint was impossible, the other leaders of the Citizens party besides Mayor Hays are now confessing that they desire fusion with the Democrats in the next fight for the county offices. The harmony they wanted with the Republicans was of a peculiar kind. They thought the Republican city and county chairmen ought to resign, to be replaced with members of the Citizens party, and when they were invited to enter the Republican primaries they declined to do so, realizing that their 6,000 votes, all they polled in the last municipal fight, would cut but a sorry figure alongside the 22,000 Republican votes from Pittsburgh in a primary contest.

Mayor Hays said yesterday there would be fusion between the Democrats and Citizens, confessing that more objections to fusion came from the Democratic side than from the Citizens. The mayor is right about objections that come from the Democrats. In the county contest three years ago they got only two Democratic county officers. This time the rank and file and some of the leaders think they ought to have at least half of the county offices, and perhaps more, as they expect to furnish more than two-thirds of the votes for the fusion ticket.

Demands of the Democrats.

Some Democrats are even saying that the only Citizens candidates to be renominated should be County Recorder O'Neill and County Controller Cunningham, and that the Democrats ought to have all the other offices, the two county commissionerships, the registership and the treasurership.

Of course, the Democrats who talk that way realize they will have to put up a hard fight to prevent certain Democratic leaders from again effecting fusion on the basis of only a small proportion of the county nominations, and they will do their best to secure the majority of the county offices. Some Democrats are even saying that G. H. Stengel, the county register, should be renominated, because, although he has refused to obey the orders of the Citizens leaders, he is a Democrat, and has made a good register. Stengel himself does not care about being a candidate for re-election, but many of his friends are not so backward about declaring he ought to have a renomination, because he is a Democrat and has made a good record.

County Recorder O'Neill will manage the Citizens end of the fusion fight. He is the acting county chairman and will be elected to the office before the campaign begins. Mr. O'Neil thinks the county chairman ought to manage the fight in the whole county, and Mayor Hays agrees with him so far that he is willing, although the Citizens city chairman, not to manage the fight in Pittsburgh.

Republican Primaries Tonight.

The Republican primaries will be held this evening between 5 and 7 o'clock. Delegates are to be elected to legislative conventions which will elect delegates to the Republican state convention. The district conventions will be held next Tuesday and the state convention will come off on April 26.

Representative John P. Moore is a candidate for tax revision commissioner, under the new law changing the method of tax revision and assessment. Mr. Moore's friends fear he is not eligible, as the law says that no member of the legislature shall be eligible, during his term of office, to an office created by the legislature of which he is a member.

Democrats have about concluded that County Commissioner James A. Clark cannot be beaten for the Democratic nomination for county commissioner. It is well known that Mr. Clark takes a deep interest in the proposed $1,000,000 soldiers' memorial and the proposed $2,000,000 court house improvements, and that he would like to remain in office to insure an honest, efficient and economical expenditure of the money. Mr. Clark has strong ideas on the duties of men who have supervision over the expenditure of the taxpayers' funds, and he believes that in erecting public buildings contractors and architects should be held to a strict accountability, so that as much money as possible can be saved for the public.

THE WINNING STROKE

If more than ordinary skill in playing brings the honors of the game to the winning player, so exceptional merit in a remedy ensures the commendation of the well informed, and as a reasonable amount of outdoor life and recreation is conducive to the health and strength, so does a perfect laxative tend to one's improvement in cases of constipation, biliousness, headaches, etc. It is all important, however, in selecting a laxative, to choose one of known quality and excellence, like the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., a laxative which sweetens and cleanses the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after effects, as it acts naturally and gently on the internal organs, simply assisting nature when nature needs assistance, without griping, irritating or debilitating the internal organs in any way, as it contains nothing of an objectionable or injurious nature. As the plants which are combined with the figs in the manufacture of Syrup of Figs are known to physicians to act most beneficially upon the system, the remedy has met with their general approval as a family laxative, a fact well worth considering in making purchases.

It is because of the fact that SYRUP OF FIGS is a remedy of known quality and excellence, and approved by physicians that has led to its use by so many millions of well informed people, who would not use any remedy of uncertain quality or inferior reputation. Every family should have a bottle of the genuine on hand at all times, to use when a laxative remedy is required. Please to remember that the genuine Syrup of Figs is for sale in bottles of one size only, by all reputable druggists, and that full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co., is plainly printed on the front of every package. Regular price, 50c per bottle.

AGENT FOR A BREWERY IS KILLED BY ITALIAN

Furnishes Beer for Celebration and Is Killed Trying to Stop a Fight.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., April 14.—While acting as peacemaker in a brawl following a wedding celebration among Italians at Meadow Lands late last night, Garrison Lee Haught, aged 35 years, was shot and died two hours later. Five Italians, including one woman, are in the county jail, one charged with murder and the others held as witnesses.

The shooting occurred at the home of Umberto Darold, who had just returned from Italy with his bride. Haught, who was agent for a local brewery, supplied the beer for the celebration and accepted an invitation to attend. Shortly after midnight Giovanni Gigliotte and Andrello Anrico became involved in a quarrel.

Haught attempted to separate them when Gigliotte turned on him. In the scuffle a revolver was discharged and Haught received the bullet in the right temple.

PITTSBURGH FIRM THE LOWEST BIDDER

Testimony Indicates Contract for Improving Blair County Court House Was Let Secretly.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HOLLIDAYSBURG, April 14.—The Blair county court today heard injunction proceedings instituted against the county commissioners to enjoin the alleged secret letting of the contract for the proposed court house improvements to W. V. Hughes & Sons.

The evidence developed that eight contractors bid on the work, the lowest bid being $104,285 by A. & S. Wilson Company of Pittsburgh. The commissioners rejected all bids and the day following allowed W. V. Hughes & Sons to reduce their bid from $113,000 to $106,500, then awarding them the contract. Commissioner John R. MacFarland explained the board's action, saying: "We considered we could let the contract to whom we pleased. I now think it would have been better to call in the other bidders."

The complaining taxpayers ask the court to annul the contract, because it was not let to the lowest bidder. The case was continued until Thursday.

The governor promised in case the pardon board should grant a continuance next week to withdraw the death warrants for one month.

WORKED NINETY HOURS AT STRETCH AND DIES

Young Texas College Instructor Kills Himself in Ardent Quest for Knowledge.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ITHACA, N. Y., April 14.—After a remarkable record for study and observation, Ralph Goldsmith Young, Cornell '01, an instructor of Sibley college at the University of San Antonio, Tex., nephew of Mrs. Mary Goldsmith of Athens-on-the-Hudson, sacrificed his life to the interest of science.

Young worked for a stretch of 90 hours while on a thesis test with 20 seniors of the university, three hours of which were spent in the cellar of a building in which water stood a foot deep, with only six hours of sleep and rest during that time. He died Wednesday morning as the result of pneumonia contracted through exposure.

In the Easter vacation Young went on an engine test to Connellsville, Pa., where the work was very heavy. During the week or so he was there he had one run of 48 hours without sleep, one of 24 and several of 12 hours without any rest at all. This greatly weakened his system and made him an easy prey to disease.

During the last few days Young's aunt, Mrs. Goldsmith, was at his bedside. His father, W. J. Young, was telegraphed for in Galveston, Tex., Monday, and started immediately for this city. He reached St. Louis on the morning the news of his son's death was telegraphed him. From there he went direct to New York city, where the body was taken. As soon as the father arrived in New York the body was taken to Athens and interred.

Young was 26 years old. Immediately after receiving his M. E. degree in 1901 from Sibley college he was appointed an assistant instructor in the mechanical laboratory. In 1902 he was promoted to a full instructorship.

Wilcox said he had recently finished a 60-day fast, and asked permission to make a speech on fasting as an aid to digestion. After he finished his speech, he said, he would start on a 3,500-mile tramp to San Francisco. The policeman said he could go ahead with his speech.

NON-SUIT IS ASKED IN WASHINGTON COUNTY CASE

All Defendants in Suit Brought by Taxpayers' League Make This Motion.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., April 14.—In the case of the Taxpayers' league against the county commissioners and Zeit & Co., contractors, this afternoon, attorneys for Commissioners Medlar and Scott, the majority members, moved for a non-suit. Counsel for Commissioner Gibson, the minority member, and Zeit's attorneys did the same.

The defense alleged that the plaintiff had failed to produce sufficient testimony to show that there was any fraud in the construction of the Claysville-Burnsville road or that the money used in its construction was expended in any but a legitimate manner. Judge Mellvaine received the motion but stated that he would give no ruling or opinion until arguments had been heard. These were taken up on the motion this afternoon and have not yet been ended. All the testimony in the case was in this morning. Both members of the firm of Noble & Irwin, whose bid was the lowest, but which was rejected because of the alleged irresponsibility of the firm, testified that they had been ordered not to bid on certain parts of the work, the price for this having been fixed by the commissioners before the specifications were sent out.

Attorneys for the defense assert that the case will be non-suited as no evidence of a damaging nature has been produced.

ONE LUNG

May be gone and yet the remaining lung will be amply sufficient to sustain a vigorous vitality. As a general thing few people make more use of both lungs than is equivalent to a healthy use of one lung.

These facts are all in the favor of the man or woman with weak lungs, even when disease has a strong grip on them.

Many a person living in health to-day has the lungs marked by the healed scars of disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes weak lungs strong. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, bleeding lungs and other conditions, which, if neglected or unskilfully treated, find a fatal termination in consumption.

"I had been troubled with lung disease and pleurisy for a number of years and the trouble had almost become chronic," writes A. S. Flam, of Howe, Ia. "I had several kinds of medicine from different physicians without much benefit. At last wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce and got his advice, and began using his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I have used twenty-five bottles. When I commenced taking it I had no appetite, my system was completely run-down, had no ambition to do anything. Now I feel better than I did before I got sick. Have a good appetite and am able to do my work. I sincerely recommend Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to all who are afflicted as I was."

Those who suffer from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of the "Discovery."

AN ORDINANCE—To authorize the proper officials for and on behalf of the city of Allegheny, to enter into a contract with the Pennsylvania Company operating the railway of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company for the granting to the said Pennsylvania Company and the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company, their successors and assigns, the right to occupy and use for certain purposes a strip of land in the city of Allegheny, west of Federal street, and south of Stockton avenue, commonly known as South Park and originally known as the Common ground of said city.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the city of Allegheny, in select and common councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the proper officials of the said city be and they are hereby authorized and empowered in the name and on behalf of the said city of Allegheny, to make and enter into a contract with the Pennsylvania Company, lessee of and operating the railway of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company, in the form following, to-wit:

CONTRACT.

This agreement made this ..... day of ....., A. D. one thousand nine hundred and five, between the city of Allegheny, hereinafter called the city, as first party, and the Pennsylvania Company, lessee of and operating the railway of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company, hereinafter called the railway company, as second party:

WITNESSETH:

Whereas, By an ordinance dated October 12, 1853, the Ohio & Pennsylvania Railroad Company, predecessor in title to the said Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railway, was granted a right of way through certain city lots in the city of Allegheny, and the same right of way was continued through the Commons to Federal street; and

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Company, lessee of and operating the Pittsburgh Fort Wayne & Chicago railway, has in accordance with its contract with the city of Allegheny, dated the first day of November, 1851, and for the safety, security and convenience of the public, duly elevated the grade of its tracks over and across Federal street in said city, and partly as a result of such track elevation and partly on account of the growth and development of the city, there has arisen a necessity for a larger, better and more modern passenger station at Federal street; and

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Company being desirous of conforming fully to the requirements of said city in respect thereto, has duly submitted plans for a passenger station of such character and size as would be a credit to the city and in every way satisfactory to the public and the company except that in order to better serve the convenience of both, it is desirable that the general waiting rooms, etc., thereof should be larger and more commodious and the driveway and approach thereto wider, and it is greatly to the interest of the public and of the city that such a station, wholly suitable and satisfactory should be constructed and maintained at this point; and

Whereas, In order to properly attain such result it is necessary for said Pennsylvania Company to occupy and use for building purposes a small portion of the said right of way hitherto granted as aforesaid and also the narrow strip of the Common ground or South park remaining between the new south line of Stockton avenue, as lately widened by said city and the line of the grant made to the said Ohio & Pennsylvania Railroad Company by said ordinance, dated October 12, 1853, which said strip of land has been so reduced in width by said city as to be no longer in any way adapted to or valuable for park purposes.

NOW THEREFORE,

This agreement witnesseth: That for and in consideration of their respective covenants hereinafter set forth, it is agreed by and between said parties as follows, to-wit:

First—That so far as their right so to do exists the city hereby grants to the Pennsylvania Company as lessee and the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company as lessee, their successors and assigns, the right to occupy and use for the relocation and reconstruction of the passenger station, buildings, sheds, tracks, driveways, and other appurtenances suitable for the accommodation of their business in connection with the proposed new station at Federal street, that part of the South Common ground, or South park, described as follows:

Being a strip of land bounded on the east by Federal street, on the north by the present south line of Stockton avenue, on the west by the west side of Sherman avenue, prolonged southerly across said South park or Commons, and on the south by land of the said Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company.

Second—The railway company agrees at its own cost and expense to construct, maintain and use a suitable passenger station at such point, in accordance with the plans submitted and approved and identified by the signatures of the engineers of the Pennsylvania Company and of the director of the department of public works of said city, together with sheds, platforms, driveways, and other appurtenances necessary thereto.

Third—The railway company agrees at its own cost and expense, to construct and maintain a substantial stone wall with coping and iron fence from the west side of Federal street to a connection with the present wall at or near Sherman avenue.

Fourth—The railway company agrees that within six (6) months after the execution of this agreement it shall and will begin work on the said station and shall and will prosecute the same to completion with due diligence so that the same shall be finished within a period of one year from the time the work is commenced.

Sec. 2 This ordinance shall not go into effect until the contract herein provided for shall have been duly executed by the Pennsylvania Company within thirty (30) days from the passage of this ordinance.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, April 14.—Redville hopes of getting a majority of the runs in the season's opening struggle with the Pirates, after six futile attempts, soared high in the breasts of Redville fandom today, but disappointment was again their lot. Patsy Flaherty was on the firing line, and he handed out the choicest things in his repertoire of speed, slants and spits to the Redville sluggers, who failed to connect up with that degree of safety so essential to run-getting.

Corcoran alone of the Redville bunch found a solution for the enigmas which Patsy propounded. He laced out three hits where the fielders were no, and drove in the quartet of Redlegged base runners who crossed the plate. All this happened before the pitatical measurement of Harper had been taken, and the things which a heroic little band of 23d degree rooters who had journeyed all the way from Pittsburgh to say were lying heavily upon their leather lungs. Hon. Charley Black had burned the midnight oil on a little refrain, which went thusly:

"Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, three-time champs, we've the team to trim your lamps."

"Another pennant—that's no joke—
For the club that comes from the town of smoke, smoke, smoke, smoke."

Typewritten copies were presented to all who wore the Dreyfuss buttons; also streamers of old gold and black.

Pirate Rooters Get a Chance to Cheer.

The contest was half over and there had been no ocasion for its use. When noise in the Pittsburgh corner was justified in the joyous sixth happiness was so ecstatic there was no thought of harmony. Each individual rooter cut loose after his own fashion, and there was a veritable babel of vocal happiness.

While they were at it the Pirates took enough runs to make safe, and then it was all over, for Patsy grew more effective as the contest wore on, and all the ginger in the Red camp vanished. It was an eventful day for Fred Clarke's boys. It opened with the arrival of the rooters, headed by ex-Mayor Andrew Fulton.

"Jack" Pitcairn immediately sought Deacon Phillippe and the Cincinnati Baron, for whom he formed an attachment in Hot Springs, and presented them with a huge bouquet of fragrant flowers. The only parade through Redville was given by the Pirates. Col. Dreyfuss ordered carriages for the rooters and, headed by the club in a big bus, they rode out to the park early in the afternoon. Pittsburghers in the party were Hon. Andy Fulton, W. F. Mason, A. J. Pitcairn, Dr. J. P. Shaw, R. P. Kennedy, J. M. Morin, Edward McLaughlin, C. C. Boehmer, James Orrie, M. J. Livingston, R. H. Robinson, Frank Lorenzo, John H. Voskamp, F. G. Myers, A. R. Gladwood, Samuel McDonald, F. V. Atkinson, F. J. Klumb, John Lewis, Fred W. Erisman, A. J. Dougherty, J. J. McKelvey, E. J. Martin and P. A. Manion.

The grandstand was filled early. The throng crowded the bleachers and there was an overflow held in check by ropes. Fair rooters were out in force and there were bright bits of color here and there in the sea of faces. Large conveyances brought delegations of Red rooters distinguished by big pinafores, some wearing caps, others with long streamers with various inscriptions, all expressive of the hope of Cincinnati victory. More than 15,000 saw the struggle, and it was said to be a record-breaking first game attendance. Garry Herrmann, Barney Dreyfuss and some lesser light in the baseball world were conspicuous in a box back of the home plate. For an hour Weber's band played every popular melody save "Tessie." One rooter delegation brought in a little German band, that filled the intermissions by Weber's. A local firm presented the Reds with a dozen bats, and each team with a box of cigars.

Peitz Is Handed a Present.

Then Cincinnati admirers of "Heine" Peitz, sent out a long box, which when opened, was found to contain a very handsome umbrella. The baron was also noisily acclaimed each time he went to bat. Five minutes before the game Mayor Fleschmann arose in the magnate's box and made a spicy speech, which had the merit of brevity. He tossed a ball to the field and the game commenced.

There was a general shout when Harper tossed the first ball over the plate. Clymer allowed it to pass. The next one he swung at and dumped the ball in front of the plate. He was an easy out at first. Clarke laced the sphere to left pasture for a single, but Beaumont duplicated Clymer's performance and the great Honus popped up a foul fly for Steinfeldt. Two flies to the outfield and an easy chance for Flaherty sent the Reds down in one, two, three order.

Tommy Leach was the only Pirate to draw a safety in the second, but he was retired trying to reach third, while Ritchey was being benched on a hit to the infield. The Reds got in the running in their half. Patsy's inability to control the spit ball sent Sebring to first on wide ones. Odwell drove a stinger to Flaherty who threw wild to Wagner in an effort to retire Sebring. Steinfeldt bunted along the first base line and when Patsy got the ball he had no choice but to wing it to Clancy, the runners moving up. Corcoran drove a liner over second base, Sebring and Odwell scoring. Corcoran tried to reach second on Beaumont's return from center and was retired. Schlei was easy, Flaherty to Clancy. Two runs.

In the third Schlei lost Flaherty's third strike, and when he found the ball between his legs Patsy was on first. The fluke was not expensive, however, as the Hibernian twirler fell asleep at switch and was sent to the bench. No Red reached first in this inning.

The Pirates went down in order in the fourth, while for Cincinnati Corcoran did some nice bingling that earned for him the distinction of being the star Red in the game. After Beaumont had been retired, Sebring sent a single between Leach and the third sack and was forced at second when Odwell dumped the ball in front of Flaherty. Ritchey started toward second to take Peitz' anticipated throw to p_. Odwell, when Steinfeldt sent the sphere sailing past the spot Claude had just vacated. With Red legs on first and second Corcoran swung on a straight one and the ball got beyond Clymer along the right field foul line, reaching the crowd behind the ropes. Both runners died there, Schlei going out, Flaherty to Clancy. Two runs.

The Scores Come Thick and Fast.

With Cincinnati a quartet to the good the Pirates started in to get a few in the fifth, and before they got through with Mr. Harper in two innings that gentleman had a good case of rattles. Clancy, first up in the fifth, was passed, but forced at second by Ritchey, drove the sphere two feet [illegible] Head. Tommy sprinting around to third on the single and scoring on Peitz' fly out to Sebring. Flaherty walked, sending Ritchey to second and the latter scored on Clymer's nice single to center garden. Clarke ended the run getting by a fly to Seymour. Two runs for Pittsburgh.

After the Reds had gone down in order the Pirates took another swipe at Harper and had him down for the count when the last man was out. Some one whispered to "Heinie" that Klem was deaf and "Heinie" opened up his ginger bottle on the lines a trifle early, for which offense he was promptly sent back to the bench. The Baron then told Wagner that if he would foul a few on Harper he could send him in the air. Honus fouled five when he came to bat and whether or not it was that fact, it is true that Harper's feet were off the ground during the entire inning. He sent Beaumont and Wagner to first on bad ones. Then Clancy bunted a slow one, which went about 10 feet along the third base line, and he beat the ball to the initial sack. Leach popped a fly back of third, which looked like an easy out, but Corcoran only got to it with his finger tips and it fell safe. Beaumont scoring. With the bags full Ritchey hit to Corcoran, who retired Leach at second, Wagner scoring. Peitz's bunt took Dolan off his sack, and while he retired Heinie, he could not prevent Clancy coming in with the third run. Flaherty sent a cloud disturber that almost struck Huggins in its descent, but Huggins permitted Seymour to come in from center for it and it dropped safe. Ritchey scoring. Clymer drove the ball to left. Odwell falling in an attempt to scoop it, Flaherty going to second. Clarke hit a warm one to Huggins, who fumbled and Dolan's stupidity left first base unprotected, so that Clarke would have been safe in any event.

While the Reds were snoozing Flaherty kept going and the throw to the plate was not quick enough to catch him. With Clymer on third and Clarke on first, the latter signaled for a double steal. Schlei threw to catch Clarke and Clymer crossed the plate with the sixth run. Beaumont ended a long drawn out inning by going out, Huggins to Dolan.

No runs were made off Flaherty after the fourth. Corcoran got his third hit in the seventh, but was left on second. In the eighth with two out an excusable error by Clancy and a wild throw by Wagner put two Reds on the sacks, but Odwell was easy for the third out. In the ninth but three men faced Flaherty.

Manager Kelly took Harper off the rubber after the sixth and substituted Check, the promising young pitcher who was drafted from St. Paul. In the seventh the Pirates went down in order. In the eighth Clymer singled, but it was after two men were out. In the ninth the pirates added another run. Two were out when Clancy sent a single to right pasture. He stole second, and scored on Leach's drive over second base. The Pirates outplayed the Reds in every department, Beaumont distinguished himself by a difficult running catch in the first inning. Flaherty accepted none chances and made one misplay. Wagner's work at short was also of the gilt edge order, while Clymer and Clancy gave a good account of themselves, both at the bat and in the field.

The work of the Pirates on the bases showed up brilliantly in comparison with that of their opponents. They permitted no opportunities to slip through their fingers. It was a sick crowd of Redville rooters after the sixth inning. Tomorrow Phillippe will do the twirling for the Pirates, and Peitz will probably catch the entire series. Walker or Overall will be on the firing line for Cincinnati. The score:

Over 40,000 People Help the New York Giants to Celebrate Their Opening Day.

NEW YORK, April 14.—In the presence of a record-breaking attendance, the turnstiles showing that over 40,000 persons had visited the grounds, the National league champions easily defeated the visiting Boston team 10 to 1 at the Polo grounds today. Prior to the game the two teams took part in an automobile parade through the city, and when they returned to the grounds they were greeted with tumultuous cheers. Many floral pieces were presented to Manager McGraw and the individual members of the New York team, all of whom took part in the hoisting of the championship pennant.

The game was rather one-sided, as McGinnity had perfect control while Wilhelm and Young were hit pretty freely. Donlin got the credit of making the first home run of the local season and the star fielding play of the game was a one-handed catch of a low drive from Tenny's bat by Dahlen. The score:

BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 14.—The Philadelphia National league team opened the season at Washington park, Brooklyn, today, and beat the locals 12 to 8. The game throughout was fast and snappy, but the visitors were more lively around the bases and bunched their hits to good advantage. The score:

BRUNSWICK TEAM TOOK LEAD IN BOWLING RACE

By Defeating Unity, Captain Lee's Team Piled Up the Best Record of the Season.

What was undoubtedly the best bowling game of the season was the one on the Club alleys last night between the Brunswick and Unity teams, of the County league and by winning two out of three Brunswick takes the lead in the County league race. The members of both teams were in their best form and some great scores were the result. In the opening contest Brunswick rolled above 1,000 and had to get near that mark in the other two. The second game was lost by only one pin. McMillan of Brunswick was the star, having three scores over 200. The game was exciting from start to finish. Scores:

Flaherty Hears from Brother Elks.

Among the congratulatory telegrams which Patsey Flaherty received yesterday after the news of the Pirates' victory was one from his brother Elks in Carnegie. Members of the lodge were in the telegraph office, Carnegie, when the news came. The crowd went wild, and a resulting cheer for the pitcher from Carnegie was raised, and this telegram was promptly dispatched: "Accept hearty congratulations from Carnegie Elks No. 881 upon your successful start. Keep it up, old boy. We are all with you to the finish."

GREAT CROWD SEES GAME

Some Interesting Facts About the National Game

The total cost of baseball for the season which began yesterday will foot up at least $3,000,000, divided as follows:

Salaries major leagues, $740,000.

Salaries minor leagues, $918,000.

Traveling expenses major leagues, $160,000.

Traveling expenses minor leagues, $411,000.

Other expenses major leagues, $302,000.

Other expenses minor leagues, $378,000.

Population of cities where professional ball is played, 26,907,265.

This compilation deals with professional baseball, and does not touch the thousands upon thousands of college and amateur games. On an average of 15 men each to the 164 clubs under the national agreement there is shown to be 2,460 players in that branch of the game alone, and the independent professionals doubtless swell the total to 10,000.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—The American league season opened here today with a victory for the home club, Boston being defeated 3 to 2. Owing to the crowd, which overflowed into the field, a ground rule was necessary. The usual flag-raising function was participated in by both teams and the first ball was thrown out by Mayor Weaver. Young and Bender were the opposing pitchers and the latter up to the last inning was invincible. Boston had not scored a run and had made but two hits when in the ninth Bender weakened. He allowed two doubles and gave four bases on balls, forcing in a run. With three men on bases he struck the last man out and saved the game. Monte Cross was struck by a ball which he tried to bunt and retired from the game. President Johnson was a spectator. Attendance—15,211. The score:

New York 4—Washington 2.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—New York and Washington opened the American league baseball season here today. The local team lost principally because of Chesbro's pitching. The visiting team's "spitball" artist had Washington completely at his mercy, and especially when hits meant runs. In the eighth inning he retired the side on strikeouts and in the ninth by his excellent control of the ball checked what seemed to be a batting rally. Patten pitched good ball, but had one bad inning in which the game was lost. The score:

READY FOR THE BELL.

Eastern Racing Season Opens Today. Garter Handicap First Big Event.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The Garter handicap at seven furlongs with $5,000 added, which last year gave first public evidence to the qualities of Beldame, the mare that became the sensation of the racing season, will tomorrow mark the inauguration of the Metropolitan racing season at Aqueduct.

It will also witness the opening for the first time of Belmont park at Queens, Long Island, the new home of the Westchester racing association which this year has abandoned the historic course in the Westchester hills, Morris Park. The inauguration of Belmont park will follow the meetings at Aqueduct and Jamaica, these occupying the first two places on the racing calendar.

That the Garter handicap field will be a large one and the race a hard fought contest is evidenced by the fact that tonight twenty-one horses, among them the best sprinters in training, are posted as starters, and only four of these are said to be doubtful. The race will be run as the fourth on the program.

AUTOISTS WILL AWAIT ACTION OF GOVERNOR

City Treasurer Will Withold Action on Local Ordinance Until State Bill Is Passed On.

A meeting of the board of governors of the Automobile club of Pittsburgh was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of taking some action on the recent automobile license passed by the city. This ordinance imposes a vehicle license on automobile owners of $6 for one-seated cars and $10 for two-seated ones, the license fees to be paid to the city treasurer. Under the state law they are required to pay a license fee of $5 annually to the same officer.

Proceeding upon the city ordinance it was rumored that the authorities were about to arrest all owners of cars not having complied with the ordinance. There are in Pittsburgh more than 1,000 such cars. The several hundred members of the Automobile club became alarmed and puzzled, and petitioned the board of governors to take some action that would enable them to understand just where they stood, and the special meeting of the board followed, when James Francis Burke was retained and directed to take immediate steps to protect the automobile interests.

Congressman Burke after the meeting had a conference with City Treasurer John P. Steele, in which he pointed out the serious questions that arise out of the present city and state legislation, especially as the present legislature had passed another automobile bill, which is awaiting the governor's Pittsburgh Golfers Will Probably Carry Off First Honors at Atlantic City.

DOWN TO SEMI-FINALS NOW

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 14.

By an exhibition of fine work in the second round of the spring golf tourney of the Atlantic City Country club, W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh, winner of the last spring and fall tournaments over the Northfield course, won handily over W. A. Thurston of the Apawamis club of Rye, N. Y., and is generally conceded to be the probable winner of the big match which finishes tomorrow. The match was the event of the day. Fownes won by 3 up and 2 to play. He displayed his greatest skill at the seventh hole, which he made in three strokes, the only time the hole has been made in that number. The cards:

Fownes, out	5	3	6	4	6	3	3	8	7—45
Thurston, out	6	5	5	6	7	4	5	4	5—45
Fownes, in	4	2	6	6	6	5	4	.	.—33—78
Thurston, in	4	3	6	5	6	4	4	.	.—32—77

Tillinghast, former champion of the Philadelphia Cricket club, and will likely be Fownes' opponent in the finals. HOW CONANT FOOLED THE BEEFSTEAK EATERS

Hotel Man Raided His Table and Got Only Stoneware Dishes and Pewter Spoons.

The members of the Hotel and Restaurant association of Pittsburgh held their regular monthly dinner last night and raided the table of everything from the American beauty roses to the knives and forks and spoons as souvenirs. When they finished their banquet it looked as if an army had marched over the table. To "swipe" all the crockery and plate in sight is one of the customs of the association's souvenir collecting. But last night they were fooled.

The banquet was held in the "stout man's balcony" in the Nixon restaurant. Jim Conant knew that there would be a raid on his table service, and he used precautions at the beginning, and then, as the guests marched up the stairway to the dining hall, he advised all the souvenir fiends to "go as far as they liked." When they arrived they saw the table spread with a red tablecloth, and at each plate was a turkey red napkin. The dishes were fresh from East Liverpool and the spoons were of pewter.

"This is a genuine, old-fashioned dinner," said Mine Host Conant.

"The table looks as if it had been spread for a threshing day party out at Library," said Herr Hammel.

"The spoons rattle like my automobile when something's loose," complained Frank Brobst.

"Who said we wanted to be old-fashioned?" asked "Bonny," and Riley kicked him under the table. Olmstead and Tocker raised a "rough house" and upset Boyer's coffee. Collins, Roseburg, Schmitt and Shaffner organized a quartet and started to sing, but were silenced when McKinnie, Ambrose, Kuen and Brobst started a vaudeville turn.

When they arrived they saw the table got down to serious business. They passed a vote of thanks, complimenting Billy Hammel as the only real successor of Sherlock Holmes, and adopted a resolution prohibiting hotel orchestras from playing "Home, Sweet Home," and "The Good Old Summer Time." They then stood up and sang a verse of the tune which Brobst wrote for the occasion, entitled, "Give Us Another Portion of That Beefsteak, Oh, Mariah."

Score Is Tie at End of First Half, but Home Crowd Comes to Front.

The Cyclorama polo team won an exciting game from the Apollo team last night at Cyclorama hall, 9 to 4. The Cyclorama team got its team work into play in the second period, when it scored five goals. The first period ended 4 to 4. Donnelly, the ex-goal tender of the P. A. C. hockey team, put up a fine game, particularly in the second period, when he stopped a beautiful shot with the whole forward line of Apollo coming down the floor.

Ferguson, formerly of the Bradford polo team, played a nice game at halfback and also scored two goals. The forward line, Kiefer, Lanham and Melhuish, did well. Line-up:

PRINCETON IS DEFEATED BY PHILLIPS ANDOVER

ANDOVER, MASS., April 14.—(Special.)—Phillips Andover academy began its season most auspiciously this afternoon by defeating the Princeton university team, 3 to 1. It is the first time in the history of Andover that its baseball team has scored a victory over the Tigers. The youngsters' win was largely due to the excellent work in the box of Charlie Lanigan, who for the first time in his career faced a college team.

Andover outbatted, outfielded, and in the eighth inning bunched hits on Princeton and won. The score:

Nine Nations

Now Use Liquozone. Won't You Try It—Free?

Millions of people, of nine different nations, are constant users of Liquozone. Some are using it to get well; some to keep well. Some to cure germ diseases; some as a tonic. No medicine was ever so widely employed. These users are everywhere; your neighbors and friends are among them. And half the people you meet—wherever you are—know some one whom Liquozone has cured.

If you need help, please ask some of these users what Liquozone does. Don't blindly take medicine for what medicine cannot do. Drugs never kill germs. For your own sake, ask about Liquozone; then let us buy you a full-size bottle to try.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, after proving, in thousands of difficult cases, that Liquozone destroys the cause of any germ disease.

Liquozone has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. It is not made by compounding drugs, nor with alcohol. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effect are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissue, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison and it cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

JUSTICE HOOKER IS EXCORIATED

Counsel for Bar Associations Scathingly Arraigns the New York Jurist.

IN COLLUSION WITH BEAVERS

ALBANY, N. Y., April 14.—In vehement and scathing terms the alleged acts of Former Congressman Warren B. Hooker of Fredonia, now a justice of the supreme court, in connection with appointments, rental matters and certain litigation affecting the postoffices at Fredonia and Dunkirk, Chautauqua county, were characterized before the assembly judiciary committee today by Frank W. Stevens, representing especially the Jamestown Bar association, but speaking as counsel for all the bar associations which have participated in the investigation of the conduct of Justice Hooker.

"The government at Washington in this case," Mr. Stevens declared, "was George W. Beavers. He was the man who passed upon the requests of Judge Hooker. They were close, intimate friends. On letter after letter we find the word 'personal.' In one letter we find Hooker effusively thanking Beavers for favors. A justice of the supreme court thanking a public officer for favors! You find that every time Hooker makes a request of Beavers it is granted without a word; no inquiry made; absolutely no question raised. Hooker shows a moral unfitness of some kind; a weakness in that armor with which every justice of the supreme court should be clothed."

Concerning the testimony that Melvin H. Taylor, postmaster, was called upon by the government to restore the funds paid to Maurice Hooker, a nephew of Justice Hooker, Mr. Stevens said:

"Justice Hooker knew that a scandal threatened. Now Warren B. Hooker, rather than pay this money back to the government and thereby acknowledge his connection with the case, chose to do the almost unthinkable, almost unspeakable thing, to tell Taylor to pay out of his own pocket the sum of $500. Taylor was his tool."

The committee adjourned today until next Wednesday, when arguments for Justice Hooker will be resumed.

DESPONDENT MAN KILLS HIMSELF IN HIS FACTORY

Mark A. Doubet, Tinware Manufacturer, Puts a Bullet Into His Brain.

Mark A. Doubet, aged 43, of 1205 Arch street, Allegheny, and member of the firm of Grier Bros., tinware manufacturers at 124 Second avenue, committed suicide at his business house yesterday morning by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. He was despondent, but his business associates say his troubles were imaginary.

Doubet had been connected with Grier Bros. for 20 years, and in addition to being a member of the firm, was employed as a foreman. For some months he had been under the impression that he was not doing his work satisfactory. He said he was unable to get as much work out of the men as formerly. Mr. Grier tried to disabuse his mind of this feeling, but Doubet would not be consoled. Yesterday he went to work and, after writing two letters to his wife, went to the fifth floor of the building and shot himself. The letters were:

My friends have lost all confidence in me, so what is the use of trying any more. Two packages in my coat pocket are for my wife.

Dear Frances—It is getting awful; there is only one thing to do. I feel that it will be best for you and everybody than to put up with what I see ahead. It is getting worse every day. M.

Doubet left his bank book and insurance papers in readiness for his widow.

James Morgan, aged 19, a brakeman of Braddock, yesterday died at the Homestead Steel Works hospital from injuries received by being crushed between two cars on the Union railroad.

Friends of Nellie Carey, an inmate of 202 Anderson street, who committed suicide last week by taking carbolic acid, yesterday claimed her body at the morgue. The woman's acquaintances contributed to a fund, and she will be buried this morning.

Samuel Hyzen, aged 30, of South Thirtieth street, died at the South Side hospital yesterday from injuries caused by a piece of steel falling on his head in Jones & Laughlin's mills.

Joshua Meadwell, aged 80, of McKeesport, died at the McKeesport hospital last night from injuries received by being struck by a train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at McKeesport Thursday. His skull was fractured.

Andrew Kroll, aged 30, of 3829 Mifflin street, died on the way to the West Penn hospital last night from injuries received at Clarke mill, Thirty-third street, about 9 o'clock. A piece of hot iron pierced his leg near the knee, severing an artery, and he bled to death.

SULTAN'S SOVEREIGNTY MUST BE MAINTAINED

This Germany's Policy in Morocco and Proposes to Maintain It, Despite the Cast.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, April 14.—Count Von Tattenbach-Ashold, who has been appointed temporary charge d'affaires of Germany in Morocco, has given the correspondent of the Lokal-Anzeiger at Fez, where the count is arranging for a special German-Moroccan treaty, a declaration of Germany's policy toward Morocco.

"It is not only Germany's right," the count says, "but also her immediate and undeniable duty to protect and develop her Moroccan interests. While she energetically demands for the powers signatories at the conference held at Madrid in 1880, a frank recognition of the 'open door' policy, Germany insists on the sultan's sovereignty and independence of Morocco, especially because both are mentioned vaguely in the Franco-British agreement and therefore permits legitimate doubt of this subject.

"Germany's program of action, which stands on a sound and irreproachable foundation, is fortunately generally supported by public opinion in Germany and has the sympathy of the whole Spanish population, including the Liberal party, and the approval of all the unprejudiced powers. Therefore Germany may confidently carry out her plans and can fearlessly force the consequences, whatever they may be.

"The watchword of Germany is 'dauntlessly forward.'"

EMPLOY NOVEL MEANS TO EXTINQUISH FLAMES

A controller of a Second avenue car blew up yesterday afternoon while the car was crossing the West Braddock bridge. The woodwork ignited and a number of women tried to jump off the car but were prevented by other passengers. The entireW front end of the car was in a blaze and the fire was spreading rapidly when people living at Duquesne Junction secured a number of clothes lines and with buckets drew water from the river and extinguished the fire.

NEW YORK HAS 25,000 INCOMPETENT CHILDREN

NEW YORK, April 14.—(Special)—There are 25,000 children in the New York public schools who cannot be efficiently taught in regular classes, according to a report just made to the board of education by experts, who have been investigating the subject. The board will at once take up the problem of dealing with these unfortunates.

SOCIETY

ONE of the most interesting weddings of the post-Lenten season will be that of Miss Florence Dilworth and James H. Lockhart, which is set for Tuesday evening, April 25. It will take place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. George W. Dilworth, in Fifth avenue, Shadyside, at 8 o'clock. Owing to the recent death of Charles Lockhart, father of the prospective bridegroom, only the immediate relatives of the young couple will be in attendance at the wedding. The Rev. Dr. J. Kinsey Smith, the new pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian church, will be assisted in performing the ceremony by the Rev. Robert M. Russell, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church. Miss Pauline Dilworth will be her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, while Mr. Lockhart will have his brother, John Lockhart, as his best man. No plans have been made as to where the bridal couple will be at home. Invitations for the wedding were issued during the early part of this week.

Social Life at the College.

One of the smartest semi-social milestones in the history of the Pennsylvania College for Women was passed last evening when Dilworth hall was formally reopened. The hall has been remodeled and repaired since the fire several months ago and now presents even a more beautiful appearance than before. Its walls are of a burnt orange hue, with a Greek key-border and the cream colored ceiling gives to the whole a restful tone. The alumnae window at one end of the hall has been replaced and the organ, which was badly damaged by the fire, has practically been rebuilt. Edward J. Napier opened and closed the concert with an organ solo and, in conjunction with Miss A. E. Griffiths, Dan Beddoe, J. H. Gittings and Luigi von Kunits, gave a most delightful and a thoroughly artistic program. The hall was well filled with a fashionable audience, who evinced their approval and enjoyment by hearty applause. The concert will be the last large social affair at the college until the commencement exercises, which begin on Thursday, June 1, and continue over the following Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The preparatory schools will close with exercises on Thursday evening, and on the afternoon of the following day the alumnae will hold their annual meeting preceding their banquet in the evening. Saturday is class day, plans for which are being kept secret. The annual concert is to be given in the evening. Dr. George Adams Smith, the well-known lecturer, has been invited to deliver the baccalaureate sermon in the Third Presbyterian church on Sunday morning, and also to make the address at the commencement on Monday evening. As Dr. Smith is not in this country at present, it is not yet known whether he will be able to accept the invitation.

A series of lectures on various subjects is being delivered at the college, the first of which was one on "Westminster Abbey," given by Dr. G. M. McCampbell last Wednesday. Dr. McCampbell will also deliver the second, taking for his subject "The Tower of London." The date for this lecture has not yet been set.

Chooses Bridal Attendants.

The attendants for the wedding of Miss Emma Fowler Weeks, daughter of the late Joseph D. Weeks and Mrs. Martha Fowler Weeks, and Franklin Mitchell Crispin have been announced. The bridesmaids will be Miss Minnie Loomis Brown and Miss Alice Josephine Dinger of Pittsburgh, Miss Carolyn Elizabeth Golding of Wilmington, Del., and Miss E. Jean Gram of Cleveland, O.; maid of honor, Miss Martha Fowler of Burlington, Ia., a cousin of the bride; best man, the bridegroom's cousin, F. Harold Gaston of Philadelphia; ushers, John Stephenson Clark and Arthur Clark of Philadelphia and Hugh R. Hyndman, F. Malcolm Hyndman, Noble Johnson Miller and John Wilson Thompson, all of Pittsburgh. The wedding is to take place in the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension on the evening of Wednesday, April 26, the Rev. Dr. John Russell Wightman, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, and an uncle of the bride, officiating, and the bride being given away by another uncle, Charles C. Fowler of Burlington, Ia.

Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Lindeman of 625 Mifflin way, Wilkinsburg, will today celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. Both were born in Germany and came to New York in their youth. They were married there and came to Pittsburgh nine years ago. About 40 of their descendants and many of their 42 grandchildren and two great grandchildren will attend the celebration today. The children are Frederick and Henry Lindeman of Wilkinsburg, Charles Lindeman of Detroit, Frank Lindeman of Rochester, N. Y., Mrs. Dorothy Lindeman of Wilkinsburg, Mrs. Elizabeth Ruh and Mrs. Clara Bauch of Brooklyn. Mr. Lindeman is 77 and his wife 74 years old.

Dinner for Bridal Party.

Mrs. Hettie Blackburn Leese of Pacific avenue, East End, gave a dinner at the Duquesne hotel last evening, the guests of honor being her daughter, Miss Elizabeth G. AMONG THE CLUBS

THE Epoch club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Frank L. Slocum, South Linden avenue. Miss Gleim spoke on "The Art of Japan." The gardens and temples of Orientals were described as was their method of painting. The originals of our posters came from Japan. Their light and dark studies were introduced into Paris and used as posters and from Europe, America adopted the same idea. The Japanese bring their art into every day life. In giving the lecture Miss Gleim appeared in a beautiful imported costume, a blue-grey kimono with cloth of gold obi and a dark brown reception cloak embroidered with pink Chinese roses and lined with silk, old Indian red in color. The refreshments served after the program were distinctively Japanese, including cherry ices, Japanese nuts and candies. Mrs. J. G. Schroeder, the president, poured tea and was assisted by Mrs. Frank H. Taylor, Mrs. Alice H. Hogg, Mrs. Emil Keller, Mrs. Francis D. Glover, Mrs. Charles Eaton, and Mrs. Samuel Irvine. The meeting was a large one as the officers of all the women's clubs of Pittsburgh were invited.

Speaks on the "Model Novel."

Dr. Richard Burton of Boston, lectured before the Allegheny Teachers' association at the first open meeting in Carnegie Music hall last night on "The Model Novel." He gave an interesting history of the growth of novel writing, and said that the literary tastes of people of today may be judged by the latter day novels. The epic poem, he said, comes first in literature, and he spoke of the influence of pioneer novels of the Eighteenth century, at which time, he said, a new interest was born in the English people and a new literary style developed. Superintendent John Morrow of the Allegheny public schools, was introduced as the first honorary president of the organization.

Many Members Are Present.

The College Alumnae association of Pittsburgh was well represented at its meeting held yesterday at the Pennsylvania College for Women. The Rev. J. Leonard Levy addressed the society on "The Cry of the Children." Miss Alice Skilton and Miss Mary D. Lewis were the hostesses, and besides the members there were also many guests present.

Forum Club Meets.

The Forum club met last evening at Kingsley house and the feature of the evening was a mock trial, in which J. B. Cohen acted as judge. A. Newman was attorney for the prosecution and S. Leff for the defense. The case was an assault and battery trial. The prosecutor was A. Honnebaum and the defense was represented by A. Silverman. The Forum club's first public debate will be held the first week in May, and William H. Matthews will award a medal to the best speaker. An extemporaneous debate was given two weeks ago, and the six best speakers were chosen for this second contest. Those ranking highest in the preliminary debate were J. B. Cohen, J. Frankel, A. Finkell, W. M. Smolsky, S. Leff and Emil Rubinowitz. The three judges who will preside will be from the local courts. The club will nominate officers for the coming year at its meeting which is to be held on Friday night.

Observe Arbor Day.

Arbor Day was observed by the Pittsburgh committee of women's clubs for playgrounds, vacation schools and recreation parks yesterday in the South Side Recreation park, Ninth and Carson streets. About 1,000 people were present and 12 trees were planted, Norway and silver maples, given by 12 different clubs of the two cities. Dr. R. H. Holbrook acted as master of ceremonies and the South Side school children sang a number of songs. Speeches were made by D. L. Gillespie, John Larkin, Edward Hynearson and Samuel Andrews. Those in charge of the exercises were Miss Beulah Kennard, general chairman; Miss Jessie D. Bradley, secretary; Mrs. Samuel Ammon, treasurer, and Mrs. Samuel S. Miller, chairman of park.

Discuss the New South.

The New South was discussed at the meeting of the Woman's Southern society yesterday at the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music. The meeting was held one week early because Good Friday falls on the regular day of meeting. Mrs. Hugh Pendelton Allen presided, and Miss Henrietta Costin acted as leader. Mrs. J. Marvin Hall read a paper on "The Jamestown Exposition," and Mrs. Weadroper wrote a paper on "The New South," which was read by her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Thomas. The feature of the afternoon was the singing of Miss Olive Wheat, an Iowa girl who has recently come to Pittsburgh. She has a beautiful soprano voice. Tea followed the program.

MRS. CHADWICK FACES THE NEW INDICTMENT

Her Bail Is Increased, the Total Being $47,000—Spear Also Arraigned.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, O., April 14.—Mrs. Chadwick, when arraigned in the United States district court today, pleaded not guilty to the new indictment recently returned against her by the grand jury, charging her with aiding and abetting Cashier A. B. Spear of the Oberlin bank in making false entries in the bank's books and making untrue statements to the comptroller of the currency. Spear was also arraigned today and pleaded not guilty to the joint indictment. The court increased Mrs. Chadwick's bail from $20,000 to $27,000. Of the $7,000 added $5,000 was to cover the new indictment, while $1,000 was named on each of two of the old indictments upon which no bail has been specifically fixed heretofore.

In reply to a question of Attorney Wing, counsel for Mrs. Chadwick, in court today, District Attorney Sullivan stated that Mrs. Chadwick would not be tried on any of the indictments standing against her during the present term. This is taken to mean that the government will not try Mrs. Chadwick again, unless she escapes punishment on the conspiracy charge upon which she was recently tried.

It is known that Mrs. Chadwick's attorneys are quietly at work trying to secure bail for her. Including the bond demanded in the state courts for the release of Mrs. Chadwick, it will now require a total surety of $47,000 to obtain her release, pending the decision of the circuit court of appeals on the motion for a new trial.

Mrs. Chadwick was apparently in much better health.

HALLER'S BUSY DAY.

Two Women and a Man Bring Charges Against Allegheny Bartender.

Jacob Haller, an Allegheny bartender, was arrested yesterday on information made before Alderman Toole, charging him with assault and battery, forcible entry and surety of the peace. The charges are brought by William Dineheart, Bessie Pace and Edith Enfield, all residing at 604 Arch street, Allegheny.

Haller, it is claimed, broke down the door of the house Wednesday, struck Dineheart on the head with a lump of coal, broke down the door of Miss Pace's room, destroyed nearly all the furniture in the house and threatened to kill Mrs. Enfield. Haller gave bail for a hearing.

GARBAGE CAN EXPLODES AND WOMAN IS BADLY BURNED

Mrs. Ella Price, widow of Capt. Joseph Price, who lost his life in the explosion of the towboat Fred Wilson, near Louisville, several months ago, was probably fatally injured in the yard of her home in Holland avenue, Braddock, at noon yesterday. While burning paper in a garbage can an explosion occurred in which Mrs. Price was burned on the arms, face, head and body. Neighbors heard the explosion and found her unconscious. What exploded is a mystery. The can was thought to contain only a small quantity of paper and rubbish.

NIAGARA'S POWER TO BE DIVIDED

Commission to Deal With International Rivers Holds First Meeting.

MEXICO ALSO HAS GRIEVANCE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.

Niagara power grab bills now pending in the New York state legislature may be interfered with, either before or after their enactment, by international consideration between the United States and Canada. The Dominion government has displayed great concern over utilization of other rivers crossing the boundary in such manner as to deprive Canada of a fine share of water for irrigation or power purposes.

The Mexican government has protested against the construction of great dams by the United States on the Colorado and Rio Grande rivers in order to irrigate American lands now arid. The result will be to cut off a great part of the waters which now flow from the United States into Mexico. The United States government holds that no state has a right to divert the waters of a navigable stream and now Mexico raises a question never before settled between governments as to whether one government has the right to divert to its own use the waters of a river which flow across its borders into another country.

President Roosevelt has appointed a commission to consider the question. The commission held its first meeting today. It was later admitted that the proposed law to permit the diversion of enough water from the Niagara river to produce 400,000 horse power for an American electric power company might become a serious international question. The Mexican government in the cases of the damming of the Rio Grande and Colorado rivers has claimed that it is entitled to an equitable division of these international waters.

The commission consists of Judge Penfield, solicitor for the state department; Special Assistant Attorney General M. C. Burch and Prof. F. H. Newell of the geological survey. All of the questions before the commission have formed the subject of extensive correspondence between the state department and Mexico and Canada.

The Milk river projects in Montana have alarmed the Canadians. Arising in the United States, this river flows into Canada and back again into Montana. The Canadians have been making large use of the waters on their side, which has led to a project by the people of Montana to cut out the entire bend in the river on the Canadian side by a canal, the effect of which would be to completely deprive the Canadians of water.

As a result of a conference with Secretary Taft, it was decided that as projects such as the international dam across the Rio Grande river and the reclamation dam on the Colorado river, had been authorized by congress, there was nothing to do but to proceed with the work, leaving the broader question of international riparian rights to be treated diplomatically.

Butler Gives Bail for Court.

The trouble over the election of a new fire chief in McKeesport will reach the courts. Yesterday John J. Butler, the electrician of the fire department and a supporter of William Hardy, the present chief, gave $300 bail for court before Alderman Mansfield on a charge of assault and battery preferred by William Reeder, a member of No. 1 Fire company. Reeder has been a supporter of Michael Quinn, the newly elected chief. In the information Reeder states that Butler gave him a beating last Monday night after it had been decided that Quinn was to be the next chief.

COAL SHIPMENTS CEASE.

All Light Craft Now on Way South and Empties Coming Up.

Coal shipments from the Pittsburgh harbor have practically ceased. All the light craft have gone south and there is nothing left here but the deep draught coal boats, for which there is not enough water. A number of boats are expected up in a couple of days with empties. The harbor is almost clear of barges and there are few in the upper pools. Consequently the coal companies are now hurrying as many of these back as possible, as there is a surplus of coalboats.

Thomas Berston of the American Steel and Wire Company is having a small auto boat built by the R. C. Price Company which, he believes, will be as fast as a railroad train. Instead of the propeller projecting from the stern, it will run the entire length of the boat's bottom and be equipped with a number of blades. The boat is 30 feet long, and with a gasoline power engine the inventor thinks it will travel 45 miles an hour. The propeller shaft is 28 feet long. The boat is to navigate on a three-foot stage of water. Mr. Berston believes his new craft will simply demonstrate the correctness of his theory and, if it does, a larger boat will be built. He thinks a large boat could be built from his plans which would make 60 or more miles an hour.

The Columbia, one of the sidewheelers in the Morgantown line, has been brought down from City Farm and laid up in the Allegheny, where she is being repainted. The I. C. Woodward will come down next.

Bids for the construction of dams in the Ohio and Monongahela rivers will be opened by Major W. L. Sibert, United States engineer in charge, this morning. A number of bidders are expected to take part.

The Greenland, from Charleston, and the Lorena, from Zanesville, arrived last evening, several hours late, owing to heavy business. The Greenland got out again about 9 o'clock and the Lorena will leave this morning.

IRON SUPPLY VERY LOW.

Less than a week's supply of iron is on hand at the furnaces, and the March demand has reduced the stocks about 31,000 tons. In commenting upon this situation Matthew Addy & Co. say:

"The most important news of the week is the announcement of the March statistics, showing a reduction in the merchant furnace stocks last month of more than 31,000 tons. This reduction in the face of a largely increased production is significant. It also shows that iron is being shipped out from the furnaces at a faster rate than it is being made.

"When a careful analysis is made of production it is seen that the increase is not in foundry irons, but in irons intended for use in steel manufacture—Bassic and Bessemer. There has been no increase whatever, or, at least, none worth mentioning, in the output of foundry irons. Taking the matter as a whole, the amount of iron on hand at the furnaces is less than a week's supply. In fact, this available stock is a mere bagatelle, and indicates that the consuming interests of the country are dependent on shipments from day to day to keep running.

"Were anything to happen to shut down even a small number of furnaces there would at once be a shortage, which would compel consumers in various parts of the country to either shut down or largely curtail their operations. These March statistics have been awaited eagerly by both producers and consumers, and they cannot fail to very materially strengthen the market, being so decidedly on the right side of the ledger."

STOCK MARKET BUOYANT AND PRICES ADVANCED

Gains Well Distributed Between Industrials and High Grade Railroad Shares—Local Market Also Improved.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The dealings in New York stocks were larger yesterday than for a long time past, reaching almost 1,600,000 shares. The tone of the market was buoyant, and there was a better distribution of business than heretofore. Gains were well distributed between industrials and railroad stocks, the largest not advance being at the extremes of the list. That is, industrial common stocks that have gone off the dividend list, and high grade railroad investments which were already on a bond basis, so far as yield is concerned, led the upward movement.

The street was not altogether certain how to take a story that that Great Northern railroad directors would propose an increase of $125,000,000 in capital stock. The first impression was that this proposition was an offset to the announcement of the Union Pacific interests a little more than a week ago of an increase of $100,000,000 in Union Pacific preferred stock. It looked as though these rival interests were preparing the ammunition for a contest in the stock market. Later it was suggested that the Great Northern proposition contemplated a capitalization of its ore lands, which it is thought will be ultimately leased to the United States Steel Corporation, and that when the Great Northern common stock, now in the Northern Securities treasury, is distributed in accordance with the mandate of the supreme court, the stock thus released will have the privilege of subscribing for the proposed new issue. This was the theory that was apparently accepted by the street, for later in the day Northern Securities stock became very strong, advancing to the highest price ever quoted, and closing at 179⅝ bid, a net gain of about 6 points for the day.

Union Pacific continued very active and advanced 2 per cent to 136¾, closing at an advance of 1⅜ per cent. The other Harriman stocks were also active and strong, but they did not overshadow the general market. St. Paul was conspicuous for strength and finally reached 184¾, just before the close, the final sale representing a net gain of 5⅛ per cent for the day. Illinois Central was another strong feature which advanced sharply in the final dealings and closed 3⅝ per cent higher for the day. The Pennsylvania group was moderately active and firm, the leader closing 1¼ per cent higher. Canadian Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Norfolk & Western, were the only prominent railroad stocks which closed lower, and the loss was only fractional.

United States Steel preferred made a new high mark by selling at 103¾, and the common advanced to 37½, but the net change for the day was insignificant. Pressed Steel Car common rose to 46¾, and the preferred to 93⅛. American Car and Foundry, common and preferred, made new high marks, and the Railway Steel Springs issues also scored substantial gains, the preferred selling at the highest ever quoted. The southern group of iron stocks were strong. Tennessee Coal and Iron advancing to 105 and Colorado Fuel and Iron to 55.

In the miscellaneous list Amalgamated Copper was consistently strong all day and reached 80¾, the highest for years. American Smelting common rose to 123¾, or within 1⅛ per cent of the preferred stock. American Wool common, however, was the strongest of this group and advanced to 38, the highest ever quoted. Electric stocks were carried higher by the impetus of the general market, but at no time displayed buoyancy. There was a slight reaction in the final dealings, but the tone of the market was firm at the close.

In the local stock market there was also a better distribution of business and a firmer tone generally. Pittsburgh Coal stocks reversed the movement of the day before, the common reacting and closing a fraction lower for the day, while the preferred rose to 74½ and closed at 74½, an advance of 1½ per cent. Crucible Steel preferred crossed 65, but enough stock came out at that price to check a further rise, and the market closed steady at 68 bid. The common stock was inactive, advancing to 12⅝ and closing at 12½. Independent Brewing common closed a fraction lower at 17¼, but the preferred was higher at 42. The bonds rallied ½ per cent to 108. Pittsburgh Brewing issues were dull and nominally unchanged. The Westinghouse stocks were dull but firmer. Air Brake rallying to 148 and Electric to 89. The low-priced mining stocks were active and firm.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

For the first time in the present bull movement one of the New York commission houses, which has been advocating a higher range of values, yesterday sent out word of caution against loading up with low-grade industrial common stocks which have already enjoyed a good advance. This is the class of stocks that is the first to be thrown out of collateral in loans, and which becomes most burdensome to carry. On the other hand, one of the largest commission houses, which is not identified with the more reckless element in the market, was yesterday calling attention to various low-priced industrial stocks which, in its opinion, has not yet discounted the improvement that has taken place in general business. There were also suggestions of advances yet to come of from 10 to 15 points in high-priced railroad stocks, which conservative people have thought had already discounted the best that could happen this year or next. The public was taking more interest in the market as a whole, and was being encouraged by the easier tendency of money and the reports of iron trade conditions. Thus the problem of how the big men will unload may be ruly answered during the next few weeks if sentiment remains as optimistic as it was yesterday.

While the Electric stocks advanced slightly yesterday they did not share the buoyancy of other industrial issues of less merit. Local investors take much interest in the current gossip of friction between the Westinghouse and General Electric and of prospective competition for both, and, despite the official denial credited to Westinghouse interests in New York that the situation had undergone any change, were inquiring in and receiving inquiries from New York on the subject. A story that Charles Miller, who was at one time looked upon as a specialist in Westinghouse Electric stock in the local market, received the following message from his New York correspondent yesterday: "The General Electric Company has cut prices, and issued the following notice: 'The General Electric Company is about to bring out a new type of induction motor which will employ numerous changes and improvements, and at the same time will be offered at a very considerable reduction from present prices. All outstanding quotations are hereby withdrawn, and customers are requested before placing orders to secure the latest and correct prices from the nearest office of the company.'" Another message received from Boston quoted a "Westinghouse man" as saying: "There is some friction between the Westinghouse and General Electric people, but how far the matter will go it is impossible to say. Do you know the Company started the trouble and is evidently disappointed at the proportion of the new business it is getting. The Westinghouse company in the past has had a number of trade contests with the General Electric, and it has always been able to take care of itself, and I guess will be able to do so at this time. The Westinghouse company was never in a stronger position than today. The company earned $5,000,000 net in the 1903-4 year, and only paid out one-half of this in dividends. It did as well as this last year, and is doing much better now. Last year the Westinghouse company sold as much electrical machinery as the General Electric Company and its bad debts were less than one-half of 1 per cent."

In the absence of reliable news Wall street was full of rumor yesterday, the principal of which was that steps were being taken actively to bring to completion the deal which has been talked of for so long in regard to a consolidation of New York Central, Union Pacific and Northwest. The rumors covered a much wider field, and in this talked of deal it was said that Illinois Central and St. Paul would be included. It is supposed that Union Pacific would be the company which would issue the securities to be exchanged for those of the companies which were to be absorbed. All of this talk, however, seemed to have no more substantial basis than the fact that the tape indicated that some important deals were pending.

While Pittsburgh Coal preferred scored the largest advance of the day in the local market it did not dominate attention to the same extent as on previous days this week. An announcement which it is expected will have a favorable effect upon the stock will likely be the listing of the securities on the New York stock exchange. It is a fact that a considerable amount of Pittsburgh Coal stock has been taken by foreigners, and it is also a fact that a large amount is being carried in New York. One reason why Crucible Steel stocks, which are listed in New York, never became popular in that market is that the stock was held almost exclusively in and around Pittsburgh, and there was never any serious effort made to stimulate trading in it in the eastern market.

National Fireproofing preferred was a little more active as a result, probably, of the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend, but the final sale was at a slight decline for the day.

Independent Brewing preferred and bonds were firmer and higher. The pressure of liquidation has ceased, and the feeling is a little stronger.

International Steam Pump directors have declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the preferred stock, payable May 1. Books close April 20, reopen May 2.

The Central District and Printing Telegraph Company has declared a dividend of 2 per cent, payable April 29.

An Associated Press dispatch to The Gazette said: In the curb market Northern Securities stock bounded up to the neighborhood of 180, thus justifying predictions which have been current among speculative operators for some time, but without obtaining general credence. The rumors to account for the advance were many and various and for the most part exceedingly vague. That which was most definitely formulated alleged an intention to double the present volume of Great Northern preferred stock for purposes which were very dimly indicated in the story as it circulated. The capitalization of properties values discovered in iron ore lands in the company's possession was hinted at. Great Northern preferred closed 315@330, with no sales, the last sale having been at 322. It was argued that this development would greatly expand the value of the assets of the Northern Securities Company, about to be distributed under an order of the dissolution of the supreme court. As a large proportion of this distribution will fall to the Union Pacific treasury, that stock was held to be entitled to a corresponding advance, but, with the excitement started in the market, this explanation was forgotten and the advance rallied back upon the supposed uses to which the Union Pacific preferred stock is to be put. This line of conjecture led to the recovery in various stocks pointed to as a desired object of acquisition by Union Pacific, but which have been the victims of considerable depression at time with the growth of scepticism over the stories current. These stories were as entirely without official authority or admission today as at any time. The palpable fact, however, was that almost unlimited amounts of the stocks most recently quoted could be sold constantly through the market all day, and the absorptive power for them seemed insatiable.

BIG FARM DEAL DOWN THE OHIO

J. Walter Hay and W. D. O'Neil Sell 103 Acres Near Aliquippa for $160,000.

One of the string of real estate deals near Aliquippa, referred to in The Gazette last Sunday, was closed Thursday. By the transaction J. Walter Hay and W. D. O'Neill dispose of the well-known Capt. David A. McDonald farm of 103 acres for a price approximating $160,000, or about $1,500 an acre. The property is the first farm this side of Aliquippa park and is widely known for its natural beauty, as well as for its exceptional advantages for a manufacturing and town site. Eight acres of the tract was formerly a part of the Nevin farm. About 20 acres of the land lies between the main line of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad and the Ohio river. The remainder is above the old line of the railroad, running back up the hill. The property has a frontage of at least 1,500 feet on the river and the same length on the railroad. An old house is the only improvement. Some time ago Mr. Hay and Mr. O'Neill, who bought the farm four years ago, sold to the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company 4.6 acres of land lying between the old line and the main line of the railroad, for about $10,000. The tract sold yesterday is in the strip of farm that extend along the river front to West Economy and which are supposed to be included in the manufacturing site that is being bought by a Beaver county lawyer for unknown parties. The Hay and O'Neill tract was optioned April 5, and the option was taken up before it expired. There is still a very strong impression prevailing that the purchases are being made for the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, although this has received no official confirmation. The names of H. C. Fownes and J. Ramsey Speer have also been connected with the last purchase, but the identity of the real buyers is carefully shielded. The deals are believed to foreshadow the establishment of the biggest manufacturing plant in the Greater Pittsburgh district and bid fair to revolutionize the pretty country near Aliquippa.

Looks Like an Office Building.

Signs point to a new office building at the northwest corner of Fourth avenue and Grant street, where a number of three-story brick buildings occupied by real estate men and lawyers, have stood for a generation. Yesterday Page holding at 411 Grant street were sold through the office of Avery & Irish for $80,000, this being the third deal these brokers have made for properties at this corner since January 1. The buyer in this case, as in the others, was not disclosed, which lends strength to the report that a skyscraper is to go up on the site, in spite of the assertions of the brokers that the purchases were made by different individuals. The B. F. Rafferty lot, 80x90 feet, at the corner of Grant and Fourth, was sold less than a month ago for $250,000. The B. J. Bailey lot, 40x90 feet, at 407-409 Grant street, adjoining, was sold first to the Berger estate for $35,000 and then resold to the unknown buyer last month for $112,500. The three purchasers make a site 120x90 feet, facing in Grant street, and running back to Scrip alley. There is only one building left between this row and the Bakewell building, the H. J. Miller property, 20x90 feet, at 413. With this secured the buyers, whoever they are, would have a fine site for an office building, and it is generally believed that the deals are being made for this purpose. The lot sold yesterday belonged to O. O. Page, Benjamin Page and others, and brought $3,000 a front foot. It is improved with a three-story brick building, well rented.

Deal for Liberty Avenue Lot.

The property of the T. L. Oldshue estate at 1121-1125 Liberty avenue, will be sold as soon as a deal can be put through orphans' court. Three offers have been submitted within a week, one of $65,000, one of $64,000 and one of $60,000. The property is almost opposite the Union station and adjoining the transfer stables. It measures 40x100 feet and is improved with a brick building in front and two frame buildings in the rear.

Rumors of two of the largest deals of their kind made in Pittsburgh for a year or more are becoming so frequent as to make it practically certain that fuller announcement will be made in a few days. One involves the purchase by a big financial institution of a downtown property valued at considerably over a half million. The other will mean a big warehouse proposition, to be undertaken by a company now forming. Agents of the promoters have already secured an option on the site to be used, which is valued at about $150,000, and is the most centrally located property of its kind available in either city.

E. C. Burkhardt has taken title to the holdings of the Stanton Land Company in the Eighteenth ward, the consideration being $12,750. The property includes 282x176 feet on the southeast side of Hawthorne street, 25x120 feet on the northeast side of the same street and 50x282 feet on Clayton avenue.

J. W. Milligan and Smith Howard prove to have been the buyers of the Glafey frontage in Pacific avenue, near Coral street, the sale of which was mentioned in The Gazette Thursday. The lot is 100x150 feet and brought $11,000, or $110 a foot.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The market for coffee futures opened steady, with December 10 points higher and other months 5 points higher in response to another advance in the rate of Brazilian exchange, smaller Brazilian receipts and moderate gains in the European markets, together with a reported improvement in the demand for spot coffee. There was further liquidation of the near months and the idea that a large number of May contracts remained to be liquidated probably curtailed the demand. Leading bull interests, however, supported the market, which showed a steady undertone. The close was steady at unchanged to 5 points. Sales were reported of 91,750 bags, including May at 6.30@6.35c; July, 6.50@6.55c; September, 6.70@6.75c; October, 6.80; December, 6.95@7.00; March, 7.10. Spot Rio quiet; No. 7 invoice, 7½c; mild quiet. Sugar—Raw, fair refining, 4¼c; centrifugal, 96 test, 4⅞c; molasses sugar, 4c; refined quiet.

BUTTER FAMINE SHOWS NO SIGN OF BREAKING

Whole Eastern Part of the Country Is Short on Product of the Dairy.

Business was fairly good in the local markets yesterday, retail merchants getting orders filled for trade over the week's end. In the wholesale grocery line there was nothing of any moment to record. Flour has stiffened up considerably under the influence of the speculative price of wheat. Sugar is not so strong as it was last week when it was advanced 10 points in the east. This advance, however, was not followed by local dealers, so there will be no break in prices here unless the eastern market should let down 15 points or more, which is not thought likely. The coffee market shows some strength, in spite of the weakening in the east, and there is no indication of an early cut in price here.

Butter was still a scarce article yesterday, and the famine is said to be all over the eastern section of the country. Pittsburgh buyers who have been seeking a supply there are informed that not enough butter can be secured in the Elgin district to supply the Chicago retail trade. New York and Philadelphia are in almost as bad shape.

Green goods are selling readily and the stock has improved this week, receipts being liberal as the market will stand. The increased cost of meats has caused a healthier trade in produce and green goods. Eggs are firm at the prices quoted.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday were as follows: Pennsylvania lines, 17 cars oats, 2 cars rye and oats, 4 cars hay; 2 cars feed; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 2 cars oats, 2 cars corn, 8 cars hay, 1 car straw; Baltimore & Ohio, 2 cars hay, 1 car oats, 1 car feed, 1 car straw, 1 car corn.

The hay and grain market is decidedly improved this week. Ear corn is wanted and prices are advanced. Oats continue firm and bidding on hay is more active than for a couple of weeks. For future delivery the market runs even firmer than for spot, which would indicate that buyers look for higher prices and a better condition of the market in the near future.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, April 14.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

The situation has become stronger here, with Australian and South American wools the feature of the week. Business has been better and a movement of 8,400 to 10,000 bales of foreign wools is reported. Only about 300,000 pounds of old territories which are of fair to fine quality and heavy shrinkage, now remain on the market. Values are decidedly firm on all wools, and an upward tendency is strongly apparent. Operations in the west continue in a strenuous manner and buyers are quietly offering fancy prices. The foreign markets are rapidly becoming stronger and advanced prices are confidently expected. The shipments of wool from Boston to date from December 1, 1904, according to the secure statistics are 73,750,000 pounds, against 60,477,580 pounds at the same time last year. The receipts to date are 82,040,000 pounds, against 87,320,856 for the same period last year.

GOOD NEWS PREDOMINATES IN TRADE AND INDUSTRY

More Settled Weather Is Reflected in Better Retail Distribution of Merchandise All Over Nation.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 14.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade:

Good news still predominates in trade and industry. Easter business is of large volume, drygoods, clothing, footwear and all lines of wearing apparel reporting an unusually good demand, and shipping departments are taxed to their full capacity in many cases. The country as a whole is experiencing more settled weather, which is reflected in a better retail distribution of merchandise. Jobbing trade in goods for fall delivery is increasing, and there is more information to prepare for the future. Manufacturers report less idle machinery, the iron and steel industry leading with an unprecedented output of pig iron, yet consumption is also above all records for there is no accumulation at the furnaces. Textile mills are also well employed, as a rule, and forwardings of footwear from Boston make favorable comparisons with every year except 1903. A few labor controversies are threatened, but none is of sufficient magnitude to materially check progress even if expected settlements are not attained, for the number of hands involved is comparatively small. Reports are somewhat conflicting as to outside the collections, but improvement is shown in the more liberal distribution of funds in starting agricultural work, a treasury shipments of small change to the interior largely exceeding the amount in transit a year ago. Car shortages are few, owing to the favorable weather, although traffic is very heavy, as shown by railway earnings for the first week of April, 9.9 per cent larger than last year. Prices of commodities declined 2.7 per cent. during March, according to Dun's Index Number, a broader compilation of the aforesaid season. Provisions, dairy and garden products, grain and coal made the most notable declines. Foreign commerce at this port is keeping pace with the improvement in domestic trade, imports for the last week exceeding the same week last year by $4,000,000, and exports gaining $2,000,000. Imports of specie are nearly one-third below the average of recent weeks, but exports are several weeks behind with deliveries, and in some cases consignments are not taken where shipment is declared before July 1. Pressure is especially noteworthy in all lines of railway supplies, particularly light rails.

Failures this week numbered 214 in the United States, against 225 last year, and 29 in Canada, compared with 16 a year ago.

Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

While business failures in the United States for the week ended April 13, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., number 214, against 225 last week, 221 the corresponding week last year, 209 in 1903, and 183 in 1902, they are 17 per cent. smaller than in 1901, and 32 per cent. smaller than in 1900. From July 1 to date the reports are 49,948, against 51,292 last year, 42,184 in 1903, and 36,265 in 1902. Canadian failures for the week are 29, against 16 a year ago. From July 1 to date the reports of over $5,000 liabilities are 1,202, against 1,

DANIEL O'DAY WINS OIL SUIT

Mandate from United States Circuit Court of Appeals is in His Favor.

RAILROAD SUED FOR $700,000

A mandate from the United States circuit court of appeals was filed in the United States circuit court yesterday, in which the lower court is affirmed in the case of Daniel O'Day, the oil magnate, and others against T. N. Barnsdale and others. A verdict was found for the plaintiffs in the lower court. The suit resulted from the sale of oil property to the plaintiffs under alleged misrepresentations. The plaintiffs averred that when the property was bought oil was flowing into a tank, and that later it was found that the oil was coming from another tank instead of from the ground.

A mandate was also filed in the case of the Westinghouse Machine Company against the Press Publishing Company in which the decision of the lower court, which found for the plaintiff, was reversed. The suit was the result of the Press Publishing Company using a controlling valve on an engine for which the plaintiff company alleged it held patents.

Suit for $700,000 damages was entered against the Pittsburgh Connecting Railroad Company by James I. Buchanan and other trustees of the estate of Jacob J. Vandergrift, and Helen B. Mercer, for the appropriation of property in the Twelfth ward, running from Twenty-second and Railroad streets to Twenty-third street, and extending to the Allegheny river. Some time ago the court appointed viewers to assess damages, as the contending parties could not agree as to compensation, but the plaintiffs appealed from the award of the viewers and demand a jury trial.

Wants Ore Dust Case Re-Opened.

The Oakland ore dust cases will be again revived in the common pleas courts. Attorney E. H. Jackson, for Dr. W. M. McWilliams of Bonus street, appeared before Judge Frazer yesterday and asked to have the equity suit entered by Dr. McWilliams against the Jones & Laughlin Company reopened. The McWilliams case was tried in common pleas court No. 2 at the same time that the Sullivan case was tried and the same evidence was submitted. The supreme court in the Sullivan case, which was appealed, ordered an injunction issued against the defendant company, but Attorney Jackson told the court that no relief had been obtained from the clouds of ore dust.

Attorney Wilson, for the Jones & Laughlin Company, urged the court not to reopen the case, as he believed in a very short time the nuisance would be abated, the defendants' chemists and experts having nearly reached a solution of the problem.

Judge Frazer said that he could not decide the petition without consultation with Judge Young, who would likely hear the next equity list.

Asks for an Injunction.

A bill in equity was filed by Clarence Morton against E. H. Williams, and an injunction was asked for to restrain him from buying, selling or collecting for a partnership in which the litigants are interested, from interfering with the management, and also asks that an accounting be made. The plaintiff also asks that the lease of their place of business be declared an asset of the co-partnership, and that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the business. Morton charges his partner with fraud and deceit. The business is that of commission dealers in feed, etc., on Brushton avenue, and is known as Williams & Frich. Morton avers that he purchased a half interest in the concern, and that when the articles of the partners were to draw $10 weekly as salaries. He charges Williams with selling to persons known to be irresponsible, and with taking cash and checking from the bank $700, denying him access to the books. He further claims that Williams secured the lease of the place in his own name, changed the firm name to Williams & Co., excluded him from the business and appropriated the horses and wagons belonging to the firm. Morton claims there is a large balance due him, and that Williams is irresponsible financially.

Files Libel in Divorce.

Laura May McGrew, who has filed a libel in divorce against J. B. McGrew, filed a bill of particulars in common pleas court No. 2. The divorce is asked for on grounds of infidelity, and Mrs. McGrew charges her husband with being intimate with a Mrs. Katherine Powermeier, living with her for over four years at 927 Ward street, and later on Atwood street, where she was known as his wife. She also charges him with being intimate with Mrs. Kate Braudle, and claims that Mrs. Braudle is the mother of a 10-year-old girl of which McGrew is the alleged father.

Rosa A. Grimes of Clairton entered suit against Lenora Carlson, asking $5,000 for alleged slander. She avers that Mrs. Carlson made remarks concerning her chastity and also caused her arrest on a charge of malicious mischief, alleging she broke two panes of window glass.

A session of juvenile court was held before Judge Young, and several youthful prisoners were sent back to their homes. Dennis McGeary, Charles Miller, Ellsworth Stevens, Norman Cherlton, John Bellinger and Con Coughlan were before the court on a charge of burglary. The informations were made by David Anderson of Homestead. He alleged the latter two boys broke into his store and stole about $4 worth of tobacco. The other boys are charged with attempting to break into the store. All were sent to their homes under the care of probation officers.

Sent Boys to Parents.

Thomas Landon and William Colville were charged with stealing a bicycle from C. Wilmington of Boyle street, Allegheny. They were sent home. Frank Beiswinger was charged with purchasing some household goods from W. W. Wyant of Westminster street, Allegheny, and some pigeons from A. D. Miller, jr., also of Westminster street. He was returned to his parents.

John B. Lovatt entered a suit in equity against the executors of the estate of his brother, C. B. Lovatt. He claims that years ago he and his brother entered a verbal agreement and co-partnership, which existed up to the time of his brother's death. He asks that property held by them be decreed as partnership property instead of property as tenants in common.

The will of Jacob Miller, late of Allegheny, was filed for probate yesterday. He leaves a large estate, the realty of which is valued at $75,000, to his widow, Anna M. M. Miller. His sons, Jacob N. and George P. Miller, are named as guardians of his minor children and as executors of the estate.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against Myer Burke and Harry Voss, trading as M. Burke & Co., of Penn avenue, Pittsburgh. The petitioners, the Pittsburgh Lamp, Brass and Glass Company of Pittsburgh, the Mallard mills of Philadelphia and the John C. Jewett Manufacturing Company of Buffalo, file claims amounting to $571 76. Robert L. Hindman, an oil driller of Petrolia, Pa., filed a voluntary petition, giving his liabilities as $1,660 43 and assets as $58. A like petition was filed by Edward C. Ogden, a contractor of Clearfield. He gives his liabilities as $6,807 24 and his assets as $3,067 75.

WANT A LUNCH RULE.

License Court Concludes Its Hearings.

Police Inspector Bailey Is Compelled to Testify.

Attorneys representing the liquor interests asked license court judges to fix definitely the status of the free lunch, but, as this has been done by every license court, the request was considered unnecessary. Police Inspector Milton E. Bailey was summoned to appear as a witness in the hearing of a Hazelwood applicant. Some delay seemed likely, and Judge Shafer announced that if Bailey was not in court by 3 p. m. a bench warrant would be issued for his arrest. County Treasurer Collingwood announced that certified and cashiers' checks would be accepted as payment for licenses.

Detective Starkey said he had served a subpoena on Bailey as a witness in the case of W. J. Boyd, and that Bailey, with an oath, said he would pay no attention to the summons, as the rules of the police bureau prevented him from testifying. Judge Shafer directed that word be sent to Bailey to appear at 3 o'clock under penalty of arrest.

The postponed case of John Kearns of 1620 Penn avenue, Tenth ward, was taken up. Last Saturday he underwent an operation, and this prevented his appearance in court when his recital took place. Attorney Stevenson asked the applicant about "Doc" Sirtes delivering liquor, mostly beer, in Penn township, a prohibitory district. Kearns said that, while he sent two or three wagon loads weekly into this general district, he was not aware that any went into this particular township.

W. J. Boyd of 3912 Second avenue, Twenty-third ward, was called, and Attorney Stevenson said that the applicant had sold beer to the Vespucci club of Hazelwood, of which a man named Scroup is secretary, in connection with the Hazle Glen club of Scotch Bottom, Twenty-third ward, it was brought out that a driver, at one time in Boyd's employ, had gone to No. 4 police station and received for a quantity of beer taken by the police in a raid. Police Inspector Kelly, upon Attorney Stevenson's demand, produced a police receipt for this beer. It was signed by John J. Larkin, a driver. Boyd admitted delivering 25 to 40 cases of beer a week to the Independent Rod and Gun club of Third avenue, which Attorney Stevenson a few days ago in license court characterized as the most notorious speakeasy in Pittsburgh. Attorney A. M. O'Brien told the court that shortly after the last license court he had consulted Director Harry Moore of the department of public safety regarding the Independent club, and that the director had informed him that it was, so far as he knew, a legitimate organization. The Vespucci club, organized for social purposes, was also drawn into the case.

SHIFT STEAMER ROUTES TO AVOID ICEBERGS

Mount Shasta Is Threatening.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—Mount Shasta threatens to become active again. At Sissons, a town in the vicinity of the mountain, the ground has opened at several points and mud is ejected. The railroad fill across a big canon has sunk 40 feet. The streets of the little mountain town are filling up with muddy stuff, full of oil.

In the Elk Fork district, Tyler county, the Johns Oil Company has drilled its test on the Jackson Rice farm through the Big Injun and developed a very light show of oil in that formation. On Little Rowells run, Calhoun county, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its test on the J. E. Snider farm through the Berea grit and the well is producing 40 barrels a day. Locomotives of Great Power Demanded by Modern Operations

J. E. Muhlfeld, general superintendent of motive power of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, has just completed his report on locomotives of great power, to be submitted at the seventh session of the International Railway congress in Washington in May. In his report he says:

"An American locomotive of great power may be described in a few words as one capable of developing, when properly designed for the speed requirements of passenger and suburban service, at least 20,000 pounds in the cylinders at starting, with provision in suburban service for rapid acceleration, and for freight, helper and switching service at least 40,000 pounds.

"Locomotives are now expected to perform equally well work of the most varied and exacting nature, and the requirements in the way of faster schedules and heavier trains in passenger and freight service have, in connection with lack of substantial maintenance, exceeded the development of the increased power in the machine. Speed limits and trainloads are increasing each day, and will no doubt continue to do so, as the maximum expansion of car equipment and the length of trains, under favorable conditions, have not yet been reached.

"The operation of locomotives in tandem on American railroads is quite generally followed out, although with very bad results to the machinery of the single locomotive. In the construction of new power it is desirable to eliminate complications arising from this practice by producing sufficient capacity in one unit, so that what is apparently lost by the abandonment of the tandem system will be gained by a decreased investment, higher speed, reduced liability for accident and decreased operating and maintenance cost relative to the business done."

Joint Conference Is Held.

A conference was held yesterday by officials of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company relating to the interchange of traffic. Another question considered was the joint use of the Pittsburgh & Western between Youngstown and Ravenna. When the new schedule goes into effect the Cleveland & Pittsburgh trains will use the new route of the Pittsburgh & Western. The Baltimore & Ohio was represented by Vice President George L. Potter and Chief Engineer D. J. Carothers. The meeting was held in the Union station building. The Baltimore & Ohio officials returned to Baltimore last evening.

B. & O. Improvements.

In connection with the new fruit auction house that has just been put into use at the foot of Factory street, Cleveland, the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will construct team tracks and pave the driveways with brick. Practically a roller roadway will also be operated in this connection from the valley to the top of Scheed street. The company has decided to demolish the east and west bound passenger sidings at Rawlings, on the Cumberland division. An interlocker will also be constructed at Rawlings to insure the safer operation of trains.

O. M. Conley Promoted.

O. M. Conley has been promoted to the position of assistant general freight agent of the Frisco system, with headquarters in St. Louis. For several years he was in Pittsburgh as general agent, with jurisdiction over both freight and passenger business. When the Frisco was taken over by the Rock Island the offices in Pittsburgh were consolidated and Mr. Conley was sent to Oklahoma City, I. T., as division freight agent.

Railroad Notes.

J. H. Fulmer has been appointed master mechanic of the Schuylkill division of the P. R. R.

F. K. Hess, the newly appointed passenger agent of the Wabash in Cleveland, was in the city yesterday entertaining with local officials. The largest pay in the history of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in Altoona is being paid out this month. It aggregates about $800,000 and is fully $75,000 more money than during the banner months of the winter of 1903-4.

MILLIONS IN PROMISES.

Turkey Settles With France and Will Order War Material, Despite Germany's Protest.

PARIS, April 14.—A dispatch to the semi-official Temps from Constantinople says the French ambassador M. Constans has received an imperial irade, making a complete and definite settlement of the French claims. It gives an indemnity of $7,000,000 for the controversy over the Damascus-Nazrib railroad, and ensures continuous French control of the road and also accords as damages $520,000 to the French company operating the quays of Constantinople.

The principal feature of the irade is an agreement to use a third of a loan of $12,000,000 for ordering warships and artillery from French firms. The latter feature gives much satisfaction here, as it was sharply opposed by Turkey with the concurrence of the German ambassador.

CHAMBERLAIN SEES BALFOUR.

He and Committee Propose Compromise of Unionist Differences and Premier Will Consider It.

LONDON, April 14.—The deputation of members of parliament headed by Joseph Chamberlain appointed at the meeting in the house of commons yesterday to present to Premier Balfour a statement expressing the views of the members who are in favor of tariff reform was received by Mr. Balfour at the foreign office today. The proceedings were strictly private.

It is understood, however, that the deputation did not ask for an immediate answer and that the premier will take time to consider the terms proposed, as a compromise looking to the solidification of the Unionists.

Magistrate Annoys Mr. Morgan.

ROME, April 14.—Before J. Pierpont Morgan, who arrived here yesterday from Naples, left Taormina, an examining magistrate from Taorina boarded his yacht, the Cross, to take Mr. Morgan's testimony concerning the person who sold him the famous cope stolen from the cathedral of Ascoli. The latter was indignant, as he had returned the cape without even asking for the reimbursement of the money he had paid for it. The government is most displeased at the action of the magistrate.

PRINCE HENRY DOESN'T CARE.

But German Officials Is Determined to Make More Trouble for Motorman Who Insulted Him.

BERLIN, April 14.—Prince Henry of Prussia halted in an automobile on the narrow Hamburger bridge at Hamburg to pay the tolls four days ago. An electric street car had to stop to avoid colliding with the automobile.

"What are you going to do with your smelly car?" called out the motorman, not recognizing the prince.

"Get out of the way," replied the prince.

The toll-taker reported the incident to the street car company and the motorman wrote a letter of apology to the prince, who replied he had thought no more of the matter. The state attorney's office, however, is investigating the incident with the object of proceeding against the motorman for insulting the prince.

Deaf People Now Hear Whispers

Listening Machines Invented by a Kentuckian.

Invisible, When Worn, but Act Like Eye-Glasses.

Ever see a pair of Listening Machines? They make the Deaf hear distinctly. They are so soft in the ears one can't tell they are wearing them.

And, no one else can tell either, because they are out of sight when worn. Wilson's Ear Drums are to weak hearing what spectacles are to weak sight.

Because, they are sound-magnifiers, just as glasses are sight-magnifiers.

They rest the Ear Nerves by taking the strain off them—the strain of trying to hear dim sounds. They can be put into the ears, or taken out, in a minute, just as comfortably as spectacles can be put on and off.

And, they can be worn for weeks at a time, because they are unpolished, and so soft in the ear holes they are not felt even when the head rests on the pillow. They also protect any raw inner parts of the ear from wind, or cold, dust, or sudden and piercing sounds.

These little telephones make it as easy for a Deaf person to hear weak sounds as spectacles make it easy to read fine print. And, the longer one wears them the better his hearing grows, because they rest up and strengthen the ear nerves. To rest a weak ear from straining is like resting a strained wrist from working.

Wilson's Ear Drums rest the Ear Nerves by making the sounds louder, so it is easy to understand without trying and straining. They make Deaf people sociable and companionable, because such people can talk with their friends without the friends having to shout back at them. They can hear without straining. It is the straining that puts such a queer, anxious look on the face of a deaf person.

Wilson's Ear Drums make all the sound strike hard on the center of the human ear drum, instead of spreading it weakly all over the surface. It thus makes the center of the human ear drum vibrate ten times as much as if the same sound struck the whole drum head. It is this vibration of the ear drum that carries sound to the hearing Nerves. When we make the drum vibrate ten times as much we make the sound ten times as loud and ten times as easy to understand.

This is why people who had not in years heard a clock strike can now hear that same clock tick anywhere in the room, while wearing Wilson's Ear Drums.

Deafness, from any cause, ear-ache, buzzing noises in the head, raw and running ears, broken ear-drums, and other ear troubles, are relieved and cured (even after Ear Doctors have given up the cases), by the use of these comfortable little ear-resterers and sound-magnifiers.

A sensible book, about Deafness, tells how they are made, and has printed in it letters from hundreds of people who are using them.

Clergymen, Lawyers, Physicians, Telegraph Operators, Engineers, Workers in Roller Shops and Foundries—four hundred people of all ranks who were Deaf, tell their experience in this free book. They tell how their hearing was brought back to them almost instantly, by the proper use of Wilson's Ear Drums.

Some of these very people may live near you, and be well known to you. What they have to say is mighty strong proof.

This book has been the means of making 236,000 Deaf people hear again. It will be mailed free to you if you merely write a post card for it today. Don't put off getting back your hearing. Write now, while you think of it. Get the free book of proof.

Write for it today to the Wilson Ear Drum Co., 290 Todd Building, Louisville, Ky.
